I expected to receive no less than $300 and had fully decided that if we should receive that amount to send you $100 as a compilmentary. But whether we did right or wrong in yielding to the old gentleman will remain for the future to disclose, but the feet remains that we get only $100 apiece. remain for the future to disclose, but the fact remains that we got only $100 apiece and will not be able to draw on ourselves this time, which we very much regret.

And now, Mr. Cornell, I will enclose a new list of names and ask you to kindly forward me new letters and that these letters must be changed so as to include Mr. Gillan also. I herewith enclose a copy, which probably will be near the point what we need.

You will understand that it will save us

You will understand that it will save us sending many telegrams and with complete authority to act in each and every case we assure you shall not be abused in any extent. Besides this it will keep the companies from looking upon Mr. Gillan with suspicion, he having no direct authority m you leads to asking of many questions, which will be unnecessary.

Trusting that you will fully understand the situation, which we have tried to make plain. Will wait at the Park hotel, New York, for your answer. With kindest regards from Mrs. Palm, Mr. Gillan and myself to yourself and family, also remembrance to the boys in office, I am as ever, very truly, O. W. PALM.

Q. W. PALM. Writing on same date, T. H. Gillan goes over the same ground as the Palm letter, saying among other things: "Mr. Palm thought in such a case where $5,000 was saved by the company that we ought to have had $400, at least $300, as we fully intended to send you a complimentary, but as he is on a heavy expense and I am hardly remunerated for trip and further traveling and hotel bills to pay we are compelled to disappoint you this time, sorry to say. Will cope for better things in the future."

Just a Little Present.

In answer to questions Mr. Cornell said he did not know how Mr. Palm intended to remember him. He thought it was a way Palm had of showing his appreciation. The remembrance might have been in the way of buying a hat, overcoat or sult of clothes, or perhaps furnishing the money for such a present. There would be nothing wrong In receiving such presents from an exam-

After dinner the committee asked Mr. Cornell many questions regarding Palm and such a battle as he little dreamed of. Count Gillan and their connection with the first on your friend, EDWARD WALSH. Gillan and their connection with the insurance business. He said he had made no inquiry as to whether Gillan was an in surance agent. He thought Palm had formerly been an insurance agent, but the business had been transferred to Palm's wife. The examination on this point was of considerable length, and the letter of protest written by Mr. Odell, as published in The Bee, was read in evidence. Mr. Cornell contended in his answers that the fac Mrs. Palm was the recorded agent would not mean that Mr. Palm was inter ested in the insurance business. On this point the following letter was

"Happy is He That Chastens Himself."

Self chastening at one time meant that the body was to be disregarded, despised and even injured. Today it means that it is to be cared for and protected, made "beautiful, entire and clean." To do this, the messenger that visits every part of the body must be able to furnish good material to the organs under his care and supervision.

This messenger is blood, that wonderful life-giver. If you want to protect yourself and want your blood to be quick and active, cleanse it of impurities. Hood's Sarsaparilla does that to perfection, and it is unfailing. Nature seems to have set this remedy apart to make the blood pure.

Dyspepsia - "My husband doctored a long time for dyspepsia with only temporary relief. The first bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla helped and the second cured him. It cured my sick headaches." Mrs. Mary A. Clark, Wilmington, Vt.

Pneumonia — "After an attack of pneumonia my husband did not gain strength until he took Hood's Sarsaparilla. It made a new man of him. Mother had the grip and Hood's restored her strength.' MRS. HENRY O. TAYLOR, New Canaan, Conn.

Rosy Cheeks - "I have good health and rosy cheeks, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilia. It builds me up in the spring and saves doctor's bills." Mary A. Burke, 604 East Clair Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Run Down - " As a great medicine to restore strength I recommend Hood's Sar-saparilla. I take it spring and fall and whenever I feel tired and run down. It re-moved my pimples." ANNETTE MESSERLE, 1240 Atlantic St., 3t. Faul, Minn.

Blindness - "About four years ago my boy lost his sight, after whooping cough. They were bloody and watery for months. As a last resort tried Hood's Sarsaparilla Four bottles brought back his sight and nine cured him completely." Mas. P. RENNER, 79 Walnut St., Buffalo, N. Y.

The auditor was asked if he had ever re ceived insurance policies from companies as special favors from the companies. He said that he had never received any favors of this sort. The following letter was then placed in evidence:

The matter of railroad transportation came nto the examination and the auditor admitted that he had got passes for some of his employes. He was quite sure he had secured a pass for Simpson to make the Copeka trip. He had also got a Union Pacific annual for one of the treasurer ex aminers. Sometimes he had asked for passes that he did not get.

Pages Gone from Letter Book.

The auditor's private letter copybook was produced in evidence and it was found that the pages corresponding with the dates where answers to the various "holdup" letters should be were torn out of the book. The auditor could not explain the absence of these leaves and did not remember that he himself had torn them out. He could not tell what was copied on the missing pages. On cross-examination by E. P. Smith the auditor said that he never had received any money from the insurance examiners except in payment of borrowed money. They had all borrowed from him. R. M. Taylor of Omaha got $20 when he went to Illinois to examine a company and had since paid it back. Others had paid him back borrowed would give him this money he would dismoney, but none had ever given him a miss the crac. The boy was subjected to a 'tip" or "complimentary."

Mr. Palm said in regard to this, after he was quite sure the auditor had received none of it. He acknowledged writing the letter, but said he never at any time intended to give Cornell any money. He did not remember ever offering to give money He had thought of giving Cornell a present This had been talked over with Gillan. He thought a present of some $75 or $100 would be proper in case himself and Gillan did cell in the examinations.

Mr. Palm explained that the letter of introduction did not arrive, but he visited the company anyway and introduced himself. The witness admitted that he had sometimes asked Cornell or Pool for transportation. He thad been given one annual pass. When he may cut some figure in the decision. Paroled Convicts in French Guinna Ordered to Assemble at Maroni -Works a Hardship to the Reformed Element.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 11.-(Correiquire into the boundary question between France and Brazil has just been heard from on the Counani river. The news was more sensational than satisfactory and for some reason the colonial government was doing its utmost to suppress the facts. The correspondent says that both commis ions went out guarded by heavy escorts equally matched. The Frenchmen had the gunboat Jouffroy and fifty Singalese soldiers. and the Brazilians had the gunboat Guarany and an equal number of troops. A collision occurred between these two forces in the interior. There were no details and it was not publicly known whether there had been any bloodshed. The fact that the governor immediately sent reinforcements of 200

roops to the front without waiting to communicate with Paris was thought to indicate that the matter was serious. The French government has issued an order that all liberated convicts now at large in the colony shall be concentrated in Maroni. This indiscriminate and unlooked for action tells most cruelly on many now respectable citizens in Cayenne. Being legally unable to make any distinction between the reformed and the incorrigible cutthroat element which is annually growing larger and becoming a menace to the colony, all have been ruthlessly included in the damnation of Maroni.

According to British Guiana newspapers he authorities there are on the lookout for these prospective immigrants over the border and this is perhaps the cruelest aspect of the affair. If some of the expatriated respectable citizens of Cayenne decide to try their fertunes in the more enlightened British possessions they will be promptly deported back to Cayenne as ascals, to be dealt with according to the French laws.

He admitted that the bank account of the in turance business remained in his name. He considered that what was his was also his wife's. He said that he was now in the insurance business, not having held a commission from the auditor since February 12

A paper containing a list of the examinations made by Palm and also by Palm and Gillan was produced, having been filed with the committee. Mr. Palm admitted that he made out this list two or three days ago He had made the amounts and dates up from memory, not having kept any memoranda. He had made up the list on request of the auditor and had furnished a copy to the other committee. In 1897 he Holds Out on Cornell.

The list made up by Palm showed that he had received $300 from the Hartford Fire company, whereas the letter written on February 1, 1898, from Hartford said "We got $100 apiece from the Hartford Fire."

The committee produced one letter written by Palm asking Cornell to send him a letter of introduction to the Northwestern Mutual at Milwaukee, "introducing me as your representative. You understand, not to exthe "arrangement" mentioned in the letter amine the company, simply making them visit for my own benefit in the future. am going to try the real estate manager to get some of their Lincoln business which is introlled by our enemies."
