

DRAPERIES

Regardless of Cost
Must Close Out
Entire Stock at Once.

We commenced one week ago to close out our Drapery Department and our sales during the past six days have been conclusive evidence that our prices have met with popular favor. One half of our large stock has been disposed of and we will continue the sale Monday morning with even lower quotations than before. This opportunity will never again present itself. You must come and see the pretty things we are practically giving away.

ELKS ENTERTAIN THE LADIES

Omaha Lodge Buys the Trocadero for a Matinee Performance.

NOTABLE ATTENDANCE AT VAUDEVILLE

Feminine Friends and Relatives of the Horned Men Fill the House and Thoroughly Enjoy a Particularly Good Performance.

The Omaha lodge of Elks bought the Trocadero yesterday afternoon and turned it over to their wives, sisters, cousins, aunts and other relatives and friends of the feminine persuasion. It was undoubtedly the prettiest matinee ever given in this house of amusement, whether viewed from the stage or from this side of the footlights. Just how many fair auditors there were in the boxes, in the orchestra circle, around the spritless tables and in the balcony cannot be told because the tickets were never counted, but there were certainly 550, and there may have been 978. Spud Farrah and Tom Ormsby, who were on the door, lost count at the former figure, all bewildered with the beauty of the assemblage. Fryor Markel and Lyle Abbott, who acted as head ushers, said they thought they had "the extreme pleasure of seating over 1,000 ladies." A score of the best looking men in the lodge were on hand to render every attention that might contribute to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

"This comes hard, but we have to do it," remarked Manager Cole in a sotto voice as he pushed back a man's money at the box office window and said: "can't sell you any tickets this afternoon. No gentlemen admitted. The house has been bought by the Elks for their lady friends." After a couple of hundred had been turned down real hard like this the men and women without compliments stopped lining up at the window, because it got noised all about town that their money was no good. It never is when you're out with the Elks unless you know the grip.

The performance was good. The regular bill was given, but all of the actors and "actresses" exerted themselves to do their best. The stunts they did were right off the top shelf and a couple of thousand gloved hands clapped merrily in approbation of the show. Charlie Johnson and Dora Dean, the black cake walkers, Grant, the boy whistler, and George Thatcher, the same, made the biggest hits and were given the gladdest "hands." There were no stunts, nor mugs, nor glasses to applaud with and none would have used them if there had been. No refreshments were served, but this omission from the regular bill was never missed.

Y. M. C. A. Athletes Compete.

The monthly indoor athletic contest for the Lindsay gold medal was held last evening in the gymnasium of the Young Men's Christian association. It was won by B. G. Leake, who scored a total of 233 points. R. V. Henry was second with 250 and C. W. Stemm third with 244. There were five events on the program—the sixty-yard potato race, putting the twelve-pound shot, running high jump, hitch kick and quarter-mile potato race.

The sixty-yard potato race was won by E. V. Painter in 0:15.3. R. V. Henry carried off the honors in the shot-put with a record of 36 feet 8 inches. The next three events went to Leake. He cleared the bar at 4 feet 10 inches in the high jump, tossed the pan at a height of 7 feet 9 inches in the hitch kick and finished the seventeen laps of the quarter-mile potato race in 1:45. The October contest was won by Holland Finney, with B. G. Leake second. Finney was unable to participate last evening on account of illness.

Clerks Will Have a Smoker.

Next Friday night the Retail Clerks' association will give a smoker and entertainment to its friends at Labor Temple. Following is the program: Opening remarks by P. Schwartz, toastmaster; violin solo by Mr. Thomas; character impersonation by Mr. Thompson; vocal solo by C. E. Williams; address by the president, A. M. McDermott; music by the orchestra, R. Olsson, conductor; impromptu speeches; original story by Harry Guthrie; vocal solo by Benjamin Copeland; Irish dialect by William Fyfe.

Rheumatic pains are almost instantly relieved when Chamberlain's Pain Balm is applied. Many who have suffered for years with rheumatism have been cured by this liniment.

SHERIFF LOOKS FOR OLINGER

Man from Burt County Wanted for Assaulting an Enemy's Wife Last Week.

W. R. Langford, sheriff of Burt county, came to the city from Tekamah, Neb., yesterday and notified the police to be on the lookout for a man named Joe Olinger, who is wanted at Tekamah on the charge of criminal assault.

A recently married couple named Wilson live on a farm about twelve miles from Tekamah. Last Thursday while Mr. Wilson was away from home, Joe Olinger visited the house and assaulted Mrs. Wilson. When the husband learned of the affair and went to find Olinger to avenge the insult, the latter, aided by his brother, made his escape with a team and wagon. Wilson then swore out a warrant for Olinger's arrest.

This difficulty between Wilson and Olinger recalls another affair in which members of the families of these men were implicated, happening about fifteen months ago. At that time a brother of Olinger shot and killed Wilson's brother, but he was not convicted. A plea of insanity was entered by his attorney and he was incarcerated in the insane asylum instead of a prison.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Edward Oswald, one of Nebraska's most extensive sheep raisers, was a visitor at the stock yards yesterday. Mr. Oswald owns large feed lots at Wood River, Neb., and also at Galesburg, Ill. At the present time he is feeding over 17,000 head of sheep. In speaking of the condition of his flocks at Wood River Mr. Oswald said that the season had been exceptionally good for sheep feeding purposes, as no severe storms had as yet been encountered. Mr. Oswald is a great friend of the South Omaha market and he stated that all his shipments would most certainly be made to this point. He looks forward to a fairly good year in the sheep feeding industry and predicts that the quality of offerings will be above the average if the present favorable conditions continue.

Had Been Stealing His Dinners.

Chief Henderson of the stock yards police force arrested Andrew Lawson yesterday afternoon on a petty larceny charge. For some time past men who are in the habit of leaving their dinner baskets at the chute houses have found them missing when the noon hour comes around. A watch was placed on the house and yesterday Lawson was caught stealing a dinner. After being taken to jail he admitted his guilt but asserted that the dinner pail stolen yesterday was the first he had ever taken. When asked why he had stolen the articles Lawson said that he had a friend who was trying to get out of town and he didn't want him to go away hungry. Lawson is about 37 years of age and is able to do manual labor if he is so disposed. Chief Henderson says that he found the young man loafing about the yards nearly every day last week.

Dick Grandon Used Up.

Dick Grandon and Charles Booten became engaged in an altercation on lower N street yesterday afternoon and Booten struck Grandon a couple of severe blows across the head with a loaded cane. Grandon hurried to Dr. White's office, where his wounds were cared for, while Booten, in company with Constable Maly, who witnessed the assault, repaired to the music hall on N street for liquid refreshments. When asked by Chief Carr why he did not arrest Booten at the time of the assault Maly replied that he did not care to interfere with the duties of the police. Later on Booten was placed in jail pending a hearing on Monday. Booten is a waiter at the music hall.

Letter from Prof. Munro.

Dr. Wheeler has received a letter from A. A. Munro, formerly superintendent of schools here. Mr. Munro is now attending the University of New York and expresses himself as highly pleased with his surroundings and the curriculum of the university. Prof. Munro is taking a course in economics, sociology and political economy. He is enclosing a letter Mr. Munro sends greetings to all friends here.

Stolen Bicycle Recovered.

Chief Carroll has recovered a bicycle which was stolen from a Milwaukee car at Sioux City. The seal of the car had been broken and the wheel removed. It was brought to South Omaha by a man who represented himself as being an insurance agent or something of the sort and who told Jorgensen, a saloonkeeper, to sell the wheel for him if he could. The number of the bicycle had been filed off and it had been repainted. It was sold to a clerk in a clothing store, who thought that everything was straight. The wheel has been taken in charge by the police and Detective Baker of the Milwaukee system has been notified.

Moving City Offices.

The first steps toward moving the city offices to the new location in the Finley block were taken yesterday afternoon. Building Inspector Dunscombe had the shavings and cases in the vaults of the city clerk and city treasurer taken out and placed in the vaults in the new building. Everything will be in readiness for removal by Monday. It has been too cold to lay cement in the new jail, but two cells are in position and if it is absolutely necessary the jail and police court can be moved Monday along with the other offices.

Bound Over for Forgery.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Babcock arranged Frank Johnson for forgery and bound him over to the district court in the sum of $1,000. In default of bail Johnson was committed to the county jail. Johnson worked a half day at Armour's last week and was paid with a check calling for $1.05. He is charged with having raised the check to $31.05 and obtaining the cash on it at a Third ward saloon.

Came to Look at the Floods.

Four Minneapolis business men, Fred Jones, L. H. Reem, Thomas Shevlin and James F. Blaine, comprising a committee of the Commercial club of that city, arrived in Omaha yesterday morning and spent a greater portion of the day at the Den of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben, inspecting the boats that were in the parade last fall, with a view to purchasing them and taking them to the Flour City, there to be used in a parade that will be one of the features of the "Co-Workers" next fall.

Elks' Lodge of Sorrow.

On Sunday, December 4, Omaha lodge, No. 32, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will hold its annual memorial services at Washington hall. An unusually elaborate program of music and eulogy interspersing the ritual of the order has been prepared. The dead brothers of the lodge whose memory will be celebrated are: William B. Alexander, John F. Boyd, Willis F. Clarke, Colonel James M. Edg, Dwight G. Hull, Colonel Edward D. Webster, Captain Abner D. Haines, William L. Harding, Charles McCormick, Charles P. Needham, Zachariah Thomson, Phillip A. Warrack, John B. Thomas, Josiah H. McCormick, Chester C. Hulet, Henry D. Shull, Olin N. Davisport, Don M. Chamberlain, John P. Shoning.

WOUNDED BY HIGHWAYMEN

J. W. Shaw Shot While Resisting Robbery on the Way Home.

DESPERATE CRIME OF TWO FOOTPADS

Thwarted in Their Effort at Robbery, One of the Men Deliberately Shoots and Narrowly Misses Killing Man They Attacked.

J. W. Shaw, day clerk at the Henshaw hotel, owes his life to the unusual thickness of the overcoat he wore last night. When returning from down town shortly after 8 o'clock, on the sidewalk in front of his home he was held up by two negro highwaymen, armed with revolvers, one of whom shot him, the bullet penetrating his clothing and embedded itself in the flesh close to the collar bone, directly over the carotid artery. The attending physician's opinion regarding the wound was that had it been deeper a hairbreadth it would have likely proved fatal.

The circumstances of the holdup indicate the desperate character of the perpetrators. Within two blocks of the corner of Twenty-eighth and Charles street, where it occurred, several people were passing. There was a bright moonlight and as it was early in the evening there were men in the houses along the street who would have been attracted by cries for help.

Mr. Shaw was walking west on Charles street and was within a few feet of the sidewalk leading to the front door when he was confronted by two men, who approached from the opposite direction. They commanded him to throw up his hands, but Shaw, thinking that the men were joking, did not even look at them, and keeping his eyes on the ground, stepped aside to wait till they passed before turning into his own yard. Then he heard the command, "Stand up!" a second time and, raising his eyes, saw two negroes with revolvers leveled at his head. Instead of complying with their request he struck the man closest to him and grabbed the arm of the other, holding him so he could not use the revolver.

The first highwayman retreated a few yards and, glancing back, saw his companion in Shaw's clutches. He had his choice between leaving his pal to almost certain capture and shooting the man they had attempted to rob and he chose the latter alternative. This sharp report of his pistol rang out and he turned and ran. Shaw felt the bullet and, his arm becoming numb, he relaxed his grip on the man he was holding and the latter, breaking away, followed his companion. The sharp report of his pistol disappeared around the corner of Twenty-eighth street and then called a physician. This is the story of the hold-up as related by himself.

Looking After Cattle.

PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 25.—(Special Telegram)—United States Attorney J. D. Elliott is here looking after the interests of the government in a bunch of forty-two cattle which was seized yesterday by C. S. Crane of St. Paul, an officer of the Treasury department, for having been brought into the United States on under valuation. The cattle were shipped to G. W. Lumley at this city by the State bank of Hanna, N. D., and were not accepted by Mr. Lumley for the reason that they were not up to contract. They have been held here by Sheriff Strayer pending the outcome of a civil suit and as soon as that was decided they were seized by the United States authorities. Unless the matter is adjudicated the cattle will be sold.

FEAST FOR LOVERS OF MUSIC

Clementine Devere and Her Company Continue to Furnish a Fine Entertainment.

When the curtain went up at the Creighton theater yesterday afternoon there was a large audience to witness the first production of the season of Gounod's opera, "Romeo and Juliet," in this part of the country. The title roles were assumed by George Mitchell and Clementine Devere, respectively. Apart from a little nervousness in the orchestra, which occasioned some uncertainty behind the footlights, the performance was a success. Mme. Devere made an ideal Juliet and her vocalization in the waltz song was a thing of beauty, even if not a joy forever. This consummate artist has taken a firm hold on the attention of local musicians and it is within the limits of truth to state that she was a pleasant surprise.

Romeo was made a living reality by Mr. Mitchell. Mr. Winfred Goff as Mercutio was highly acceptable, his Queen Mab song being especially clever. Miss Eleanor Broadbent, who has increased the good reputation she has already won. The scenery and costumes were more superb in this opera than in any preceding one.

"Il Trovatore" was the evening bill. Mr. Collins was inclined to sacrifice art for dramatic effect at times, but the work was well received as a whole.

"Tonight the attraction will be a wonderful one. "Cavalleria Rusticana" will open the program, given in full by Mme. Kronold, Miss Louise Engel, Miss Amelia Fields, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Goff and the full chorus. The celebrated prologue to "Pagliacci" will follow, showing Signor Bellati in an aria worthy of any baritone. The entire second act of "Lucia" will be the precursor of the closing number, "Miserere" from "Trovatore." In the former Mme. Devere, Miss Rebeck, Signor Collins, Mr. Gunson, Signor Bellati and Signor Dado will be heard, while Miss Nedda Morrison and Mr. Mitchell will appear in the latter.

NO WASTE OF WORDS.

Evidence Which is Right to the Point and Reliable.

Judge Frank Ives of district court, Crookston, Minn., says: "For some time I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit with few exceptions. I have not been so free from indigestion in twenty-five years."

George W. Hoeswell, U. S. consul to Brussels, Belgium: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion."

Mr. W. D. Tomlin, mechanical engineer, Duluth, Minn.: "One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done its work and I am again gaining flesh and strength."

O. E. Ransom, Huston, Mo.: "I was depressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day, had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one. Four boxes of the tablets from my druggist have fully cured me. I find them pleasant to take, convenient to carry."

Rev. G. D. Brown, Mondovi, Wis.: "The effects of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvelous; a quite hearty dinner of broiled beefsteak causes no distress since I began their use."

Over six thousand people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Full sized packages may be found at all druggists at 50 cents, or sent by mail on receipt of price from F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.
