All Sorts of Bootleggers Attending the Federal Court's Session.

CHADRON SECTION BOSS CONVICTED

John Roberts, who gave a Sioux Indian a drink, is charged—Other Men Who Are Similarly Charged.

At this time liquor cases wherein it is alleged that white men have sold or given intoxicants to Indians are occupying the attention of Judge Munger of the United States court. Thursday Robert Tompkins, the Elkhorn section boss at Chadron, was placed on trial, charged with having given a bottle of liquor to a Sioux Indian. Tompkins made a hard fight for an acquittal, but after listening to the testimony and being out a couple of hours, the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

Peter Riggs is on trial, charged with selling and giving liquor to Indians upon the Omaha reservation. There are a number of witnesses for the prosecution, but the principal one is Noah Webster, who received the name on account of the extensive vocabulary which he possesses. Webster testified that he received liquor from Riggs and that in drinking it he produced a feeling that indicated to his mind that he owned the whole of the reservation. In his testimony he sought to prove an alibi, alleging that at the time of the commission of the alleged crime, he was a resident of Iowa and was engaged in hauling corn from the country to Omaha. He further testified that he has a brother who resembles him very closely and that if any liquor was sold or given to the Indians by any Riggs, it must have been by this brother. The jury decided that Riggs was guilty.

Deputy United States Marshal Ackerman has returned from Creighton, bringing with him J. A. Bush, charged with selling liquor to Indians. The man admits selling, but says that he is a horse doctor and that the liquor was for a sick horse, owned by the Indian.

George Miller and Henry Wolf, two Indians from the Omaha reservation, have been brought in by Deputy Marshal Allen. Both men are charged with having sold to Indians. Miller was indicted by the late grand jury, while Wolf was before United States Commissioner Sloan at Pender and was bound over. Being unable to give bonds, he was committed to the county jail.

Anna P. Wilson of Lincoln has asked to be declared a bankrupt. She alleges that she contracted a debt of $1,200 prior to her marriage and when her name was Anna P. Young. She says that she is without property and wants the fact to be adjudged by the court.

Eve L. Longtin of Lincoln would have the court adjudge her a bankrupt. She has filed her petition in the office of the clerk of the United States court and therein she alleges that she owes $100 for beer and cigars and is unable to pay a cent in liquidation of the amount.

Midway Suit Sent Back. Yesterday afternoon Judge Munger passed upon the case of the Oriental Exposition company against Gaston Akoun and others, remaining it to the district court for trial. This is the case wherein the Oriental Exposition company is seeking to recover $10,000 from the Streets of Cairo, secured an injunction restraining the use of camels and donkeys in the Streets of All Nations, it having been alleged that prior to the opening of the exposition the Streets of Cairo was given an exclusive concession to use those animals for hire and in giving street parades. The case was heard in the district court, where the contention of the plaintiff was sustained, after which there was a removal to the United States court, the defendants alleging that the district court was without jurisdiction in the premises.

In the McCarthy Case. Up to this time there has been no application filed for a new trial in the case of the United States against McCarthy and Brown, convicted of counterfeiting. It is understood, however, that such a motion will be filed and argued and if denied then there will be a motion filed for an arrest of judgment pending action looking to taking the case up to the United States circuit court of appeals.

Federal Building Notes. With the exception of those now engaged in the trial of causes, the jurors in the United States court have been excused until next Monday morning at 9.30 o'clock. Notice has been served at the government building of the appointment of Charles F. Cramer as superintendent of the new postoffice at South Omaha to succeed James Farnam, removed.

George N. Beel, an attorney of Norfolk, this state, has been relieved from all of the debts that were hanging over him. He asked to be declared a bankrupt and the petition was granted.

The revenue office is in receipt of a ruling from the Treasury department, in which it is stated that when a man has an account in a bank and draws checks against the account, he must attach stamps to such checks.

ENTERTAINMENTS LAST NIGHT

Benefit Concert at Creighton Hall Draws a Fine Attendance to Hear Good Music.

The benefit concert at Creighton hall last evening was very well attended, the large audience showing the deep interest in the cause of the program by the liberal applause accorded the several numbers, each participant being compelled to return to acknowledge a recall.

The program was well prepared, containing the names of some of the best amateurs in the city. Mr. Barton's "Figs to the Sea" appeared to render Nessler's "It Was Not So to Be." Karl Smith's cello solo, "Tarantelle op. 32," by Popper, was cordially received. In the absence of Miss Dickinson, Mrs. Elizabeth Marney recited "The Coward" in manner that pleased the audience greatly. Joseph Gahn gave two numbers, the "Romance," by Schumann, and a selection rendered with the left hand, the "Andante Finales," by Dornitz-Leschetzki. The latter brought him an undeniable encore and was responded with Schumann's "Night Pieces." Mr. Wheeler was heard to advantage in "Dreamland," by J. E. Butler. Mr. Manchester sang "A Dream," by Bartlett, so effectively that he was given a spontaneous encore. He gave Gotta's "The Joy Old Mother" to rousing music. The program closed with Pinaud's "Good Night, Good Night, Beloved," by a strong quartet, composed of Miss Burham, Miss Bowman, Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Manchester.

Messrs. J. E. Butler, H. B. Cookrell and Sigmond Landsberg acted as accompanists to the various numbers.

Successful Bazaar.

The bazaar given by the Ladies' Aid society of the Seward Street Methodist church, which has been in progress for the last two days, proved a great success for the society. Dinner was served to more than 200 people during the two days. The women had the room where the bazaar was given decorated artistically with flags, while the tables were covered with pretty pieces of linens, which made excellent Christmas presents. A snug sum was added to the surplus the society is accumulating for furthering the interests of the church.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION MEETS

Matters Pertaining to the New City Charter in Connection with Public Work Discussed.

The principal business discussed at the meeting of the Central Labor union last night in Labor hall was that relating to a clause of the city charter providing that all city work be done by union labor. The committee appointed at the last meeting of the union to confer with the committee on revision of the charter asked to be instructed with regard to demanding the insertion of such a clause, and after animated remarks by nearly all the delegates present it was decided to insist upon the insertion of a clause in the charter providing that city work be done by union labor.

After President W. H. Bell called the meeting to order credentials were read from the Coopers' International union and the National Association of Letter Carriers and the delegates from those organizations were obligated. They were John Cushing, Neil Shanahan and P. McArthur from the Coopers' and C. W. Miller, George J. Kiefer and Charles B. Newton from the Letter Carriers' association.

A committee was appointed with power to negotiate for the publication of a new labor directory. The members were W. C. Turner, L. Groves, W. Shupp, A. S. Taylor and William O'Brien.

A communication was read from the promoters of the new auditorium project asking that a committee of five be appointed from the union to meet similar committees of other organizations of the city and the following names were chosen: F. Young, G. Kiefer, C. E. Sparks and W. C. Shanahan.

The resignation of W. H. Daniels was read and accepted and C. E. Sparks was elected to the position. C. W. Lewis was obligated as a delegate of the Waiters' union.

STORIES TOLD THE POLICE

Little Narratives of Wickedness the Authorities Are Called Upon to Straighten Out.

J. F. Mahoney lodged a complaint against Don Hayes of 1213 Chicago street, charging him with the larceny of two rings.

Louis Lloyd was arraigned before Judge Gordon upon the charge of having stolen a pocketbook containing $32 from Mrs. O. Albiez. He entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to serve thirty days in jail for the infraction.

Four soldiers from Fort Crook, giving their names as C. P. Nelson, John Patterson, James Grayall and Delbert Hartwell, were before Judge Gordon yesterday on the charge of fighting in Goldsmith's saloon. The testimony showed that the trouble started from an argument with the bartender. Billiard cues flew through the air until Detective Cornack, with the assistance of a couple of bystanders, arrested the entire party. It was a bloody affair that Hartzell paid $5 and costs for, as the others were discharged.

The soldiers returned to the police court yesterday afternoon and lodged a complaint against the bartender, Charles Cummings, whom they accuse of assaulting two of them.

Marx Hermen of Bennington, Neb., told the police yesterday afternoon how he had been fined $200 out of 235 chickens by a smooth talking peddler and he is willing to pay no reward for information leading to the apprehension. Hermen says the peddler came to his house and got the chickens, for which he was to pay $48. He left a package as security and was to return the next day to pay for his purchase. He never came back and upon opening the bundle Hermen found that it contained no chickens but bring $10 if a very liberal estimate were placed upon them.

MOTHER OF THE BABY FOUND

Child Abandoned in the Old Churchyard was that of Heated Johnson, an Unmarried Girl.

The history of the babe which was found in the old churchyard at Nineteenth and Cass streets on December 2 has finally been solved. The mother of the child was Hannah Johnson of 1316 Capitol avenue. The coroner found that the child was born alive and if it had been given proper care would have lived. Instead the child was carried to the old churchyard by the mother of the girl and deserted to its fate.

When confronted with the evidence of her act Miss Johnson attempted to lay the blame at the door of another. She told her mother had taken the child away and that she needed young man who has borne an excellent reputation as being a father. She goes no further than this, not implicating him in the disposal of her infant. No arrest has been made.

NO INQUESTS ARE NEEDED

Coroner Decides in Regard to the Deaths of Andrew Burrows and James Burrows.

Coroner Swanson has decided that no inquest is necessary upon the remains of Andrew M. Robb, who committed suicide Thursday morning, at his home, 2764 Lake street, by sending a bullet through his brain. The revolver with which he ended his life is in the coroner's possession, as well as all the information he was able to glean concerning the unfortunate affair, and the coroner of the dead man when his neighbors were called showed that he had shot himself.

The coroner has also come to the conclusion that he will not hold an inquest in the case of James Burrows, who was found dead in his bed at 210 South Fourteenth street. The chief of police of Racine, Wis., has been asked to locate Burrows' sister, if possible.

It is claimed that Burrows has been in Omaha much longer than stated at first. He had been attended by the county physician for several weeks and a merchant on South Sixteenth street says that he has seen Burrows in that vicinity for the last nine years.

Frits Wirth's Scorchers.

A small fire occurred yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at 230 South Tenth street, occupied by Fritz Wirth. A defective fuse started the blaze on the first floor in a barber shop. The fire spread upstairs in the City hotel annex, but the loss was occasioned by smoking in the kitchen. Mr. Wirth's damage is estimated at $100.

Sam Hoff and his Gang.

Officer Hoff, who has charge of the prisoners who are to work out fines on the streets of the city, appeared before Judge Gordon yesterday afternoon and requested that the court issue an order to the police to let him exercise his judgment in the selection of men who he is to take into custody. He complained that he was being given men

ONLY FOUR FOUND GUILTY

End of the Exposition Contempt Case in Judge Scott's Court.

FINE AND RESTITUTION ORDERED

Court Finds Montgomery, Wadley, Wadley and Reed and Orders Them Confined Until His Judgment is Satisfied.

During noon hour yesterday Judge Scott rendered his decision in the exposition contempt case. He ordered Carl Montgomery, the general counsel of the exposition, Gordon W. Wadley, the president, S. B. Wadley, the superintendent of the Department of Concessions, and A. L. Reed, the manager of the concessions department, to pay to each of the city of Omaha, $500 each, and to return to the Streets of Cairo of $30,013 with interest from November 1, and to be confined in close custody until they comply with the order of the court. All the other defendants were discharged, the court saying there had been no evidence against them.

A motion for a new trial is to be argued next morning. In the event of its being denied an appeal will be taken to the supreme court.

The court also announced that he would make an order today at 10 a. m. discharging Mr. Montgomery from practice in his court and that he would also appoint a committee on disbarment proceedings.

During the morning Stenographer Sutcliffe was observed taking notes outside the courtroom. Bailiff Kerr hid his eyes behind him and heeded the bailiff. Thereupon complaint was made by the bailiff to the court. The judge ordered Sutcliffe to pay a fine of $50 and to be confined in a cell of the jail until the further orders of the court, because some time ago, as the court said, Sutcliffe had used an insulting language toward the court. However, R. S. Hall interceded and on Mr. Hall inducing Sutcliffe to leave the entrance of the court room the judge recalled his order before the reporter had time to complete the transcription of it.

Emil Lermy, the confidential man of the Streets of All Nations, says the amount ordered as the restitution covers the period between July 16 and October 20.

Preparations for Appeal.

At the same hour that Judge Scott will be making his disbarment order this morning, as threatened yesterday, against Carl Montgomery, the latter will file in Lincoln filing a transcript of the entire exposition contempt case and giving a supersedeas bond for an appeal to the supreme court. Mr. Montgomery went to Lincoln last night.

A bond for each of the four defendants and one for the exposition have been prepared with E. W. Nash, Guy C. Barton and J. H. Millard as sureties, so as to be ready. A copy of the decree as agreed upon by Messrs. Hall and Mahoney was submitted to Judge Scott last night for his signature.

Before Mr. Montgomery left separate motions for a new trial were filed with the clerk of the district court in behalf of Messrs. Wadley, Reed, Wadley and Montgomery and another, somewhat differently worded, for the exposition company. They contain a long list of reasons for a new trial. Particularly that the information filed in the contempt case was sworn to by Jolie Nines of the Streets of Cairo, October 29, 1898, they assert that the court was without jurisdiction to award such a lot of errors and irregularities, among other things the forcing of testimony by the court from the witnesses without giving the defense an opportunity to object and his abuse of discretion generally.

They set up in an itemized manner several statements to the effect that the holdings, findings and judgment were not sustained by the evidence and were contrary to law, that Judge Scott had no jurisdiction to grant the restraining order and the injunction, and that the latter had imposed an unusual, excessive, unjust and unlawful fine. Finally they call attention to the fact that long prior to the contempt proceedings in question the Oriental Exposition company had brought a suit against Gaston Akoun and Mariee Zitoum of the Streets of All Nations, Abraham Reed, S. B. Wadley and the exposition company with the same object, notwithstanding which the court allowed Akoun, Zitoum, Mrs. Zitoum, Isaac Benyakar and Khalil Nelmy to testify and to go free without trial or prosecution of any kind.

In behalf of the exposition company the vacation of the findings, decision and judgment is moved and a new trial is asked for the reason that it, as a defendant, was never arraigned or tried, nor were there any proceedings whatever against it; that it was without jurisdiction and had no authority to find against it for any violation of the restraining order; that there was no evidence against it, and that the penalty is excessive and unjust.

A separate motion for the exposition company was necessary because the order of restitution for the $30,013 is made against Messrs. Wadley, Reed and Wadley officially as well as personally.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has saved many a life. It was given to a child with bronchitis and ineffectual consumption. Price 25 cents.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

In the numerous suggestions offered for amendments to the charter not one pertains to the care of the streets at this time of the year.

Mayor Essor recommends that some provision be made to repair paved streets at the expense of the general public after abutting property owners had once paid the original cost of the paving, curbing and guttering.

The streets at the present time are in a deplorable condition and there is a possibility of a snow storm upon to pay for the removal of the accumulation of mud and snow. Very little, if anything, remains in the street repair fund, as the levy for this purpose, which was available last August, has been expended in leveling and repairing the unpaved streets in all parts of the city.

An increase in the street repair fund might be recommended with the proviso that a certain portion was to be reserved for the purpose of paying the cost of winter work on the streets. As a rule, the street repair fund is depleted almost after it is available on account of the large amount of work done on the unpaved streets. Some city officials seem to think that if a little more forethought was used in the handling of this fund more good might be accomplished and a small sum saved out for use during the winter months.

All work performed by the street commissioner is now done by day labor. This is expensive and it has been suggested that a great saving might be made by purchasing a road machine and a team of horses. Such a machine in the hands of a competent man could repair more unpaved streets in a day than the present force in a week, and at much less cost.

Mayor Essor has an idea that a street sweeper ought to be purchased and the same team used to haul the road machine could be utilized on a street sweeper morning and night on occasion might require it. A road machine would cost the city $300 or possibly $400; the latter sum would include a work team. It is asserted that with a competent man at the head of the street department a sweeper and grader might be worked so as to give larger returns for the money expended than under the present system.

No Factions in Sight.

Very little interest seems to be taken among the commission men at the Live Stock exchange in the meeting to be held next Monday for the purpose of nominating officers of the exchange. These officers are nominated in December of each year and are voted on at a meeting held in January. One well known member of the exchange said yesterday that all of the commission men were too busy just now to pay any attention to the nomination of officers and it is inferred from his statement that there will be no opposition to the tickets placed in nomination. Sometimes the exchange splits into factions and each faction nominates its officers and the battle is waged on election day. At the present time most of the members are on one another and it is inferred that the factions prominent in the past have buried the hatchet.

Building More Cottages.

R. C. Strobel of Omaha is making arrangements to erect a number of residences in this city as soon as the weather will permit. Plans have been drawn for houses in different parts of the city. Four cottages are to be built at Twenty-fourth and K streets, one at Twenty-fourth and L streets, two at Twenty-sixth and K streets, and two at Twenty-fourth and A streets. The houses at A street are to cost in the neighborhood of $2,500 each while the others will average about $1,000.
