Efficiency of the Current in Thuwing Frozen Water Pipes-Government Operation of Telephones in England.

The inroads into the local recepues of steam roads made by interarroan electric liber and the steady growth of the latter in the eastern and middle states have teen mentioned frequently in this column. The subject is of keep interest to transportation companies, as it foreshadows utmistakably a point where the steam railroad might bring lings, or whether one architect shall be a revolution in eristing methods. The marked success of electric lines in meeting ment the wants of near-by communities is not likely to be limited, as at present, to passenger traffic. Many interurism lines are No recent development of electricity has matter street cars has worked a great change in transportation methods so far as passengers are concerned, and that a revolution in the methods of carrying freight and parcels is being hinted at on all sides. Unless one has taken the trouble to look into the matter carefully, however, he would probably so surprised to find the surprised to find what are sometiments.

Now the street railways, with the quarrymen and business men to back them want to have the authority to carry freight. so that they may take up the business of carrying this granite from the quarries to the steam railroad stations. The street railway already runs within a short distance of the quarries, so that only a short spur track would be needed there, but other spur tracks, with sheds and platforms. would probably be needed at the points where the railways connect with the failroads. Incidentally, the railways want authority to build spur tracks to the yards of the factories or other business establishments along their lines and their request has been supported by the local boards of trade. In fact, it was stated that the business men of the district represented by Leominster, North Leominster and Fitchburg wanted freight privileges on the street railways for the last three years or more, largely for the sake of getting their goods to the lines of the Steam roads without teaming. A large paper company is said to be ready to provide five cars of freight a day if the privileges are granted.

ning of regular railroad freight cars on the street railway is one of the plans of the Fitchburg enthusiasts, and their scheme, if followed out generally, would revolutionize the whole system of transportation by rail. The promoters of the Pitchburg & Suburban bill told the committee that a good deal of the granite to be used on the big metropolitan water works dam at Cliston would probably he taken from the Fitchburg quarries. This would mean a number of tons of granite a day for three years and if the rallway company can got freight privileges such as ser, a young man but 20 years aid, an entire it desires it will put on an electric becomes thusiast in electrical work, who connected tive, so the promoters sold the committee. The quarrymen stated that some such scheme was very desirable, since a sufficient number of wagons could not be driven into the quarties to handle the amount of granite required at Clinton. Then again, on to be loaded between the wheels of a wagon or dray could easily be taken care of. Also the adoption of the street car plan for carrying grapite would save the constant grand-

Some accommon has also here accounted wellin the last fortnight to the plan for a new thrus-inile street railway from Waitham through a number of willagen in the Convordand Arice discret, to Pepperell. The dislines and one of the reasons given for granting a courter to the etter railway nen is that the railway, with freight-carrying privileges, would in time solve the problem d gening from farm products into Boston every morning to time for the early marketing without the tedious trip over the road with market wagons. The new road's produce cars could not be brought into Boston under existing conditions because the Boston elevaried railway, which controls the locations. between Waltham and Boston, is not a freight-carrying road, but the projectors of the new line any that even at present their

In the New England states, particularly Massachuseits, the electric lines are seeking relief from the restrictions imposed by law, so that they may carry goods. The growth of the movement is detailed by libs. Boston Transcript as follows:

"Everybody who reads the newspapers nowadays knows that electric operation of the old method of the old method of for tuildings to cost file one."

"Mary, how do you like the Ivory Soap?"

"Best we have ever had, ma'am. The starched clothes are whiter and the flannels are softer than when washed with common soaps. It saves my hands; they used to be very sore after a wash."

"Well, Mary, I am told that it saves the clothes, too, and you shall have only Ivory Soap after this."

Those who have tried both common soap and Ivory Soap, say that it take only two-thirds as much of the lvory for a wash.
