Departure of the Admiral and Mrs. Schley for Denver and Salt Lake.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS AT THE DEPOT

Admiral Schley Will, on His Return. May 31, Stop Over in Omaha and Be Entertained by the Royal Arcanum.

The visit of Admiral and Mrs. Schley in Omaha ended yesterday at 4 p. m., when they departed for Denver. From there they will proceed to Salt Lake City and other western points, returning to Omaha May 31. While the time has been almost entirely occupied by a round of receptions and social sycties since they arrived in Omaha last Friday morning, the admiral has apparently enjoyed his experience. He has failed to discover the period of repose that General Manderson invited him to Omaha to enjoy, but he has had a thorough opportunity to understand that appreciation of the gallant service of the navy is as hearty and sincere in the center of the continent as it is on the coast that his fleet protected from possible bombardment and invasion. The demand of the people to meet their hero has been insistent beyond all anticipations, but the admiral has cheerfully given up his time to meet the requirements, and while he is were broken off the safe and an unsuccessgram of handshaking he declares that he will take away from Omaha some of his pleas- door, after which the combination was deantest recollections. "There is such an unmistakable sincerity in everything you western people do," he declared to a caller. "It has been apparent in the evidence of cordial will always have a warm spot in my heart."

It has been a source of disappointment He carried off a pocketbook containing 50 to thousands of people that the beautiful cents. weather that Nebraska usually enjoys at this season has been absent during the Davenport street, was entered by prying admiral's stay. The uncomfortable conditions that prevailed when he arrived continued almost to the time of his departure and the only really delightful day was the the back door open of the butcher shop of one which he spent at Council Bluffs. But Lesser & Richards, 201 North Sixteenth street, the admiral has taken the situation phile- Tuesday night about 10 o'clock. They sent sophically and no one has heard him complain of anything connected with his so-shaken hands with nearly 10,000 people that it had been tampered with. since he stepped off the Burlington train of his arrival he met a large number of callers at the Manderson rseidence and in the afternoon he received the officers of the Department of the Missouri. Saturday he stood in the rotunds of the city hall from 4 to 6 o'clock and shook hands with the people as rapidly as they could be presented to him. In the evening he was entertained by the members of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion at their rooms in the Ramge block. Sunday he attended Trinity cathedral and later dined with Mr. and Mrs. J. N. H. Patrick at Happy Hollow. Monday he was the guest of honor at an enthusiastic reception at the Commercial club; in the afternoon he visited the various offices in the government building, and in the evening he met over 1,000 people as the Omaha club. Tuesday at Council Bluffs he shook hands with at least 3,000 people and early in the evening he met the veterans of the civil war at General Manderson's residence. The box party at Boyd's theater in the evening was the last formal function in which he participated and this morning was devoted to a rest in anticipation of his journey and the new demands on his "right flipper" which promise to materialize in Denver and Sait Lake.

hen Admiral and Mrs. Schley, Gen eral and Mrs. Manderson arrived at the Burlington depot at 4:20 yesterday afternoon they found quite a number of people waiting to see them depart. Among the most prominent were Senator and Mrs. M. L. Hayward, ex-Adjutant General James D. Gage, Captain J. H. Culver and a number of regular army officers. Admiral Schley and Senator Manderson bore handsome bouquets and Commissary Sergeant A. T. Kase. of Miles of the valley in their hands as they were escorted to the latter's private car, attached to the westward bound Burlington train. Admiral Schley was stopped a number of times on the platform by admirers who desired to grasp his hand. He was compelled, owing to the lameness o that member, to decline, although he stopped and exchanged cordial greetings. After the party had entered the car several hundred people gathered around it, while several entered to bid the party Godspeed. The parlor section of the car was filled with flowers which had been sent as a parting reminder of the good will of Omaha citizens. Just as the train was about to start on its westward journey Admiral Schley came out on the rear platform to shake hands with a whitehaired woman who wanted to see her here. Having grasped the hand of one scores of women pressed around and during the next two minutes he shook the hands of all who could reach him, children being given the preference. Farewells were waved by the admiral from the rear platform as the train moved out.

As the train passed the central entranc to the depot the Sixteenth Infantry band struck up "The Stars and Stripes Forever." Off came the admiral's hat with a swing and the boys in blue waved their farewell with that of the admiring throng as the train

Another attempt at safe blowing occurred Tuesday night. The intruders entered the nide store of F. S. Bush, 513 South Thirteenth street, by prying open a back win-They placed a lot of hides on top of he safe to deaden the sound of their work and then drilled two holes in the door to the left of the combination. Powder and a fuse were inserted and the door was forced open by the explosion. It is supposed that this coursed at 3 o'clock, as a report resembling that which would have been made by small powder explosion was heard by the slerk in a neighboring hotel. The operators failed to penetrate the second door, behind which was concealed about $100. It is resumed that they were frightened away by an alarm sounded from the outside, although they must have taken their departure leisurely. As it was raining one took rubber coat and another a coat and vest which happened to be hanging in the office. They left their tools on the floor near the

The tools were stolen from a blacksmith shop on the corner of Fourteenth and Leavenworth streets. They consisted of two heavy hammers and a couple of chisels.

The work differed from that of the men who tried to break the safe in the Omaha News company on Sunday night. REPAIRING PAVED STREETS ity Council Not Yet Clear as Method of Assessing Expense.

The council has approved an estimate of $487.33 submitted by the Barber Asphalt ompany for repairing North Sixteenth street from Izard to Douglas. The money will be paid out of the city funds, although this is not to be taken as any indication that the city council proposes to pay for

The city council has as yet been unable to settle to its satisfaction the matter of assessing the cost of such repairs against pretty thoroughly threshed over, but no sessment is made it naturally follows that This would necessitate the creation of improvement districts and it is over this that the council cannot decide. Some of the members of the council favor the scheme of transforming a paving district into a repair district after the paving is laid. Then they would assess any repairs made in that district against all the property that This, it is said, does not seem lies in it. to be a fair proposition, for it would require a property owner in front of whose prop-erty the paving is good to pay a portion of the cost of repairing the street some blocks away. It would also be hardly just to charge up the cost of any repairs to the property mmediately adjoining, as in many cases this would be a very heavy burden, especially as the adjoining property owner could hardly be held responsible for the condition of the paving. City officials who have figured on the matter assert that if the repairing district scheme appears the most practicable and is adopted it will mean that every lot in each district will be assessed $25 or more a year for repairs. This tax will probably result in a loud protest from the property owners.

Announcements. This afternoon the regular matinee per-commance at the Trocadero will be presented and an exceptionally strong matinee bill it is. Vaudeville's biggest headliners, Filson and Errol, head it and the following behind these bright particular stars is none the less luminous. Filson and Errol are seen in their laughter-producing sketch, "A Tip on the Derby." The work of these people alone commands attention and is alone worth the price of admission. That sterling actor, Carl Smith, remembered for his clever work with the Woodward Stock company last summer, aided by his clever wife and her sister, Lora Lieb, are seen in the comedictia, "The Hypnotist." Johnny Roy's double is seen in Frank Murphy of the team of Murphy and Hall. Fox and Summers are clever Irish character artists. The Van brothers are excellent com edy Instrumentalists and Jimmy McAvoy is a clever parodist.

Tonight at Boyd's opens the four performance engagement of the Bostonians America's foremost operatic organization and it is also the beginning of the end of the season at Boyd's theater. When the last notes of "Robin Hood" shall have died away Saturday night the theater will go into darkness until the opening Woodward Stock company, July 9. until the opening of the opera in which the Bostonians will make their initial bow will be "Rob Roy," an old but always welcome opera. On Friday night and Saturday matinee "The Serenade," a newer and very tuneful opera, will be sung. "Robin Hood," with its tuneful lyrics, will conclude the engagement Saturday night. Helen Bertram is one of th new faces to be seen with the company She is one of the best singers in comi ent to commend her. All the old favorites—
Miss Davis, H. C. Barnabee, W. H. MacDonald, Mr. Broderick, Mr. Lavin and
George Frothingham—are still with the company. It would be well to secure seats early for all of the performances, as the seats are going fast.

Nothing funnier has been seen here in fantry, in command of Major Hendrick and many a day than the travesty on John Lieutenant Dicman, remains to garrison Philip Sousa which Boyle and Graham are presenting at the Creighton Orpheum. Mr Boyle's imitation of the great bandmaster mannerisms is exquisitely absurd and is one of the hits of the show. Edward M Favor and Edith Singlair continue to create great amusement with their skit, "A High Roller." All that they do in this act entirely original with them.
