(Copyright, 1899, by Press Publishing Co.) MANILA, April 4 .- (New York World Cablegram-Special Telegram.)-General Mac-Arthur made a reconnaissance in force from Malolos this morning. Accompanied by the Montana regiment, the Fourth cavalry and two guns of the Light artillery, he advanced as far as the river to the north of Aguinaldo's capital, striking It at Calumpit, point of considerable strategic importance The place will be held.

The scouts found that a force of abou 1,000 rebels were intrenching themselves for defense across the river and some of the Montana men exchanged shots with the enemy. The rebels were armed with Mauser rifles and two of the Montana men were wounded. There was no attempt at an engagement. After Calumpit had been seized General MacArthur decided to move his entire force north from Malolos, because the water supply there is insufficient for the camp.

In accounting for the firing upon ambulances and hospitals during the campaign It is said now that the Filipinos thought the Red Cross flag was the American battle flag.
