SIXTEENTH STREET VIADUCT

Plans Are Now Being Drawn by City Engineer Department and Engineer Forces of Union Pacific and Burlington.

A new sixteenth street viaduct is at last a certainty. At a conference yesterday afternoon with City Engineer Rosewater and City Attorney Council, President Burt of the Union Pacific announced that his road is ready to build a structure there in the Burlington and the city plans and what City Engineer Rosewater planned some six months ago. President Burt also stated that work on the viaduct would be commenced in the near future, and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Only one point to be considered by the city to the railroads. Instead of being a straight line from Pierce to Leavenworth, as City Engineer Rosewater has desired, the viaduct will be curved in the center, something like the present viaduct. The grade will be a little more than 3 per cent. The grade on the present structure is about 3 1/2 per cent. This concession was made in order to save the expense of the longer supports that would be needed if the viaduct were built on a straight line.

As City Engineer Rosewater has insisted, the new viaduct will be built of stone, steel and iron, and with very little wood. It will be wider than the present structure, room being given for sidewalks on either side of the street car tracks. The total width will be a little over forty-four feet. The walks on either side will be five feet in width. The street car tracks will be about sixteen feet, so that on either side of them there will be a roadway of about nine feet in width.

The roadway will be paved with asphalt, while the sidewalks will be of artificial stone. This was one point that the city officials insisted upon. City Engineer Rosewater is satisfied that the viaduct will be a good substantial structure in every way.

It will be several days before the plans will be completed. The city engineering department and the engineering force of the Burlington and the Union Pacific roads are at work upon them. Inasmuch as the main points in the viaduct have been agreed upon, the rest is a matter of detail and no difficulties are expected to arise. The Burlington will acquire in plans with which the Union Pacific is satisfied.

The cost of the structure will be in the neighborhood of $100,000. It will take some three months to complete it after the work is started.

ROB TAYLOR'S POCKETBOOK

Fred Hein, a Millard Hotel Employee, Is Under Arrest for False Representation.

On the afternoon of April 1 Robert Taylor, a guest at the Millard hotel, lost his pocketbook, containing $20 in cash and a draft issued by the Ida Grove (Ia.) bank for $500. He notified the bank by telegraph and by letter concerning his loss and paid no further attention to it, as he thought the book might have been stolen.

Sunday afternoon an unknown man telegraphed from the Union depot office to the Ida Grove bank asking for the names of the bank's Council Hill correspondents. The message was signed by Robert Taylor and requested that the answer be sent to the Union depot.

Mr. Reed of the Ida Grove bank became suspicious upon receiving the message and notified Acting Chief Donahue, who requested him to hold the answer until 12 o'clock Monday. Meantime Captain Donahue telephoned to the Millard hotel, where he found Mr. Taylor, who said he had not sent any such message.

Detective Savage, who was detailed to watch the telegraph office, waited around patiently until Tuesday night without getting a glimpse of his man. Wednesday morning he went to the Millard hotel, where he asked the employees for a man answering the description given by the telegraph girl, who took the message. He seized up Fred Hein, a dishwasher, as the man and took him down to the depot. The girl identified him as the man who had written the message, and so he was jailed.

Hein was suspected last winter of having robbed a French cook of a sum of money, but the police were unable at that time to make a case against him.

MISS KETTLER'S FORTUNE

Former Omaha Resident Falls Heir to One-Fourth of a Million Dollar Estate.

A former Omaha woman, Miss Adelaide Kettler, has fallen heir to a large fortune in Germany which promises to leave her in opulence the remainder of her days. Miss Kettler, while a resident of this city, was employed in the office of Frank E. Moores when he was clerk of the district court. Her father served several years in the German army. He came to the United States before the civil war and served with distinction in the union army. Miss Kettler has a sister in Lincoln, where she also is very well known. The Chicago Tribune of yesterday had the following to say regarding her good fortune:

"Miss Adelaide Kettler, a young woman employed as an accountant in the office of the Northern Assurance company and living at the Granada hotel, admitted yesterday that she had received word from Germany that she is heir to a quarter of an estate in Germany estimated to be worth nearly $1,000,000. The other heirs are C. U. and J. H. Kettler of Milwaukee and Mrs. J. H. Kettler of Lincoln, Neb. They are Miss Kettler's brothers and sister. The estate in Germany has been in litigation for a number of years and belonged to Miss Kettler's grandfather, who was made a baron by the German emperor. Miss Kettler is 27 years old. The news that the estate is nearly out of litigation has not disturbed her and yesterday she was likely to be present at the house where the money was distributed to the heirs and she would continue in her present position."

All Saints' Parish Meeting. At a parish meeting in All Saints' church Tuesday evening the following wardens and vestry were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Quarter-worship, Mr. Montgomery; junior warden, H. F. Cady; vestrymen, Victor Caldwell, G. W. Clabaugh, M. A. Hall, F. P. Kirshendall, J. S. Knox, A. C. Smith and G. W. Winters.

The following delegates to the annual council were elected: Messrs. Montgomery, Knox and Clement Chase, alternates, Messrs. Caldwell, Smith and Clabaugh. A unanimous vote of thanks was extended to P. A. Ewing, the faithful treasurer of the parish, and to A. K. Tucker, parish clerk, for their valuable services. Adjourned to the next meeting, which is adjourned to the rectory, where light refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed.

Judge Munger Goes Home. Judge Munger of the United States court has returned to his home at Chicago. He will not be here to transact legal business until the latter part of the week. In fact, he does not expect to dispose of much more litigation until the latter part of the week. The judge will then occupy the court room on the second floor, south side of the building, for the first time.

Clarence M. Cohen, the New York sprinter, is at the Hartman hotel. Mr. Cohen has won seventy-three prizes which he has won in open contests, among them being a handsome gold medal given by the New Jersey Athletic club. He has a record of twenty-three seconds for 220 yards and fifty-three seconds for quarter-mile races. He also holds the world's sack record of twenty-one seconds, which he made in New York while suffering from a broken collar bone. Mr. Cohen is a member of the Knickerbocker club of New York City and an enthusiastic athlete. Concerning the club and his racing he said:

"The Knickerbocker club is one of the best equipped organizations in the United States. It has eight bowling alleys, a swimming pool 160 feet square and an excellent race course of eight laps to the mile. Recently it has won the New Jersey club amalgamated under the name 'Knickerbocker club,' which now has 1,800 members. Although 27 years of age, I have kept myself in training constantly by playing golf, jogging on the race track whenever I am on the road and in fact as good a runner today as I did six years ago. I am traveling for a shoe house at present, but expect to be back in Chicago in time for the Decoration day races. I won the prizes I hold in burly races and in jumping, train in the open air entirely, so have to keep my muscles open for a satisfactory track whenever I arrive in a new city. The last time I was here I trained for a couple of days on the track in the ball ground courts."

Personal Paragraphs. Mrs. G. W. McMillan of Salt Lake City is visiting Mrs. P. C. Cleer.

W. Thomas Jefferson of New York is a guest at the Omaha hotel.

H. H. Hake and wife of Grand Island are visiting friends in the city.

E. H. Raymond and wife of Chicago are in the city visiting friends.

M. Allen, a prominent Gothenburg, Neb., citizen, is at the Grand hotel.

Ex-Governor Frank D. Jackson of Des Moines, Ia., is at the Grand hotel.

F. H. Gilchrist, a lumber merchant of Kearney, is a guest at the Millard.

Mrs. D. J. Donahue of North Platte is in the city looking after business interests.

AROUND THE FESTIVE BOARD

Annual Banquet of the First Presbyterian Church is Held.

Most Successful in Church's History

Elegant Repast Served by Charming Young Women Appropriately Governed—Business Affairs Given Due Attention.

Last evening in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church the parishioners held their annual congregational meeting and banquet. The meeting was a business session, presided over by John C. Wharton, and the banquet was presided over by the members of the church were present.

The banquet, being one of the most enjoyable social events of the year, was an elaborate affair and in point of interest took precedence over the meeting, for the reason that an attendance numbering 250 the majority were women prominent in society and church work. The men, although outnumbered, took an active part in making the affair a success by reason of their ability as speakers.

The parlors where the banquet was held were decorated with the stars and stripes and accessories to carry out the idea of the national colors. Huge flags pendant from the ceiling along the walls were gathered in festoons and loops. The many electric globes were covered with fantastic shades of red, white and blue, and all the tables were vases of red and white carnations and roses.

The young women of the church, attractively attired in white aprons, kerchiefs and caps, presided at the tables.

After an hour of fasting and lively conversation the plates were removed preparatory to the initial toast, one and all declared the repast the best, the most appropriate and most successful ever held.

The toastmaster was John C. Wharton, who presided with the customary dignity. The first toast, "Our Church," was responded to by George F. Bidwell. Other toasts and responses were: "Our Ladies," Mrs. L. S. Skinner; "The Society of Christian Endeavor," James H. Adams; "Our Sunday School," Mrs. Lela Wilson. Rev. S. Stein of Lincoln was called on to give a brief address and he chose for a subject, "The Social Side of Church Work."

Business Session. When the business session was called to order John C. Wharton was chosen chairman and the election of trustees was held. There were four nominees, all of whom were elected from expired terms and one due to the resignation of Mr. Baldwin. The trustees selected were: C. E. Yost, J. H. Adams, Thomas Creigh and E. M. Morsman.

The treasurer's report showed the annual receipts to be $5,384.07 and the expenditures $5,691.83.

The treasurer's report of the Ladies' Aid society recorded receipts amounting to $1,252.50 and expenses amounting to $133.75. The Young People's society received during the year $2,475 and paid out $460.84. The Sabbath school received $370.47 and expended a sum $4 in excess of this amount.

As the church lacked just $350 to begin the fiscal year out of debt, that sum was raised by subscription. The women who arranged the banquet and to whom a vote of thanks was given were as follows: Mrs. A. Mesdames Tilden, Allen, Kenward, Offutt, Lindsey, Milroy, Wilhelm, Pennock, Creigh, Luddington, Bidwell, Alfred Kennedy, Howard Keaneley, Jr., Adams, Tibbs and Misses Hanley, Lindsey, Adams, Wilson, Buck.

Paving on M Street. August Paper is preparing to circulate a petition for the paving of M street from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-fifth streets. The paper says 117 feet front on the north side of M street and he hopes to induce the other owners of property on that street to sign a petition asking for the paving of the block. It is thought that there will be no difficulty about securing the signature of the east side of the government building to the petition and if this is done all of the property owners on the north side will be secured. The south side may be more difficult, but Mr. Paper asserts that he will use every endeavor in his power to induce the owners to sign the petition. A good brick pavement is desired and the cost per lot will not amount to much, as such pavement is now laid very cheaply.

Shoemaking Law to Be Rigidly Enforced. Acting under the instructions of Mayor Ennor the police have served notice on all shoemakers in the future the Shoemaking law must be rigidly enforced. The mayor orders that all saloons must now close at midnight and remain closed all day Sunday. Bar screens have been ordered removed on Sunday so that the police may see that the order is obeyed. This new order will, it is understood, take effect at once. For a long time the saloons have closed when trade slackened at night and were open on Sunday, but with the new order of things the closing and opening will be governed by the orders of the chief executive.
