CORN STARTS A BIG TUMULT Boft Weather Sends Shorts to Seurrying and the Result is a Bit of a Market Boom.

Those who held corn or wheat yesterday had the real stuff if they let it go at the right time. Both grains had a boom in price sufficient to make a man rich if he held enough of the cereals. On the local Board of Trade the interest in the market bordered almost on excitement and the transactions in this city alone in these two grains amounted to nearly 1,000,000 bushels, which is a good day's business. May corn opened yesterday at 35% cents and at the close it was 36 5-8 cents. May wheat opened at 66 7-8 cents and closed at 68 5-8 cents. Corn is mentioned first because it was the cause of the trouble, while wheat's movements were actuated only by sympathy.

boom in the price of corn was not looked for. While all the conditions surrounding the market for some time have been of strength for this commodity, there was nothing to mark the coming of so sudden advance. The commission men of this

STATE TEACHERS' MEETING city are disposed to attribute the cause to the bad weather. It has been so wet and so warm during the fast week, they say, that great quantities of corn in transit to Chicago has become so affected by the climatic conditions as to grade low, or not grade at all and this had required a call upon futures to make good the contracts. while cash corn is no stronger than it has been. There were 1,100,000 bushels of corn and 600,000 bushels of wheat cleared for xport yesterday. The interest in the market was all centered in Chicago and for the day, at least, it was the great market of the world. And as for Omaha, it has been some time since men have watched the ticker so closely as they did yesterday. A majority of transactions here were sales for the benefit of the profits on investments made during the week. Yet there were generous purchases near the close by the hopeful ones who look for a further advance today.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SNOWDEN

First White Woman to Come Omaha Borne to Her Last Resting Place by Pioneers.

Prospect Hill cemetery now contains all that is mortal of Mrs. Rachel Snowden, who was the first white woman to come to Omaha, and who lived to see the city grow from nothing to a place of the present size, beyond all her anticipations-to witness it expand from a village where everybody was her neighbor into a metropolis of which she was but one of thousands of parts, with nearly all the early landmarks with which she was familiar wiped away.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the late residence, 712 South Twenty-fifth avenue, and were conducted by Rev. Luther M. Kuhns, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, who, after reading the established service of the church, made some remarks of comfort and hope to the bereaved family. Prisoner Resisted from the First and Was Assisted by His Brother and Others-Alleged Gamblers Object to Trial.

The trial of Joe and George Nachneber and Dan Bockawitz on the charge of assaulting Officer Peter Jorgenson with intent to commit murder, commenced yesterday afternoon. The court room was crowded with witnesses from the Sixth street district while others from the same locality came o hear the testimony.

Officer Jorgenson, still looking somewhat the worse for his experience, testified that he was given a warrant for the arrest of Joe Nachneber. He found his man in a saloon and invited him outside. Then the witness told him that he had a warrant for his arrest for assaulting Officer Kiewiz. Nachneber refused to accompany him and they came to blows. Jorgenson struck him over the head a couple of times with his revolver. Nachneber ceased his struggles and they crossed the street to a coal office where he expected to call the wagon. When they entered the coal office they found there was no telephone. He and his prisoner became involved in a second struggle, in which he threw Nachneber to the floor and struck him a couple of times with his revolver. While they were scuffling on the floor George Nachneber kicked him in the side and struck him over the head with the witness' own club. The witness dropped his revolver on the floor and Dan Bockawitz picked it up and carried it off. The witness also stated that Joe Nachneber bit his ear and Dan Bockawitz kicked him over the eye, inflicting a wound an Manila. MANILA, Nov. 14 .- To the Editor of The Bee: Having just received mail from home and having observed the reports of sickness in the Third Nebraska volunteers and noted the reasons that are given why this regiment should be mustered out, the boys of Company K ask that you allow us a little space in your paper to present some per-

At that time we did not know where we would be sent. On the other hand the Third Nebraska knew that they were to go south and even asked to be sent to Cuba and placed under General Lee's command. Now that there is no fighting to be done, only garrison duty to be performed, comes William J. Bryan, that great man from the state of Nebraska, who wanted to lead a regiment to the front and fight for his country, who has seen less than four months' service, crying to be mustered out. And this notwithstanding that the First regiment has been in service nearly seven months, that in this time they have seen some of their comrades fall before Spanish bullets, others stricken with disease brought on by lying in the mud and water of the intrenchments before

We are not asking for anything that is not perfectly just; all we want is a fair show and if we don't get it, when we do come home there are some who will learn that the First Nebraska has more friends than they thought and that they can vote

Politics was tabooed from the platforms and in fact no code of principles was adopted by either. Appointment of New United States Attorney Had Been Anticipated.

PLACE OF ASSISTANT IS IN DOUBT

Half a Dozen Applicants, with the Prospects that Mr. Rush Will Not Be Disturbed for the Present at Least.

The appointment of Williamson S. Sumners to the position of United States attorney for Nebraska gives general satisfaction about the government building. The appointment occasioned no surprise, as it was conceded some weeks ago that Summers would be the man. Who will fill the position of assistant under United States Attorney Summers is a question that is being speculated on at this hour. There are half a dozen applicants, the most prominent of whom are T. W. Blackburn and John W. Battin. However, it is not probable that any one will immediately succeed the present assistant, S. R. Rush, who has served with so much ability during the last four years. He has the business of the office well in hand and it is thought that he will be retained until a larger portion of it is disposed of and out of the way.

A. J. Sawyer, the ex-United States at torney, says that he is ready to turn the office over at any time. He expects to give possession within the next few days. Regarding the work that is in sight for the United States attorney to take up and dispose of at the present term of court, which will undoubtedly run until well into January, there is little of importance, aside from the case of the United States against Frank Dorsey, the Ponca banker, which is set down for trial before Judge Carland on January 3.

WINE OF CARDUIA FACES THAT SHOW SUFFERING.

CLEVELAND. Obio, Aug. 31. I looked so bad I hated to see a mirror. The trouble was irregular menstruation and beadache. I got worse from month to month. I felt good for nothing, and couldn't give proper attention to my house and children. I used a little Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught, and seem to be entirely cured. I look and feel better than I have for five years. MRS. G. A. PHILLIPS.

It is hard to imagine a sadder sight than a woman at a mirror who sees that her youthful charms have vanished. The eyes dull, the skin flabby and yellow, the cheeks sunken, the mouth drawn. What is there in the future for her if she can not be made to understand that her suffering is wholly unnecessary? Women ought to be thankful to know that Wine of Cardui is a safe and speedy cure for their Ills. It will overcome and drive their diseases away. Their youthful looks and feelings will come back again if this remarkable vegetable Wine is taken according to directions. It seems strange that so many should continue to suffer when rescue is so close at hand.
