IN THE DOMAIN OF WOMAN.

SEASONABLE NOVELTIES.

Latest Fads in Jewelry, Laces and Fringe Trimmings. NEW YORK, May 26 -It is very difficult to estimate for how long the revival of the earring will last. Some very thorough-going women have actually had their pretty pink ear lobes pierced or repierced for the sake of a mode that seems only to be a passing fancy, and others have bought little hooks of invisible wire or clasps that pinch the lobe closely and with these for aids have taken generously to the earring movement. Of course all such patent fasteners are liable, while a woman dances or even emphatically nods her head, to shake free from their hold and in consequence there are amazingly few earrings made up of genuine gems. There is no loss in brilliancy or and no woman will dare hold up her head at beauty because the mock pearls, diamonds any summer resort who has not a complete and rubies are employed, and, though older women have to an important extent reassumed their pearl ear studs, the youthful generation has adopted, in all good taste, muslin-clad shoulders, have suddenly discovered that small and delicately shaped as their ears may be, one essential element of beauty is missing when these useful features lack color. A woman with pale ears can be safely set down as one whose heart is hard to reach, while she whose ears are sweetly pink, along the curled rims and downy lobes, is a creature of sympathetic and responsive temperament. More important still, a well colored ear is as becoming as a rosy check, and in consequence many a scrupulous girl, who would scorn to even dust her cheek with powder, thinks it no evil to delicately rouge her ears till they glow with a color as tender as that in quince flowers.

Chin Jewel Drops. Apropos of these small varieties of dress, mention is due some of the gay novelties in service with summer silk, organdles and pattern described on the net. lawns. When they first came out in Paris las autumn, two diamonds of equal light, but different tints, else two pearls, were fastened at either end of a bit of hair with a fine gold chain about four inches long. This chain was tucked and fastened inside a high lace and silk dress collar and then the jewel ends were drawn out to hang and sparkle or glow under the chin.

Now we see La Valliere put to newer uses. The gold chain is finished often as not by cut crystal balls, mock pearls of abnormal sizes or a couple of wee jeweled bees or frogs. The ornament, though employed as in Paris, has more frequently its chain slipped noosewise round the knot of a lace, satin or chiffon jabot four-in-hand, the ends then allowed to hang free in the jabot's

By another method La Valliere also serves as a watch fob. A tiny jeweled watch, hardly larger than a 5-cent piece, is tucked inside the neck of a decollete corsage for balls and dinners, and the little decorated chain, made fast to the ring over the stemwinder, hangs out and answers a corsage

FASHIONABLE BEES.

Frained to Produce Special Brands of Honey.

Honey, and it must be of the newest and most delectable flavor, is claiming just now an unusual amount of attention at the fashionable breakfast table. In fact, its place there is becoming quite as undisputed as that of wines at dinner parties. Men of wealth and leisure are assiduously testing and experimenting with the different brands of honey and wrinkling their brows over the problem of producing what seems to them the most desirable flavor during the coming summer.

For the bee is no longer allowed to pursue his own sweet perigrinations and sip of the nector of flowers wherever he chooses. Honey made in this promiscuous way is much too ordinary and bohemian His actions are restricted and guided by these men of cultivation, who quite enjoy thinking out the busy bee's little difficulties for him. As a result, such honey as never was tasted before is tickling the palates

If it is the white sweet clover flavor that has gained favor with the epicure, he goes systematically to work to produce it; and plants, at his country place, a large plot of ground, perhaps half an acre, with this particular kind of clover. He has it carefully kept from weeds or any other variety of clover that might endeavor to find a footing there. The whole bed is enclosed and roofed with a fine wire netting and the beehives are then placed within the enclosure. From the bee's life, therefore, the spice of variety is plucked, and try as he will, poor fellow, he can produce none other than white sweet clover honey. In flavor it is very delicate and almost white

Yellow sweet clover honey is preferred by others. The flavor is slightly stronger than that made from the white variety and its color is a deep yellow. Then there is the honey that is made from such flowers as thistles and milkweeds; it is most amusing to hear producers of such flavors tell of their tribulations in making these wayward plants grow within their restriction. Some of the wild flower honey is almost black in color and the flavor is certainly very different from what it was in the days when honey was honey, and that fact settled the question. It is almost verging on the indiscreet to mention buckwheat honey nowadays, although it is still acknowledged to

Then she remarked in the most matter-of-fact way that she "supposed the dresses and things could be brought in without any charges," and asked me if I would not do her the favor of looking personally after her baggage. I had had less experience than I have had since, and I was thunderstruck. As soon as I got over the state of rattles into which she had thrown me I managed to say that I was bound very strictly by the law and that I could not oblige her. Well, she was in a huff, though her good breeding caused her to show it simply by a rather cool good morning and at air of having been disabliged by someone who ought to oblige her. Most Practical of All New York's Rich Matrons.

And they are going to still further increase the chances for an early separation by going to live in New York City.

There is nothing like being easily satisfied. Take the case of the two Ohio sisters who exchanged bridegrooms at the altar as an illustration. The moment one of the sisters discovered she was in love with the finance of the other she made a clean breast of the whole matter, and the latter proved herself to be a right girl in the right place. There are sixty-two Christian Endeavor societies connected with the Episcopal churches of this country, and twenty with the churches in England. The average is said to be higher in Australia and Canada. Father Sherman, the Jesuit priest and son
