PLANS OF NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Ideas of Architect McDonald Are Transferred to Paper.

SCHOOL TO BE TWO STORIES AND BASEMENT

Location of New Structure to Be Directly South of the Old Building on the High School Campus.

Omaha's new High school building is almost completed on paper. Architect McDonald has very nearly finished the plans of the structure and will be ready to submit them to the Board of Education for approval at the meeting next Monday night. The plans are not worked out in detail, but give an accurate idea of what the finished building will be if they are adopted. In connection with these plans Architect McDonald will also submit to the board an elevation, showing what the High school will be when fully completed. It is settled that the structure which is to be commenced this year is to be but one wing of a much larger building that is to be eventually erected. If the architect's ideas are fully adopted the complete building, the High school will be in the shape of a three-sided hollow square, the fourth and open side being on the west and the space between a court, about 150 feet in length. Wings will extend from the north and the south ends to the west for a distance of 210 feet. The whole pile will be practically three stories in height. The main entrance will be located directly opposite Capitol square, and will be surmounted with a dome, this dome and entrance to be practically the only feature of ornamentation about the structure. This high school is what Omaha people must look forward to for some time, for the structure, when completed, will be one of the wings of the school—that located to the south. It will be somewhere on the Dodge street side of the High school grounds. The exact site is not yet determined, but many members of the board think that the building should be placed in the center. The entrance will be from Dodge street. The front of the wing will stand on the present grade and the ground to the north will be graded to this level, which will be but a little higher than the top of the retaining wall on the south end of the grounds. This will require a cut of some nine feet at the north and rear of the building. It is the intention to slice off the entire top of the hill to the grade of the building when the entire High school is completed.

RABBI SIMON IS INSTALLED

Inducted Into Office as Leader of Congregation of Temple Israel.

LARGE ATTENDANCE OF THE MEMBERS

President Katz Welcomes the New Rabbi and the Ladies Deliver an Interesting Address to the Audience.

Rabbi A. Simon, late of Sacramento, was last night formally installed as the spiritual leader of the congregation of Temple Israel in this city. There was a large attendance of the members of the organization. The music of the evening was a feature, and it was beautiful. There was a bower of potted palms on the platform and the chandeliers were wrapped in smilax and roses. After the customary ritualistic services S. Katz, president of the congregation, made a short address welcoming the rabbi to his new position. He said the officers of the congregation pledged their assistance and support to the rabbi in his work. He assured the congregation that when it voted for the rabbi it promised to give him more than its material support, it is to give its moral support as well and its full encouragement. He said it was necessary for the people to stand together in support of the leader in any cause to triumph and it was especially essential that the members of the congregation stand shoulder to shoulder with the rabbi in the battle for the betterment of mankind. Mr. Katz closed by reading a telegram of congratulation, good wishes and blessing from Dr. Leo M. Franklin of Detroit, formerly rabbi at Temple Israel. Rabbi Simon in his address, formally accepting the trust imposed, said he was profoundly grateful for the kind words of welcome extended him. The hour to him was one of great solemnity and seriousness. "Holy is that moment," said he, "when the rabbi stands before the burning bush of responsibility and sacred is that hour when he stands before God taking the obligation to be true. It is a great responsibility you have placed upon me. I will be with you in your hours of affliction and sorrow, as well as in the hour when the smile of Jehovah is upon you. "The story of the children of Israel led from the darkness of Egypt through the Red sea into the land of Canaan is the story of all history. Everybody has begun in the ignorance of Egypt, passed through the Red sea of trouble, on through the wilderness of disappointment and fought the battle against sin, in hope of reaching the Canaan of a better life. Religion has been the moving spirit of the world. Religion found man at the Red sea of difficulty and commanded him to stand still and see the salvation of God. Religion gave humanity a hope in this world, an ideal in the world to come and bridged the chasm separating man from man. The master creations of today in painting, sculpture, music and thought have been inspired by religion. "Among the great religions in the world at the present time none stand crowned with greater glory than that which we call our own. In the world of history it preached a pure divinity. In a world of slavery it preached freedom. Its teachings, moral and spiritual, have been united and given forth in the greatest book of the world, the bible. Judaism is in harmony with every land where it is practiced. That is why it exists today. Religion is the one. To be religious you must be clean of hand and heart, your thought must harmonize with your deed. "At the conclusion of the services there

Exposition Bond Approved.

The bond by which the Greater America Exposition guarantees to assume all of the obligations of the Transmississippi and International Exposition, with reference to the removal of the building on the Kountze tract and place the grounds in their original condition, has been approved by the owner of the property. This action was taken yesterday and immediately thereafter Secretary Wakefield of the old exposition company drew checks on the dividend recently declared and passing them over to the exhibition stockholders.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A permit has been issued to T. H. O'Neill to erect a two-story frame dwelling at 322 Dodge street, to cost $3,500. The work of beautifying the grounds around the new postoffice building has commenced. The lawn is being sowed and the plants are being set. Lieutenant Colonel T. J. Wint has not yet reported to General Merriam, and the Retiring board is unable to do the business for which it was called. It is not known when the absent member will be here, as no word has been received from him. Captain J. H. Duval, purchasing commissary for the department of the Missouri, has received bids for supplying the department with all kinds of provisions and non-commissioned officers' clothing. The bids will be tabulated and the contracts awarded. Collector Taylor of the customs office has received notice that he has been appointed custodian of the exposition grounds. While he has not received the instructions, he is of the opinion that he will be authorized to sell and transfer the structure of the exposition grounds. The Board of Public Works, at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon, awarded contracts for laying permanent walks during the coming year an opportunity to show their interest in the improvement of the city. George Brown, wanted in Council Bluffs to answer to the charge of "bootlegging," was arrested Thursday by Deputy United States Marshal Homan and lodged in the county jail. Yesterday he was taken before United States Commissioner Anderson and agreed to return to Iowa without waiting for requisition papers. The county commissioners will meet in informal session Monday to hear from property owners who have been overlooked in the work of the assessors. There is quite an extended list of these and after they have been given an opportunity to show cause why they should not contribute their share towards the county government the assessors will proceed. Today is the last day before county regular taxes become delinquent, and the taxpayers are lining up before the cashiers in the office of the county treasurer at a rate that nearly swamps the clerical force. The money is passing over the counter as rapidly as the clerks can make out the receipts, but the lists of some of the heavy taxpayers will probably have to be held over until the rush subsides. The elevator in the Karbach block got on last year and frightened the ground floor man almost out of a year's growth of his beard. A change was being made from steam to electricity in the elevator power. Instead of stopping at the fourth floor when the fever was turned, it shot upward to the top, where it struck with a thump, splintering the woodwork and taking away the breath of the sole occupant. The damage was slight.

IS ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

James B. Lee, Brother of Dr. Lee of Omaha, Shoots Himself at Casper, Wyoming.

Dr. Lee last evening received a dispatch from Casper, Wyo., stating that his brother, James B. Lee, had accidentally killed himself. He was handling a revolver and in some unaccountable manner the weapon was discharged, sending a bullet into his head, just under the right ear. James B. Lee, who was quite well known in Omaha, was 26 years of age and unmarried. He was formerly a partner with his brother and Dr. C. Gunn in the Coney Island ranch, near Casper. He left Omaha twelve years ago to enter the service of the Ogallala Cattle company, at that time the largest cattle raising concern in the world, and of which William A. Paxton was the president. Mr. Lee has for quite a number of years been a stockholder in the company as well as foreman. His remains will arrive in Omaha tomorrow evening and will be accompanied by Dr. Lee to Randolph, N. Y., the family home, where they will be interred.

FAIR WOMEN AND BRAVE MEN

Cadet Officers of the Omaha High School Give Their Third Annual Military Hop.

Cadet officers, past and present, together with many outsiders and other High school students, were present at the military hop given at the Millard hotel last night. The young officers were appeared in the full dress High school cadet uniform, grey jackets and duck trousers, and with the national and school colors hung in profusion, gave to the ball room and parlors a distinctively military air. The gold lace and brass buttons of a number of Omaha guards also contributed to the brightness of the scene. The convalesced ball room was attractively decorated with potted plants and festoons of bunting which obscured the ceiling and walls. The corridors were draped in purple and white, the school colors, and one room, the headquarters of Company Z, was decorated in shades of blue to that aggregation of young women. The music in the ball room was furnished

No Inquest to Be Held.

Ross Rader, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rader, died at his home, Eighteenth and I streets, yesterday from the effects of a bullet fired into his brain with suicidal intent. Coroner Swanson upon learning the facts desired that an inquest was not necessary and turned the remains over to the family. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday from the family residence.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Chief of Police Carroll returned yesterday afternoon from Seward, having in custody S. C. Burlingim, suspected of having conspired in the scheme of selling a certain tract of land belonging to Peter Buller. John Johns, the man who came here and represented himself as Buller, confessed to the police and implicated Burlingim. It was upon the information of Johns that Chief Carroll procured a warrant for Burlingim's arrest. The deal was to sell to innocent parties a tract of land in Seward county owned by Buller. Johns was to introduce himself to South Omaha parties as Buller and negotiate for the sale. In consideration of his part of the work he was to receive half the proceeds which, it was estimated, would amount to about $700. Johns, being innocent appearance, worked his part to a finish, but the purchaser of the land became suspicious and wrote a letter to Chief of Police Carroll asking him to investigate. Investigation proved that the local dealers had been "gold-bricked" by the innocent looking farmer from Millard, and he was given every consideration pending the closing of the case. As soon as Chief Carroll spoke to the real estate man about the matter they became suspicious also and quietly laid a trap for Johns, alias Buller. Upon the representation that the sale was about to be closed and the money paid, Johns returned to South Omaha Wednesday and in the afternoon he was arrested. Immediately following his arrest he confessed the whole deal and stated that he had been induced to represent Buller by S. C. Burlingim of Seward. The old man told such a straight story that papers were made out for the arrest of Burlingim. Notwithstanding the fact that a number of cases were on the call, Judge Balcock took time to arraign both Burlingim and Johns. Both pleaded not guilty and the bond was fixed at $2,500. Burlingim was accompanied by his attorney, Judge George W. Lowley, who refused to talk of the case and stated that he would make his showing when the matter came before the court. As neither defendant could furnish bond they were remanded to jail to await a hearing on May 5. In a conversation later, Burlingim tried to discredit Johns and asserted that the old man was crooked. The police place a great deal of reliance in Johns' statements, and he appears to be repentant and continually asserts that his ignorance has brought all this trouble upon him.

Secures a Big Contract.

George Parks, one of the best known contractors in the city, has secured the contract for the erection of the new Haman plant at St. Joseph. Mr. Parks says that the estimated cost of the buildings is $750,000. Work is to commence at once and will be pushed to completion. It is expected that the new plant will be ready to commence operations by fall. Most of the grading has been completed and Contractor Parks will go to St. Joe in a few days with a large force of men to lay the foundations.
