Webster Discusses Effect of Denial of Swift Injunction.

LIKELY TO BENEFIT TERMINAL COMPANY

Active Operations in Way of Laying Tracks to Begin as Soon as Litigation is Out of the Way.

Judge Dickinson's denial of the injunction In the suit brought by Swift against the Omaha Bridge and Terminal company was the source of much satisfaction to John R. Webster, general manager of the company. This is particularly so because the case, a few days ago, was in process of settlement, when the plaintiff at the last moment made additional demands which the company would not grant, and it was then determined to fight it out in the courts. Mr. Webster thinks the result in this case will have a beneficial result in deterring others from bringing similar suits to handicap the operations of the company. Two more suits against the company are pending, one of them being similar to that disposed of by Judge Dickinson, and it will be heard in the same court. The Omaha National bank case is in Judge Fawcett's court, and it is not yet known when it will be called up for final hearing.

The final batch of appraisements will be filed with the county judge March 28. These cover property owned by non-residents, and It has required advertisement for sixty days before the appraisement could be made. When these are disposed of the company the sick. will be ready to begin active operations at building, provided obstructive litigation has in the meantime been adjudicated by the courts. It is upon these conditions that hused his hope for being Mr. Webster er. by April 1, and which has induced him to accumulate material on the ground that no more time may be lost when a start is once more made.

"I haven't had time to think about any possible new roads for Omaha," said Mr. Webster, "owing to the annoyance of this litigation. It is true the suits are small ones, but they are irritating, just as mosquitoes affect you. It seems that whenever one attempts to do anything which will be of benefit to the public there is always some one ready to interpose all the objections possible. Some of these men want you to go ahead with your work and wish you success, and will then go into court and try to stop you. The two suits yet remaining unsettled are not specially important in themselves, but they are far-reaching enough to stay all of our work, and we must sit idly by and wait until the courts get ready to act in the matter."

Railroad Men Say that Few People Are Emigrating from the State. One of the most notable evidences of changing conditions in Nebraska for the better is the greatly decreased number of homeseekers leaving the state for other parts of the country. This is more true as applied to immigration to southern points, and the roads which have conducted homeseekers' excursions to the south have reason to appreciate the force of the proposition. is taken by the railroad to mean that residents of Nebraska are more satisfied with offered 80 per cent in new 4 per cent bonds their condition at this time than and 25 per cent in new preferred stock. Officials of railroads with northwestern connections again declare that reports of loss of stock owing to the severe weather this month have been greatly exaggerated. They say this has not been an unusually winter for cattle or sheep on the orthwestern ranges, and that the percent ge of loss will compare favorably with ther years. A Wroming steekman at Union Pacific headquarters confirmed this statement, especially so far as it affected sheep These animals, he said, stood the weathe remarkably well, and the losses were light Nothing but a severe month during March will tend to aggravate the losses of live stock in that section of the country. Embezzlement.

COUPLE OF THOUSAND DOLLARS SHORT

When Taken Into Custody in Iowa the Accused Makes an Attempt Upon His Life, Trying to Sever an Artery.

Thomas H. Cooley, cashier at the local freight office of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolls & Omaha road was arrested Monbezzling several thousand dollars of the road's money while it was in his care.

Cooley was at his desk as usual last Saturing auditors for the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha line dropped in to chack his accounts. He proceeded about his work sued the same course that they follow whenever they check up any station, so no suspicion was entertained among the employes. That night, however, it was reported that there would be a shortage, although it was impossible then and is now to tell just how much it will be. It is not known definitely when Cooley left the city, but it was either Saturday night or Sunday. He was traced to Red Oak, In., by officers placed upon his track by the National Surety company of New York City, which furnished his bond to the railroad company. The sheriff at Red Oak found Cooley and started to arrest him, when a revolver was flashed in his face and a vigorous attempt was made to prevent the arrest. officer overpowered his man, and landed him in The prisoner appeared desperate from worry and evidently concluded to end his life. The sheriff is authority for the statement that Cooley severed an artery in his and made existence as pleasant as possible. His plan was discovered, however, in time to save him. Cooley has been a resident of Omaha for several years. He is about 35 years of age and lived with his wife at 2711 North Twenty-second street. He was a trusted !! employe of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha road several years before he was made eashier, six years ago. He was looked upon as steady and reliable because he had no bad habits, so his sudden disappearance was a surprise. The traveling auditors are at work checking up the office, and the exact shortage will not be known until they have concluded their task. It is estimated now that it will be something over $2,000.

Will Return to Omaha.

Inspector F. B. Lord, who represents the National Surety company, went to Red Oak yesterday evening to see Cooley and learn i. there is any possibility of a settlement. The sheriff was notified to place a man with Cooley and watch him all the set of Cooley and watch him all the time, as he informed a friend that he would kill himself before he would ever go to trial. He has, however, agreed to return to Omaha without the formality of waiting for requisition papers.

Officers Drummy and Mitchell of the local force were put upon the case Sunday afternoon and proceeded to learn who Cooley' associates were. They found that he had spent a great deal of his time in the comany of a courtesan, and it is supposed that considerable of the money went to her also. Monday night they learned that he had gone to Red Oak, Ia., and a telegram was sent to the sheriff there.

Formerly Property of Samuel R. Johnson.

Four hundred shares of Omaha Street Railway company stock sold at the court ouse by Receiver Albert U. Wyman of the Nebraska Fire Insurance company brought as high as 44 cents, which is said to be he highest bid yet made in a sale of this dind. The stock belonged to Samuel R. johnson of California. Gurdon W. Wattle was the purchaser, the total figure being 17,600. The bidding was pretty brisk, start ng in at 35 cents.

The sale arose out of the suit of William G. Madden against the Nebraska Fire Insurance company. Receiver Wyman of the nsurance company got a judgment against te National Bank of Commerce, George W ber, 1893, for $40,594.84, but the bank go dismissal so far as it was concerned Then Wright and Johnson took an appeal, which was still pending. In October, 1894 Mr. Wyman obtained a judgment for $10,-156.50 against Wright and Johnson, from which another appeal was taken. However no supersedeas bond was given. W. B. Millard and W. L. Subsequently a conditional agreement was entered into by which Wright and Johnson agreed to pay $20,000 between December 1896, and February, 1898, and to carry out this agreement they gave their notes se cured by stock in the street railway company amounting to $40,000 and in the Coun cil Bluffs Electric, Gas and Light company to the amount of $30,000, Mr. Wright being heavily interested in the Council corporation. The 400 shares of stock in the street railway company represented Mr. Johnson's interest. The agreement was in the nature of a compromise.

Announcements.

A matinee bill of exceptional merit wil be presented to patrons at today's matinee performance. It includes three sketch acts and four of the best foreign imported acts ever seen in America. The latter acts are those of the four Arbras, gymnasts and equilibrists; three Fortuns Brothers in a omedy bar act; the Dartos, French dancers, and Niven's troupe of performing monkeys. Felix and Barry, the real headliners of the bill, are Americans, who do an act that is a mixture of comedy, acrobatic work and vocalizing. Miss Barry is a charming comedicane, while Mr. Felix is a finished acrobat of the silence and fun order.

This evening will witness the closing performance of "My Friend from India" at Boyd's theater, but this afternoon the company will give a Washington's birthday matinee. The success of this farce is easily understood. The lines are bright and witty, the action replete with comedy and sponthe action replete with comedy and spon-tanelty, the situations govel and co-vulsing and the company talented and artistic.

Imprisoned Guests Protest Against Smallpox Immune Cooking

Their Food.

"To eat or not to eat," is a parody on one of Hamlet's well known remarks that he prisoners held in the Vendome hotel by the smallpox quarantine are considering in soliloguy at present. For another tick lish situation has arisen at the hostelry. The Health department has settled it, the officers say, but not at all to the satisfaction of the prisoners. When the hotel was put under quaran tine the meals for the guests and inmates were cooked by a woman who has since been taken down with the disease, and has been removed to the smallpox hospital. The health officials cast about for a substitute day in Red Oak, Ia., on the charge of em- and finally selected an immune, a woman who had just been discharged from the pest house as having recovered from the disease. The fact that the woman recently day when F. N. Frazer and J. Verne, travel- had the disease has become known to the people in the hotel who have not been afflicted, and these have registered a very vigorous protest. They insist that they are being exposed to the danger of contagion. "Nothing of the kind," says City Physician Spalding, "the woman has fully recovdisinfected. She can no more communicate the disease than if she were an immune of the disease than if she were an immune of from 25c to $1.00. five years' standing. I have explained this to the totel inmates and do not propose to change cooks."

If, however, the prisoners persist in their objections they may be placed in a position whereby they will either have to accept the woman as cook or starve or eat their provisions raw. For another of the officials has expressed himself as follows: "This objection is of the most childish and unreasonable character. If it continues, 1 am in favor of taking away the cook and allowing the people in the hotel to get along as well as they can, for it will be almost an impossibility for the city to get another jail. cook willing to take the job unless excessive wages are paid.
