OPERATIONS IN STOCKS AND BONDS. Animated Buying Movement Carries Prices Upward-Closing is Strong. NEW YORK, Nov. 28.-An animated buying movement broke out in the last half hour of today's stock market, which carried prices throughout the list buoyantly above the previous high level and made the closing very strong. The demand was broad and better distributed than at any other time during the day and the market looked healthier and freer from manipulation and less congested in a few prominent stocks than at any time during the current upward movement.

Just what the motive was for the renewal of the buying was not very obvious. Perhaps the sullen obstinacy of the market in the period of dullness and reaction in spots which followed the opening strength had a large influence in encouraging renewed commitments to the long side. The receipt of some orders in commission houses, which had been held back by the damage to telegraph wires, was also a factor. The market had already had its opening spurt on the acceptance by Spain of the peace terms offered by the United States.

Prices for Americans have been sharply the closing very strong. The demand was good enough for killers. The market on that kind was also just about steady, with no quotable change.

Something like twenty or twenty-five loads of cows and heifers were reported on sale. The market on the good kinds was steady and fairly active, but canners were inclined to drag a little and the market, if anything, was easier on that kind. One sizeable bunch of cows of fair quality sold at $3.50 and some cows and heifers at $3.55. A string of good heifers sold up to $3.90. Canners went all the way from $2.25 up to $3.90.

Good stock cattle and feeders sold at about steady prices. While there did not appear to be any very active demand, and while the general trade was slow, buyers went about the yards and picked out such as pleased them, for which they paid about the same prices as prevailed at the close of last week. The common and less desirable cattle were poor sellers and holders of such found it difficult to unload and they were generally calling the market a little lower on that kind. In spite of the apparent indifference of buyers the most of the cattle changed hands before midday. There were not many bulls or stags in the yards, but what few there were sold at just about steady prices, or possibly a little better than on Saturday, as the market right at the end of the week was not very strong. Veal calves were also just about steady good veals bringing $6.5046.75. Representative sales:

SHEEP—There was a moderate run of sheep, some ten or eleven cars being reported in, but it was small, compared with a week ago, when the receipts footed up twenty-three cars, or 5,615 head. The most of the receipts consisted of killers, but there were a few feeder sheep and lambs among the offerings. The markt was active on killers and everything that would answer to that description sold in good season at fully steady prices. A bunch of the Hershey sheep brought $3.70, which was the same price that was paid for the same Mexican cornfed yearlings that sold on Friday of last week at $4.35, brought $4.40 today, but there were a few more throw-outs, so that it could not be callled any more than steady. Some good Utah wethers, part of them yearlings, sold at $4.15.

The market on feeding sheep was without material change. There were not many here, but so far as could be judged from appearances, not many were wanted. Values are unchanged since the close of last week.

AS TO STRIKING MATCHES.

Streaks Showing Where Lights Were Produced to Be Found Everywhere. "I may be wrong," said the little woman in the cross seat of the car, "but I fully believe that a man would strike a match on the tombstone of his mother," and her eyes snapped and her checks flushed at the idea of such a sacrilege.

Go where one will, into the most out-ofthe-way place or corner to ignite a match, tell-tale streaks will be found as positive proof that a match striker has been there before. Raise the drapery about a mantel and peer underneath and there again will come in view the cabalistic brown tracks, the "blazed" way, as it were, of the matchstriking guild.

On every side of lamp posts, fire plugs and bulk window frames are to be found the trails of the successor of the tinder box and steel. Letter boxes, street corners, every pillar in the elevated structures, door jambs, bottoms of chairs and edges of bureaus, washstands and dressing cases possess the hiero-or pyro-glyphics. Even church edifices are not sacred when the hurry call is issued for a light. Even altar rails have been visited by the same touch. In fact, there is no place too sacred or too much out of the way not to have, at one time or other, received the necessary friction required to secure a light. When Cleopatra's needle was placed in Central park the apex bore traces, among the alnost obliterated hieroglyphics, of the passing of the match. It is said that the same modern signs can be found upon the topknot of the sphinx and upon the top of the pyramids.

Armed with a match and a slight blaze being a necessity, the holder will make for the nearest spot to obtain the necessary friction. Upon the variety stage, even, the production of flame from the sulphur-tipped sliver of wood is utilized by queerly 'madeup" mummers to win the laugh of the man who has paid to see. A made-up hald head is an attractive spot, and furnishes the desired place for coaxing the flame and bringing a laugh from the theater patrons. It always succeeds, and would have been a star performance coeval with Joe Miller's joke book had matches been in existence

He Aspired to Citisenship. The Cleveland Plain Dealer tells this story of an Italian, Leon Catalino Carabeani of Cleveland, who tried to get naturalized the other day: "Why makes the laws in this country?"

asked the judge. "McKisson," replied the applicant, refering to the mayor. "Does McKisson make them alone?" was the next question.

"Bushnell helps him some," was the re-"Did you ever hear of Christopher Colum-"Yes; he's a policeman on McKisson's

"Who was George Washington?" "He's a motorman on East End electric "Have you ever heard of Garibaldi?"

"Yes; he works on the sewer out to the "Is there a king in this country?" "Yes; he is Joseph Carabelli."
It is needless to add that Carabeani did not secure his naturalization papers. See the advertisement of the Merchants' Bean club in Tuesday's Bee.
