It is seldom that an opportunity presents itself whereby one can buy the best pianos and organs at even a special price, and when one can buy, as you can at this special clearing sale, the best makes, the best and latest design of pianos at wholesale cost prices and less, it is certainly worthy the deepest consideration and investigation by those who need, or will have to buy an instrument within the next few years.

In our announcement of this great clearing sale we made a plain statement of our reasons for making this deep cut in piano prices at this time, but to those who may not have read our announcement we will give entire satisfaction at almost half-price.

We must either close out a great portion of our stock or store it, and to store new pianos is about as injurious as to leave them in the rebuilding dust arising from brick and mortar.

Do you want the best piano made at a price you will never be able to duplicate?

Do you want the good, splendid medium grade piano that will last a lifetime and give entire satisfaction at almost half-price?

Do you want the good, honest plain case piano—the interior of which is first class and thoroughly reliable—at about 50 cents on the dollar?

If you do and will call at our store you will find them all here, all kinds of pianos and all makes in plain figures to close out at less than agents' cost prices.

Elegant Parlor Grand, $700 piano, rosewood case, $365, buys 11.

SETTLING UP ITS BUSINESS

Liquidating Committee of Defunct Joint Traffic Association Adjusting Members' Affairs.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The liquidating committee of the Joint Traffic Association held its first meeting in this city today with the object of settling the affairs of the association. The committee was appointed five months ago as a result of a decision of the United States supreme court adjudging the traffic body a combination in restraint of trade.

At the meeting today a difference of opinion developed regarding the disposition of the assets of the association. Some of the committee held that the organization might be preserved to continue as a bureau where the interested roads could file tariff schedules and the like. This has been done in the past by the Interstate Commerce commission for this purpose alone. Other members of the committee, however, expressed the fear that as the Joint Traffic association had been the special object of attack in the courts its continuance even as a bureau for the registration of tariffs might be construed as evidence of contumacy and disregard of the supreme court's decision.

No decision was reached at today's session and the committee was continued.
