

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TERMINAL

Ground for a Freight Depot Bought by the Railroad Company.

TAKES OLD WAKEFIELD LUMBER YARD

Transfer of the Property Just Closed Between Its Owner and a Representative of the Coming Corporation.

Any doubt that may have existed about the coming of the Illinois Central railroad to the Omaha is removed by the announcement of the purchase of a large block of ground on the north side of the Union Pacific tracks, between Seventeenth and Nineteenth streets, by George Stuart, esq. of Chicago, acting for the Illinois Central railroad.

The consideration paid for the property is $50,000. It was purchased from Henry F. Cady of this city, who has held the property for some time. He secured it through the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia, which corporation foreclosed on a mortgage on the property given by John A. Wakefield.

A railroad man whose intimate knowledge of the negotiations of the Illinois Central for entrance into Omaha gives him authority to speak advisedly in the matter says that George Stuart, esq. of Chicago, to whom the deed has been made out, is acting for the Illinois Central railroad. The property will be assumed by the Illinois Central when the railroad now building from Fort Dodge, Ia., in this direction reaches here.

Whether the property will be used for a freight depot or merely for truckage purposes is not known. The idea that the Illinois Central will erect a freight depot on the ground acquired is held by a number of real estate and railroad men familiar with the deal.

As a contract to use the new union passenger station has already been made by the Union Pacific it is known that the property is not intended for use as passenger terminal. The location is good for a freight depot, and is accessible from the principal business section of the city. It is located on the city side of the Union Pacific tracks so that teams would not have to cross any railroad tracks to reach the Illinois Central freight depot. It is also located very close to the corner of the United States army, through which a great amount of freight is handled every year. While it is a little further from the wholesale district than the present freight depot the location is regarded as more nearly central for the entire business community of the city.

General Western Agent Fred A. Nash of the Milwaukee road has returned from Chicago. Freight Traffic Manager Munroe of the Union Pacific was much impressed in health on Monday morning, but his physician would not let him leave the house.

James E. Kelly, assistant solicitor of the B. & M., who has been confined to his home for a few days, through which typhoid fever, was able to be out for a little while on Monday morning.

The regular weekly meeting of the local freight agents was held at Elkhorn headquarters on Monday morning. It was announced that no business was transacted, so it took two hours to call the roll.

The railroad weather reports show that the combination of dark clouds, sleet and rain that Omaha has been entertaining since Sunday evening is not general throughout the west. It extends through the eastern and central portions of Nebraska and Kansas, but no further west. In Wyoming it was clear and cold on Monday morning.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure a cough or cold in one day. It is safe and always reliable. Price 25 cents a bottle.

SHRYOCK INSURANCE CASE

Widow in Court Seeking the Amount of a Policy an Accident Company Refuses to Pay.

Before Judge Carland and a jury in the United States court the case of Celia V. Shryock against the National Masonic Accident association of Des Moines, Ia., is being heard. The plaintiff sues on a $5,000 accident policy which was carried by her husband, William B. Shryock, who died in this city on July 2, 1892.

William B. Shryock was, prior to his death, engaged in the drug business at Louisville, this state. On the day prior to his death he came to Omaha and while crossing the street slipped and fell. He was carried to a hotel and the next morning he was found dead. He had policies in a number of insurance companies, most of which were in litigation. The defendant company, however, contested and set up the defense that death was not due to accident. The case was tried in the United States court some years ago and a verdict in the sum of $1,000 returned for the plaintiff. The defendant took the case to the United States court of appeals and after a hearing there it was sent back to the circuit court here for a rehearing, which is now on.

The position taken by Judge McHugh, who appears for the plaintiff, is that Shryock received injuries which resulted in causing death and that death was not due to natural causes. He contends that prior to the accident Shryock was a healthy man, just in the prime of life.

Next Saturday has been fixed upon by Judge Munger as the date for hearing the arguments for a new trial in the case of the United States against John McCarty and John Brown, convicted of counterfeiting and passing counterfeit money. If the motion is denied, the two men will be sentenced before the adjournment of court on that day.

Moses Roben, the veteran counterfeiter, caught two days ago in United States court, will be called before Judge Munger for sentence next Saturday.

Banker Pleads Not Guilty. G. W. Burton, president of the First National bank of Orleans, this state, was before Judge Munger yesterday afternoon and pleaded not guilty to the indictment, charging him with fraudulent banking and making false entries in his reports to the comptroller. He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to sixty days in the county jail, the sentence to date from November 14, 1898, the first day of the present term of court.

Haley's Bond Forfeited. The $1,000 bond given by Jack Haley was forfeited in Judge Munger's court. Haley was accused of passing counterfeit money, having been indicted in the batch with McCarty and Brown. His bond was signed by his father. When called in court, Haley failed to appear.

Galloway Asks Judicial Aid. W. C. Galloway has filed his petition in the United States court, asking to be declared a bankrupt. He is a resident at Neligh, owes $11,000 and is absolutely without property of any description.

Don't Fool with a Cold. We must repeat our warning against pneumonia, the most dangerous disease that prevails in this city, and which is extraordinarily prevalent at this time. Be on your guard at all times against taking cold. Look out for it if you take it. Gladstone used to go to bed and send for a doctor whenever he felt a cold and consequently he got well in a very short time. The "Sun" is right and their warning should be heeded. For colds there is nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It prevents any cold from a cold toward pneumonia. It is pleasant and safe to take—children like it.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES. Urgent Demands Upon the Association for Coal. The trustees, on account of an empty treasury, are compelled to appeal to our benevolent citizens for funds to purchase 200 tons of coal to distribute to the cold season among the aged, sick and worthy poor of our city.

Gottlieb Stelter from Germany Gets a Costly Introduction to the Ways of Omaha Thieves.

When Stelter alighted at the Union depot from an incoming train he accosted three rough looking men and asked them to direct him to a German doctor or hospital. M. Leslie went home he left a barrel of molasses outside his store at 423 South Eleventh street. Some fellows who were hanging around saw the barrel and rolled it down the street several doors to a wagon, into which the molasses was loaded. The thieves drove to 105 South Fourteenth street, where they sold the barrel to J. Berger. It was located by the police and returned to its owner.

The program is a novel and thrilling one, with his animals thoroughly trained. The thrilling parachute jump of a cat from the lofty dome of the theater is a most interesting and startling scene. HERMAN OBERG IS MISSING

Former Owner of the Nebraska Bakery Drops Out of Sight and Friends Worry About Him.

The disappearance of Herman Oberg, a baker on South Sixteenth street, on December 2, has furnished an opportunity for an investigation by the police, but thus far they have failed to get any trace of him. Oberg came here about a year ago and started a shop known as the Nebraska Bakery at 122 South Sixteenth street, having a man named Boyle as his partner. A few months later he purchased his partner's share and operated the bakery thereafter himself. Not being a practical baker he hired Philip Messinger to look after the baking for him. Messinger and his wife lived in the bakery and Oberg took his meals and roomed with them. On December 2 he sold his interest to Messinger, saying that he contemplated leaving the city. He had talked of going to Cuba, back to Dallas, Tex., from whence he came, or to Holdrege, Neb. The day the sale was made he told Messinger that he had a ticket to some point, but would not state where he was going. In fact he said he had been made up his mind to start a restaurant down in the city. Mr. Messinger says he paid Oberg for the bakery and he promised to return the next day to see them. He left in the afternoon and nothing has been heard from him.

We want to sandwich 'em in between your thoughts of Christmas things for these may set you thinking of a Christmas gift worth while. Goods heavy, handsome, sterling ulsters, in black frieze—not genuine frieze, but the next best thing to it—at three seventy-five. That's worth thinking about. We've sold some pretty good ulsters this season for the same price, but these are fully two pounds heavier and just a little better looking and you'll say when you see them they're just the best things you ever came across inside of the Nebraska walls. And here's another good thing. A brand new lot of men's double breasted, black or blue cheviot suits—genuine cheviot at $6.50 a suit. Maybe you've seen as good suits as these sold at $9.67 in alleged mark down sales, and maybe you haven't and if there's any mark down sale in Omaha this season, that sells any better suits for $7.50 or eight dollars or eight fifty, you can come back here and get a rebate on yours. We mention these two items simply because they are fairly representative of the great values in this recent shipment of suits and overcoats—a shipment made necessary by the unprecedented heavy trade of this season and having the benefits of unexpected money for the makers—thrown in.
