CRASH AND STRAW There Are CRASH AND STRAW

There are well outlined indications that there are greater things in prospect for you in the way of your summer hat gear than you think of. If you'll keep a close watch on our Fifteenth street window you'll find some wonderful prices in Crash and Straw Hats. The kind you have been paying $1.00 for will show up at 75c, and the ones you find elsewhere at 75c will look up at 45c, and the ones you intended to pay fifty for are here for 25c. One hundred different styles to select from. The combined stocks of the town do not approach the quantity here. We'll be busy Saturday, very busy—come today if you can—if you can't come today come Saturday—but come as early in the day as possible. You know most everybody is coming our way just now and we'll expect you—we'd hate to see you pay two prices for your crash or straw hats—don't intend that you shall if you'll listen to us. You can divide your intentions in two—if you intended to pay two dollars for a good straw hat just bring one dollar—a dollar goes farther this season in the way of hat buying than it has for many a day—you know how we do—when this store gets a good thing you get half—you couldn't expect more. We have't forgotten the little folks by any means. Hats for them just the same—crash and straw—same big difference in the price.

CHARCOAL ABANDONED.

Formerly all refrigerators were charcoal filled, today few use it, the reasons are—it settles—it sifs on the foods—it is porous and absorbs odors, and when full, casts off these odors into the foods. A drugless uses Charcoal to filter with, as it is a great absorbent. An old Charcoal filled refrigerator is disgusting to nostrils at all sensitive. Mineral Wool is the product of stone or slag absolutely incapable of taking in odor. The best non-conductor of heat and cold, will not settle or sift, and is clean. Charcoal costs less, but we can't use it in our work, as HERRICK REFRIGERATORS are made from a sanitary stand point, and are not for cheapness.
