

REBUILDING THE EXPOSITION

Hundreds of Men at Work Upon Buildings and Grounds.

GETTING READY FOR THE OPENING DAY

Flowers, Palms and Tropical Plants Are to Be Features in the Main Court—Additional Electrical Effects.

The grounds of the Greater America Exposition present a busy scene these days and in order that everything may be in readiness for the opening, which has been set for July 1, 325 men are working from early morning until late at night.

Of course people who attended the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition can easily recognize that the buildings and grounds occupied by the Greater America Exposition are the same, yet, nevertheless, some important changes are constantly going on, all of which it is contended will enhance the general beauty of the main court and the bluff tract.

Last year it will be remembered that the open space in the Main Court between the buildings and the lagoon was paved with brick. This year this has been somewhat changed, as at intervals the paving has been torn out and flower beds have been planted. While flowers will be the feature of these beds, in many of them stately palms will rear their heads and around them will be tropical plants, giving this portion of the grounds a decidedly foreign appearance.

Heretofore the semi-circular space at the west side of the viaduct over Sherman avenue has been covered with running vines, but this season, trees, shrubs and flowering plants will take their place. The same general plan will be carried out with reference to the colonnades and on the little plots of green between the main building. Directly north of the Arch of States and between it and the bridge, a large fountain is in course of construction. The fountain will be flanked by flower beds which will contain plants from Cuba and Porto Rico, which it is said are now on the way here.

Over on the bluff tract the handwork of the landscape artist is visible in many places. New and additional flower beds have been planted, new walks have been laid out and trees have been put in some of the vacant spaces.

Under the colonnades, the gravel that furnished the wearing surface last year has been removed and in its stead paving brick have been laid. In some places those which were removed to make room for the flower beds on the main court. If there is one thing more than another that occasions surprise it is the excellent condition of the buildings after the weather of last winter. It was thought they would crack, settle and that the staff would scale off. However, this has not been the case. In some rare instances small sections of the staff came off the buildings and the posts along the lagoon. The patches have been put on and all of the cracks patched up, giving the whole a new appearance. The stately along the lagoon and upon the buildings has been treated to a coat of new white paint. The roofs of all of the buildings have been thoroughly gone over and repaired; the sides of the lagoon have been strengthened by the addition of extra stay rods and wherever a decayed plank has been found it has been taken out and a new one put in its stead. The water and sewer systems have been changed in some particulars, new pipes having been laid to parts of the grounds not reached last year.

The plan of lighting the exposition grounds is being changed. This is the exposition year. Around the lagoon the clusters of incandescents will be used, as will be those upon the main buildings. However, the electricians are at work putting in the wires for thousands of additional incandescents. These will extend around the windows of all the buildings upon the Main Court and up over the figures upon the roofs. In the flower beds and among the palms in yards of small globes, carrying lamps of about five-candle power each will be put in. The same policy will be pursued with reference to lighting the shrubbery at the east end of the lagoon and along the sides of the colonnades.

Midway Furnishes Its Own Light. The lights for the exposition grounds will be furnished by the lighting plant upon the grounds, but those that will be used along the Midway will be furnished by the same plant. The opinion that they can use all the light that the plant there can supply.

On the grounds where the Indian village was located last year a grand stand and race track is in course of construction. The race track will be a half mile stretch, with a cinder path for bicycles and a roadway for horse races, the intention being to put in numerous grandstands and a grandstand. Where the fireworks were exhibited last year workmen are now engaged in excavating for a lake that will be 100x300 feet. On this and under the direction of the exposition will be the bombardment of Santiago. Arrangements have been completed for securing the painting and a number of miniature war vessels. It is said that while fireworks will play an important part in the bombardment, real cannon will be brought into use in the destruction of the city.

The Libby Prison War museum has arrived and is being installed in the old Government building. There are some nine carrels of this exhibit. In the Fine Arts building work has been commenced preparatory to the reception of Tasso's pictures, entitled, "The Life of Christ." There are 500 of them, which in addition to the other pictures, will quite fill the building. Up to this time contracts have been closed for 90,000 square feet of space in the main buildings. There will be no attempt to put exhibits in the Horticulture building, but instead it will be used to represent a winter garden, with show scenes and a display of plants from thousands of points. In addition to this feature there will be rare tropical plants and flowers in the building, with fruits in season in the nooks and corners. The work necessary to place this display is well under way and will be completed in the course of a couple of weeks.

Most of the concessionaires who were here last summer have come back to take a hand in the Greater America Exposition. A dozen or more of them have commenced work on their old buildings, putting them in repair and in many instances enlarging them in order to have room for more and newer attractions than they displayed last season. In order that the public may know just what is being done the exposition management has decided to throw open the gates on Sundays for several weeks, at least, and pass all those who may apply for admission. On these days the gates will be open from 9 in the morning until 6 o'clock at night.

NEBRASKA HOMEOPATHISTS

Annual Meeting to Be Held on Next Wednesday and Thursday in This City.

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Nebraska State Homeopathic Medical society will be held in the parlors of the Her Grand Hotel in this city Wednesday and Thursday of this week. A program of more than usual excellence has been prepared for this occasion, and the committees that have made the preliminary arrangements anticipate one of the most successful sessions in the history of the organization. Assurances from various parts of the state indicate that the attendance will be liberal and every session will be full of discussions that will be of exceptional interest to the profession.

The meeting will open Wednesday afternoon with the reports of the secretary and treasurer, and the appointment of committees and such general business as may come before the organization at that time. This session will also be notable for the annual address of the president, Dr. Julia A. Starr of Lincoln, and a very timely discussion of a gripe from a clinical standpoint, led by Dr. W. H. Hanchett of Omaha, and participated in by a dozen of the leading physicians of the state.

The evening session will be devoted to the bureau of sanitary science, conducted by Dr. Freda M. Lankton of this city, the bureau of obstetrics, conducted by Dr. R. W. Connell, and the bureau of ophthalmology, otology and laryngology, led by Dr. Pierre C. Moriarty.

Dr. D. A. Foote will conduct the bureau of surgery, which will occupy the first part of Thursday forenoon, and this discussion will be followed by the bureau of gynecology, of which Dr. W. A. Humphrey of Plattsmouth is chairman.

The first order in the afternoon will be the election of officers, and this will be followed by the discussion of mental and nervous diseases, led by Dr. A. H. Dorris of Lincoln. The convention will close with the reports of committees, unfinished business and general good of the society.

The committee will hold another meeting Monday evening, May 22, to discuss the details of the banquet arrangements. The following is the program as outlined up to this time: Judge Neville of North Platte will act as toastmaster. The toasts will be as follows: "Nebraska," Governor William A. FRANK LANK KILLS HIMSELF Sharpens a Table Knife to a Razor Edge and Cuts His Throat.

His Death is Instantaneous—Leaves a Wife and Four Children—Was a Member of Workmen of the World.

Disgusted with himself because of drink, Frank Lank, a Bohemian house mover living at 2112 1/2 Franklin street, took a knife yesterday about 10:30 a. m., and severed his windpipe. Death was instantaneous, the blow having been well directed. The deceased leaves a wife and four children. He was a member of the Workmen of the World and carried insurance which will give his wife some means of support.

Lank has had plenty of work to do at all times, but drink was his one bad habit. He could not go very long without having liquor and it is claimed he has been drinking very heavily lately. He has not had any domestic trouble, the neighbors speaking of his home life as having been happy, while his wife says he was always good to her and the children. He must have planned deliberately to take his own life. The weapon which he used was an ordinary table knife. It had been sharpened and ground down until it was as keen as a razor. One blow was all that was required. It severed the windpipe and all the arteries.

Cancer Swanson was notified of the death and the body was removed to his undertaking rooms. He made an examination and came to the conclusion that an inquest would not be necessary, as there was no question concerning the cause of death.
