It is not expected that much other matter will come before the meeting, and no definite action of any sort will be taken unless a majority of the members of the committee is present and whether a sufficient number will be in attendance is problematical.

Ex-Governor Stone of Missouri, who issued the call for the meeting, has received twenty-eight favorable reports. Two of these have been withdrawn and proxies forwarded. This leaves but twenty-six members of the committee as an outside number to be present at the meeting and the democratic leaders are not oversanguine tonight that they will have this number, or even twenty-three, which would constitute a working majority of the committee. If a quorum is secured it is altogether likely, according to Committeeman Gahan of Illinois, that the meeting will be resolved into a formal session of the national committee and some definite action taken.
