Fast Train Situation Remains Practically Unchanged.

MORTHWESTERN FLYER GOES ON SUNDAY

Other Omaha-Chicago Lines Will Figure on the Business in Sight Before Taking Any Steps to Shorten Time.

The fast train situation remains about as it has been since the announcement of the series of wolf hunts proposed at Wisner and Burlington's intentions. This latter road Pierce, if not at other points in that part | become fearful of visiting Omaha because of has as yet made no official declaration of the of the state. Mr. Buchanan enjoys hunting character of the service it will put on, ex- for wolves as much as he does hunting for cept that it will meet any time and service passenger business, and he is longing to be ness men. If such fear exists it is absoestablished by other roads operating in the able to break away from business long same territory, and that this will be done enough to take part in at least one of these

He has time shortened to equal that of the latter a scheme of getting a couple hundred men road, and that the present No. 1 will have from Omaha to go with him on one of these Its time also shortened to about the schedule adopted when the train was first put on, but which was afterward lengthened out, owing will make a round of the hunters in the city ter was made known it spread no further to protests by the Rock Island and Santa Fe eystems. This train will be made the Denver special and will shorten the time between Omaha and Denver at least one hour, with a corresponding decrease in the time between Chicago and

It is settled, however, that there will be to changes on any of the other roads next Sunday, each of them being content for a and it is believed there that the extension week or so to wait and watch the result of the Northwestern's new time, and the amount of traffic the train will handle on its cations upon the results and benefits to be new schedule. In this latter respect the train will be watched closely by representatives of the other roads, and if the number of passengers be large or small, the facts will be known without depending upon statements issued from the Northwestern The first train under the new schedule will arrive in Omaha next Monday morning at 7:55, and there will be a good deal of interest shown in it for a few days, or until it proves that it is able to make the time established for it.

According to reports from Chicago the innovation in this fast passenger service is apt to have a wide-spreading effect. It is said there that St. Paul and Kansas City are to have the benefit of a fast train service as the outgrowth of the cut in time to

The Burlington's line to St. Paul has never been able to make any heavy inroads into the business of the Milwaukee and Northwestern lines to the Twin cities, and the time may be shortened in that direction as a retaliation for the cut to Omaha. Again, the Santa Fe is to be considered. Having no line to this city, and being particularly partial to Kansas City, where it has connection, it is almost certain to protect its own line in that direction by shortening its time to meet the advantage Omaha will have with the new service here. All of these cuts will have to be met by the other roads operating in that territory and it will then only be a question of how long the roads can stand the maintenance of such service and how well the public will

NOT GIVEN SERIOUS CONSIDERATION

Local Railroads Not Inclined to Be-lieve St. Louis Will Build to Omaha. Omaha railroad men are not much concerned over the announcement from St. Paul that the Minneapolis & St. Louis road is to build a direct line from the Twin Cities to Comaha. Although the statement of this road's intentions is given a semblance of official authorization by being credited to L. R. Day, the general manager of the system.

Captain John Swobe, conductor on the Union Pacific bridge train, leaves today were a total of fifteen sick and only one of these has been seriously ill. Two of these six families have been removed to an emergency hospital in an isolated part of the captain will be absent for about sixty days. it is deemed so incredible by railroad men in Omaha they are not even willing to discuss the project.

One official, who is as well informed as any one on the prospects for railroad building. said: "The Illinois Central has been trying to buy the Minneapolis & St. Louis, and if at succeeds in getting control of the road that might account for the statement that a direct line was to be built into Omaha. the line which the Central probably bring into this city during the coming year, it is possible connection could be made with the Minneapolis & St. Louis close enough to be considered a direct line, such as is mentioned in the St. Paul dispatch." This official was disposed to believe that if the announcement from the north should prove to be correct it would mean that the Illinois Central negotiations bad been successful. Otherwise he felt the story was simply fiction. Other railroaders who professed to know nothing of the Illinois Central deal said there was no tenable reason why the line should be built, and that the Minneapolis & St. Louis had no money to invest in experi-

John R. Webster of the Terminal company, who would probably know as much about the coming of any new line as any one, said he had heard nothing of it except what he saw in the papers, and was disposed to doubt the authenticity of the report. To make sure, however, he had written to Mr. Day to have him verify the story.

TALKS OF THE OREGON SHORT LINE

Manager Bancroft Says There Will Be No Change in Management. Vice President and General Manager Bancroft of the Oregon Short Line, upon his return to Salt Lake City from his New York trip a few days ago, in talking to the Salt Lake Tribune, gave the assurance that although the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line railroads may, through an exchange of stock, come under the control of the same parties, and be more or less one and the same system, no changes whatever will take place in the present mode of operating the two lines separately and distinctly. There will be no change in the management, the offices of the Short Line will remain as they are and where they are. Mr. Bancroft speaks advisedly, after a visit

Omana people have no conception of what the country between Omaba and Chicago is like.

They have made the trip to Chicago time and again, but they have never seen the Mississippi river. They know that such places as Ottumwa, Burlington and Galesburg are "on the map," but they have never yet set eyes on them.

tended some important railroad conference and was time and again in consultation with the directors of both roads.

Speaking of the recent order of the Short Line for more rolling stock, Mr. Bancroft said the matter is in statu quo, owing to the fact that all the manufactories are over crowded with contracts, and that there is little prospect of the order being filled for HEALTH BOARD ADOPTS RADICAL MEANS some time to come. The new locomotives are now under construction and will be ready for delivery probably in February.

Buchanan Out Hunting Wolves.

J. R. Buchanan, general passenger agent of the Elkhorn, has a little time for other matters than the dull routine of railroad business. Just now he is interested in hunts, if not all of them. He pronounces It is suggested that the Burlington's No. a circle field wolf hunt as the greatest of trips and take part in the hunt, and has written to the projectors of the sport for full particulars, dates, etc., after which he to organize his party.

This satisfactory the Elkhorn has renewed the discussion, condition of affairs has been the result of is sure to be built within a short time, and the project is a fruitful field for prognostiderived from the new line. Mr. Bidwell, however, upon his return from the norththere had no connection with the building of any new line, and he specifically mentioned that the road contemplated no new extensions at this time.

It is generally believed that the arrangement arrived at will be share for share on the $27,460,000 of Oregon Short Line stock, with a "string" to the deal in the shape of a small assessment on the Short Line holders. This deal should net the Union Pacific about $1,000,000

Baltimore & Ohio Ordered Sold. BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 27.-Judges Goff and Morris in the United States circuit court here today banded down a decree ordering the sale of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad property under foreclosure proceedings. The petitions are headed the Randolph Savings bank against what appears to be a true copy of half a dozen pages of the Omaha city directory. Suits are brought to recover on three notes and mortgages issued to the Globe Loan and Trust company by George W. Buck, Mary E. Cooper and J. W. Eller and which were subsequently turned over to the bank to secure a promissory note for $4,300, by the trust company. But there are so many conflicting interests engaged in the case growing out of contending claims to the various pieces of property, city and county taxes, etc., that the list of defendants is a voluminous document. Aside from the city and county authorities there are upward of 100 distinct defendants named in the three cases.

Manning Estate Still in Court. The much litigated estate of James Manning was again on the carpet in county court, where Judge Baxter sustained a motion to strike out various affidavits unless they are reverified. Manning died nearly a decade ago and left twenty lots in Florence and about $2,000 in money, which has since been a source of almost continual litigation. Before he died he deeded the real estate to Mary Hay and his grandchildren brought of the organ and proceeded to close it. Mr. suit to have this deed set aside. The result has been three separate trials in the district court, with various appeals to the supreme court, and the lawyers are still fighting. In ruling on this motion Judge Baxter suggesetd that it was about time the parties go: together and settled the case, as it had been occupying the time of the courts about long enough.

Called Before Judge Scott. The regular meeting of the Board of County Commissioners will give place today to the hearing in the Festner mandamus case before Judge Scott. This suit arises from the failure of the board to award the contract for county printing for 1899 to the Festner company. The bids were advertised for as usual, but after they were received all the bidders except the Festner company withdrew their propositions. The one remaining bid was referred to the finance committee, which has not reported. The bidder became impatient and the mandamus resulted. Members of the board assert that the Festner bld is not complete and they are inclined to think that a better can be secured by readvertisement

Quiet Reigns in Court. The usual vacation quietude of the county building is emphasized at present on account of the fact that most of the attorneys are looking after their business in the United States courf at Lincoln. Not only are the court rooms closed and the corridors de-serted, but the filings in district court are exceptionally light, even for the between term period. Judge Fawcett is sitting in chambers in The Bee building to hear any matters that require immediate adjudication, but aside from this the district court in and for Douglas county is practically out of business.

No Fears of the Spread of the Dread Disease Now.

Cases of Disease Reported Have Been in Isolated Localities and Have Been Promptly Quarantined by Officials.

People and merchants who live in the neighborhood of this city seem to have some possibility of contracting smallpox, according to the statements of local busilutely ungrounded-a fact that is indicated by the smallpox record of the last three months: The record for this length of time has been as follows: A total of twenty-seven cases, no deaths, an absolutely perfect quarantine that has effectually confined the disease to the house in which it was discovered in every case but one. That exception occurred at the very first outbreak of the disease in this city before it was diagnosed as smallpox, and when its charac-

In the first place I must give credit to the local newspapers for their very efficient aid and support of the health department. Their publicity of the situation aroused the people to the danger threatening and as a consequence the danger was west, gave it out positively that his visit averted by vaccination and in other ways. This promptness and this publicity may have created the impression abroad that there is a dangerous epidemic in Omaha, but this damage, in my opinion, is fully counterbalanced by the fact that the same promptness and the same pub-

Quarantine All of the Cases.

As has been stated, there has been a total of twenty-seven cases. The first case was found in a family in the far northern part of the city and was brought to Omaha from Nebraska City. Before the nature of the disease was learned it had spread to three | 10c families. All three of the families were quarantined, and although all of the members were down with the disease, it spread no further. There were twelve victims in these families, they all recovered and the quarantine upon them was raised several weeks ago.

A few days later a new outbreak occurred. The new case was also imported. The victim was employed in a large establishment of the city and the disease was communicated by him to three other people living in different parts of the city. of these Two three people the disease others, living again in different parts of Omaha. CHURCH TROUBLES IN COURT Judge Gordon as Referee in an Organ Playing Contest Decides it

The troubles of a mission chapel on Thirteenth and Ohio streets were aired before Judge Gordon when John Mitchell and Mrs Charles Cramer were called upon to answer to the charge of disturbing a religious meeting. Clarence Morris was the complainant and in the trial "Doc" Schwenk was the demonstrator of theological methods of instruction. According to the story told on the stand by Mr. Morris he was conducting a meeting in this chapel on the evening of January 15. Mrs. Cramer, who is superintendent of the Sunday school, objected to playing on the organ on the ground that it was purchased for the exclusive use of the school. Mr. Morris was leading the meeting, which had reached the testimonial part. Mrs. Cramer asked if she could speak and Mr. Morris granted her permission, "if she would speak gently." Mrs. Cramer started to give him a piece of her mind regarding the use Mitchell came to her assistance and demanded that Morris "come down out of the pulpit" and let the congregation choose by vote who should lead it in the path of righteousness. Mr. Morris declined and says he dismissed the meeting to save trouble. In the cross-examination, Mr. Morris stated that he was not an ordained minister, was not a member of any congregation of denomination and had not been hired to conduct the services at the chapel. He had been leading them for the last six weeks simply from the desire for the uplifting of humanity. He was paid nothing for it making his living by outside work. Judge Gordon refused to listen to any further evidence, saying that a police court was no place for church quarrels and if they must have factional fights the best thing they can do is to keep them in their own section. He discharged the defendants The case wherein Mitchell is charged with assault and battery by Morris was continued until February 3, as the complain-ant said he had a couple of witnesses who

REGISTER HIGH SCHOOL BONDS

Indications that Paper of Board of Education Will Sell at a Good Price.

Secretary Gillan of the Board of Education has returned from Lincoln, where he registered the $250,000 High school bonds voted at the last election. The bonds were readily accepted by the state auditor. The work of filing will be completed in a few days and the bonds will be returned again to the school board.

The secretary has sent to press a small pamphlet which will contain an account of all the proceedings that have occurred in connection with the bonds. One of these pamphlets will be sent to all the bondbuyers in the country. Advertisements of the bonds are being inserted in some of the leading financial papers of the country. In a few days, therefore, all preliminaries to the receiving of bids will be completed and the board will have nothing to do but wait until February 20 to find out what the bids will bring forth.

Secretary Gillan is confident that the bonds will be sold readily and at a good premium. He is receiving half a dozen inquiries daily regarding them, and these all indicate that the competition will be keen.

FOUND UPON THE PAVEMENT Serious Injuries Sustained by W. R. Glass While Trying to Catch a Car.

W. R. Glass, 3357 South Nineteenth street, was found lying on the pavement at Sixteenth and Castellar streets Friday morning at 6:30 with his head cut and badly bruised and his knees scraped and blackened. He was picked up and carried into a drug store, where his injuries were ittended prior to his removal home.

It is supposed that Mr. Glass was injured in trying to get off a car, although the onductor does not remember having seen him at all. He thinks it more likely that the man was dragged along the street and injured in trying to get aboard the trailer, in which event neither the motorman nor he might have seen him. The injured man's condition is not critical, but he will suffer from his bruises for some time.

Excellence in any department can be attained only by the labor of a lifetime; it is not to be purchased at a lesser price." You need not tell us who helped build up the largest and most successful clothing and shoe business in the west; we know! and we appreciate it. The laboring men of Omaha-and sister cities have always responded to our announcements and we have always met you on an honest business platform-giving you at all times the bist for the least money, giving you the best assortment, giving you the largest choice, and your money back when you asked it-we make it a laboring man's store. We aim to have everything the laborer may ask for in the way of working cloths-and at the lowest possible price. We are showing an extra quality men's ten-ounce blue denim overalls-double seam -patent buttons-two front and one hip pocket, correctly constructed for 50c-then we have a blue denim with piped seam, gusset seat, jap buttons, two front and one hip pockets, large and roomy at 35c. Good quality men's jumpers at 35c-better grade 45c. Painter's overalls with suspenders attached 30c, men's working shirts 35c, and we are offering you the best double back and double sleeve at 45c that sell all over town at 69c. Men's good servicable working shoes at $1.25. Men's working gloves at 35c and up, and remember we keep open until 6:30 every evening so as to accomodate you on your way home from your workshop, and open Saturday evenings until 10 o'clock.

Our Standing What the great news-of Dr. Shepard and his professional

"The Shepard Medical Institute is entirely reliable in a professional and business way. These physicians have gained and fully maintained a leading reputation in the treatment of chronic diseases."—N. P. FEIL, Business Mgr. Dailly BEE.

What Is The Shepard System? "Dr. Shepard has for six years been conducting the largest medical practice ever known in the history of Nebraska. He has proven himself to be sincere, careful, and consistent in the handling of his patients, and, as is well known, will never accept a case for treatment that he cannot cure. No small part of his popularity lies in the fact that his fee is $5.00 a month including all medicines, which enables the poor as well as the rich to avail themselves of the services of this specialist."—The OMAHA CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, November 6, 1897. The "Home Treatment," by mail, is curing hundreds of patients. Write.
