Our light field guns can be moved forward slowly, but it is impossible to so manipulate them as to take advantage of every crest and rise of ground. The only horses available for the cavalry and artillery are the small native ponies.

Agninaldo May Make Last Stand. The interest of today centers in the stand to be made by Aguinaldo with his insurgent forces. There is hope that he will risk a final stand at Malolos. In that event the next forty-eight hours should determine the final issue, as the American forces at Marialno are not more than ten miles from Malolos. Between these places the scattered forces are engaged, the extreme rear of the insurgent troops and the extreme advance of the Americans bearing the brunt While this is going on, fifteen or twenty miles north of Manila, General Otis' dispatches show that the insurgents are again active south of Manila, where Major General Lawton's division is in reserve. General Otis' report shows no concern as to this southern movement, as he remarks that "Lawton will look out for them.

MR. LEWIS' LINE ON CAMPAIGN

McKinley and Roosevelt for Repub-Beans and Bryan and Schley for the Democrats.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 27 .- Congressman lames Hamilton Lewis of Washington passed through Atlanta today on his way home from Havana. Mr. Lewis eavs he believes the republicans will put up McKinley and Rooserelt at the next campaign and the democratic ticket, he thinks, will read "Bryan and Schley." For chairman of the national republican committee Mr. Lewis believes Mark Hanna is slated, while Senator Gorman will fill a like position for the democrats. In explaining his "line-ups," Mr. Lewis sald:

"You will find that the republicans will fact that the anti-trust fight will be particutrusts have been incorporated under the New Jersey law, for which the republican party of that state is responsible, and the line to Hobart is direct, but that is not the choicest of the reasons for looking elsewhere for vice presidential timber. The tepublicans see that there is a wholesale expansion and they assistance of some war here they will be in a bad fix. Naturally, they turn to Roosevelt, who is certainly the best man they could

"Roosevelt would undoubtedly add strength to the ticket," continued Colonel Lewis, "As to the democratic ticket, I figure it out this way: There has been an effort to make it appear that Mr. Gorman has been fighting Bryan in order to get the nomination for himself. He has not had that idea, for he but he is still, and will always be, an active factor in the management of democratic affairs and when the time comes to consider the question of a vice presidential comince he will day: 'We must have a war hero. There is Schley, for whom the people of the ountry have a great love.' The people know that Schley was in the great battle of Saniago and that he was in technical command there. His nomination would tend to unite all democratic elements and I believe if he nominated he would prove a tower of trength. They also believe that Gorman would under those circumstances accept the chairmanship of the national committee."

Details of the Contract. Mr. Swift made his second visit to Washington on June 1, when the contract was jections to the terms of the agreement as knows he could not possibly be nominated, presented to him. One of these objections was to the terms which he thought might require the beef company to deliver beef by lighter, he complaining that the company stood that beef was to be supplied only to the port towns, the inland towns to be furnished with beef killed in the country. They were to keep on hand a sufficient supply for seventy-two hours' consumption. this time to be extended twenty-four hours under special exactions. Mr. Swift continued by saying that refrigerator beef in a torrid country would of the senate, early in the session, a copy keep good longer than an ordinary person of which we submit herewith and as a part would think it good, on account of the outside appearance. As a consequence of his representations the first draft of the contract had been changed by General Eagan in several particulars. Mr. Swift said in reply to a question that the dressed beef export business was growing rapidly at the expense of the exportation of live cattle. There was, he said, a superb demand abroad for the refrigerator beef and in London this beef was supplied to the best trade.

Charles E. Barry, traveling salesman for Swift & Co., followed Mr. Swift. He testified to his participation in the negotiations with General Eagan to secure the army contract. saying he had met the general several times on this subject, the first meeting being in May of last year, before the i suanes the advertisement for bids. He also underod that the seventy-two hour clause applied only to the time the beef was to be kept in the refrigerators on shore.
