With this in hand the city would have no difficulty in showing that Police Judge Gor-DISREGARD THE PROTESTS don has practically granted immunity to the disreputable and criminal characters who prey upon the citizens of Omaha and upon strangers to the city.

Solution of the Problem.

much easier way of solving the difficulty, however, lends through the legislature. This is the more practicable owing to the fact that some clause must be inserted in the city charter to provide for the election of a police judge. The section regarding this matter in the present charter has been held unconstitutional by the supreme court and consequently the city finds itself in a position where it cannot secure a successor to Judge Gordon. According to the supreme court Judge Gordon was not re-elected in the last spring election, but is simply holding over under the city election that was held in the fall a year before.

The charter revision committee grappled with the problem and has asked for the insertion of a provision in the charter that will call for the appointment of a police judge by the council. The judge is to be one of the regularly elected justices of the peace for Douglas county, six of whom are elected every two years.

"That is the best way out of the difficulty. Moreover, it will comply with every provision of the law. The constitution requires that the police judge shall be elected and shall hold office two years. Under the charter, which makes an interim of three years between city elections, the police judge could not be chosen at a city election. We cannot make him an appointee of the mayor, as he must be elected. Therefore if one of the justices of the peace is chosen, we will comply with all legal provisions. The police judge will be elected by the people and elected for a term of two years." Gordon Has His Say.

The trial of Acting Police Captain Her formed the leading topic among the habitues of the police court, with Judge Gordon as the central figure. His honor seemed to take the result good-naturedly, remarking that he might have known better than to have filed the charges before the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. In referring to the findings of the board he pointed out that he has been found guilty of having continued several hundred cases and dismissing them, straw bail when not the least evidence was submitted on which to base such findings "The action of the board in permitting City Attorney Connell to force me to sub-

In the former case the city veterinarian frequently detects it and confiscates it; in the latter, the butcher disposes of the meat as quickly as possibleeither in its original form to private consumers or to the cheap chop houses of the city or in the shape of sausage or other form. City Veterinarian Ramacciotti says that there is no way under the present ordinance whereby this practice can be wholly

The axe that has been suspended over the heads of the county employes since the political complexion of the Board of County Commissioners was reversed dropped at the regular meeting yesterday and a number of the men who have been on the pay rolls were summarily divorced from their jobs in resembled those of the present majority. The board agreed on the appointment of an assistant county physician, superintendent and matron of the poor farm and two janitors. The other appointments were referred under the rules on account of the objection of the republican members to their immediate confirmation.

The poor farm job went to William Olmstead over Ostrom's minority vote, and Mrs. Olmstead was elected matron by a unanimous vote. Ostrom explained that since Olmstead had been made superintendent he thought it was proper that his wife should be the matron, and joined the majority on this issue. They will assume control March 1.

Resolutions by Connolly provided that W. R. O'Shaughnessey and Harry P. In each case motions to confirm were side tracked by the objections of the minority and the appointments were referred to the committee on court house and jails.

Coming Into General Use-Electricity the Favorite as a Motive Power.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.-Consul General Gowdy at Paris reports to the State department that there has been a marked increase during the last year in the use of automobiles in the city of Paris, not only as pleasure vehicles, but for practical application as public cabs and for business purposes as delivery wagons. It is announced that soon there will be 100 motor cars driven by electricity running in the streets of Paris, and, if the experiment be successful, the cabs will be increased to 1,000. With this particular project in view a large plot of ground has been secured, where the building of works necessary for the housing of the cabs and machinery for the electric supply are being rapidly completed. The training ground also has been made for the cabmen. This is laid out with every possible form of paving-wood, asphalt, stone, etc .including two steep hills. Here and there are dotted about a number of dummy figures and in and out of these the cabmen have to maneuver under the orders of an instructor As a rule in four lessons the driver is ready to navigate Paris and after ten lessons i considered thoroughly competent. Each cab is supplied with sufficient power to be driven thirty miles at about eight miles an hour. Among these systems of automobiles in Paris there are many using petroleum, which called forth a most pronounced objection from the public by reason, first, of the odor following their passage; second, the noise, and, third, for the passengers, the extraordiffary vibration. A consummation of great value would be a machine which would combine durability, speed and economy without these annoyances and defects.
