resentatives Haller, Burns, Harkson and Rouse. The election of senator in 1895, however, was a very tame affair, Mr. Thurston having no opponents in his own party, so that the present experience is entirely different.

Two republican members of the legislature were members of the legislature of 1893 and took part in the memorable contest which resulted in the election of Senator Allen. These two are Representatives Haller and Burns. Dr. Haller started by voting for Lorenzo Crounse and continued voting for him steadily until the last two or three ballots, when he cast his vote for the nominees of the republican caucus, Thurston and Paddock. Representative Burns began voting in 1593 for Secretary of State John C. He went down the list, changing from day to day to R. E. Moore of Lincoln, Church Howe, the Nemaha county statesman; Attorney General George H. Hastings and finally A. S. Paddock and John M. Thurston.

Senator Halderman is another republican legislator who has gone through the mill of senatorial contest, but his experience was had back in 1877. At that time Senator Halderman was counted among the supporters of Judge Clinton Briggs of Omaha and he finally voted for Alvin Saunders when the republican vote was consolidated upon him after a caucus.

It will be readily seen from this that any attempt to forecast the position of members by their votes in previous senatorial contests is entirely out of the question.

Question of Caucus Procedure.

Although the day upon which the balloting for United States senator must begin is less than a week off, there is no serious talk among republicans of a caucus before the balloting starts. The general feeling, as has been reported, is against an early caucus, but some interest is manifested in the question of caucus procedure.

In the different caucuses that have so far been held to determine the house and senate organization the votes have all been taken by ballot. At the first house caucus in which the speakership fight figured most prominently the question was presented whether the vote should be by ballot or by roll call and was determined in favor of the former method. In the senate caucus which agreed upon the different committee chairmanships some complaint was made that the fight over the head of the judiciary committee might have resulted differently had the senators voting been compelled to go on record as to their choice.

It is stated on reliable authority, that in the republican caucuses of two years ago the votes were all taken by roll call, and that no attempt was made to secure secret ballots upon any proposition. The question of an open vote or a secret ballot is likely to become one of the important factors in the senatorial contest before it is completed.

State University Wants.

The legislative committee appointed by the university Board of Regents, which has been in session here for several days working upon measures in the interest of the university, completed its labors today. The university people have decided to change their demands and to consolidate all the university bills into one. At the last meeting of the Board of Regents it was agreed to present to the legislature requests for appropriations not only out of the university fund, but also out of the general fund, and and senators. an additional request for a three-sixteenth mill levy to form a special building fund. The legislative committee has agreed to ask that instead of the usual three-eighths mili levy for university purposes, the levy be reased by the present legislature to 1 mill, and that the appropriations for buildings, maintenance, salaries and all other purposes come out of the university fund thus augmented. The finance report of the Fisher of Dawes offered for consideration the Stotsenberg resolution, being a copy of the one adopted by the senate in the forenoon, and moved that it be made a special order for 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The notion prevailed without opposition.

> The committee on employes made a report commending the appointment of stenographer, one messenger for chief clerk, two proofreaders, two copyholders, one fireman, one assistant janitor, six enrolling and engrossing clerks, one page and such committee clerks as provided by the rules. The report was adopted, and the speaker announced the following appointments: J. A. Davis, clerk of committee on privileges and elections; William H. paire, whose resignation of the presidency of the civil section of the court of caseation is regarded by impartial observers as the most dangerous development of the Dreyfus affair thus far, today furnished to the newspapers the most inflammatory pronouncement he has yet made .. It is in the nature of a proclamation and is entitled "An Appeal to the Deputies," whom he calls on vehemently to remove the Dreyfus case from the hands of the criminal chamber of the court. The proclamation concludes as follows:

"Order a real and sofemn inquiry which shall penetrate right into the visera of this tortuous examination. If there are guilty men in the bosom of the criminal chamber authorize the executive power to remove them, so that our magistry may gain its ancient prestige. Remove the case from the criminal chamber tomorrow. Order an immediate judicial inquiry. You can assuredly take other measures, as you have to accept advice from no one and your decisions will be welcomed with the confidence due those who safeguard the French cause.

"I hope to play the modest role of those sentries who in the olden days signaled from the battlements the approach of the enemy and after sounding the alarm left it for chiefs of the city to arm themselves in behalf of the commonweal. City fathers, forgive the abruptness of my appeal. It is due to the emotion which agitates me. If you do not cut the gordian knot at once I tremble for my country. 'My grief is great to see the magistracy to which I have so long belonged compromised, but I console myself with the thought that it will emerge purified from the crisis. My grief is great at seeing five or six magistrates so forgetful of our traditions as to declare themselves the adversaries of the army. Of course the Dreyfusites maintain that they are not attacking the army while they attack its chiefs. These madmen think when they tell the soldiers today that their chiefs are unworthy to command, that the spirit of discipline and confidence which constitutes the greatest ource of military strength is not being undermined.

"You will reply that what they call the enemy' is the sword of France-the poor mcers whose uniform is the garb of sacrifice, who work devotedly for the loftiest alm which exists, preparing to die; who tomorrow, if the cannon roar, will shed their blood for those who slander. I salute them with admiration. Army is Worthy Respect. "I say to the soldiers that the national army is worthy of respect from the highest to the lowest rank and if I have been able to aid in avenging the insult to which it has been subject I shall not regret having paid so dearly for my independence. "Deputies, listen to the voice of a good citizen! This appeal is a palpable appeal for the upport of the army. But M. de Beaurepaire, who shot up like a skyrocket as the most tremendous sensation of the Dreyfus affair, now seems falling like a rocket from his press eminence as a leader of the anti-Dreyfusards and the possible hero of a coup. The Spanish general also asserts that the natives of the Visayas have again refused to permit the Americans to land, threatening to resist by force if an attempt is made to do so. The Americans, therefore, according to General Rios, have abandoned the idea of disembarking and he confirms a previous statement to the effect that they are unwilling to General Rios alleges that the rebels ar determined to fight the Americans before reinforcements arrive from the United States. Comfort Out of Tobacco Even though window curtains and other traperies do become impregnated with tobacco smoke it is in many cases very unwise in wives to object to their husbands using tobacco in the house. No woman can fully realize the unspeakable amount of comfort a man extracts from a pipe or a cigar after a hard day's work followed by a good dinner. An English femining writer has been a great light in this matter and is distinctly in favor of smoking-for her husband. To this woman home would not be home without the man who smokes, without the odor of tobacco, and she gives reasons why she likes to see her husband smoke. He is not one of those men who never have a pipe out of their mouth, but a nice, sensible, temperate fellow, who, when business is over, settles into an easy chair, fills his pipe, lights it and unfolds his evening paper "Then, to my fancy, a man is at his best," she declares, "for while I work he reads aloud the choice parts of the news which he thinks will interest me. Should he have encountered more than an ordinary share of difficulties or trouble he forgets them all after he has finished a nicely cooked and carefully served dinner and is ready for his pipe."

Propose a Consumptive Hospital.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 11.-The report of the special commission of the senate to investigate the question of the spread of con-sumption and the establishment of better sanitary conditions for consumptives and the protection of the public has been presented. It finds that consumption is contagious and ids that the state establish a hospital, or hospitals, for the treatment of case of tuberculosis, the hospital to be loc somewhere in the forest preserve in located Adirondack mountains.

first remarkable denunciation of the court of cassation has been succeeded by a skepticism regarding his motives and the value of his revelations.

Many, if not most Frenchmen, estimate him as a politician who had found the bench too prosaic for a man long accustomed to the excitement of party strife and who thought he had found an opportunity to make himself the leader of a popular movement The charges he brings today against the court of cassation add nothing of consequence to yesterday's indictment except accusations that M. quart's advocate and friend, Maitre Leiblois, and that Councillor Dumas conferred outside the court room with friends and relatives of Dreyfus. M. Mazeau, first president of the court, expresses the opinion that it would be unfair to the criminal chamber to withdraw the case, and recommends that the criminal chamber should act as judge of institution, drawing a report on the case to be submitted to the full tribunal, over which M. Mazeau would preside.

The criminal chamber is continuing the investigation. M. Palelogue, a witness from the foreign office who has been several days under examination, says the judges appeared greatly excited on the day of M. de Beaurepaire's resignation. Two fresh chapters in the affair will be opened in a few days. The first is the trial Kong: Urbain Gohier for his alleged insults to the French army in his book, "The Army Against the Nation." M. Gohier will call 400 witnesses and insist upon threshing out leaving the Manila water supplies at the again the whole Madagascar campaign. The second chapter will be the libel suit against Joseph Reinach, editor of La Republique Francaise and deputy for the district of Deign, who is charged by the widow of the late Colonel Henry with having in-Guillan and a state and a state of the state sulted his memory by suggesting in La Re-publique Francaise that Henry was the real raitor. The Reinach prosecution seems to be the last card of the anti-Dreyfusards. If this and the scandal of De Beaurepaire's resig-
