ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICES. Rev. G. P. Fry Deliver a Patriotic

Sermon to the G. A. R.
The veterans of Abe Lincoln post, Grand Army of the Republic, and women of the Relief corps held their annual memorial services last evening at the Fifth Avenue Melhodist church, which was tastefully draped with the national colors for the occasion. The pastor, Rev. G. P. Fry, took two texts for his sermon to the old soldiers -the first from Solomon's song, iv, 4; the second from Exodus, xv. 3. By the first text he showed that the church is represented in the scriptures as an armory, signifying celed in 4.000 years: He said in part:

The month of roses has come again-the time set apart by the nation when, with songs, with rituals and with discourse, as well as with roses, we commemorate the deeds of the brave and honor their memories by this national service. We honor the courage and self-sacrifice of the men who preserved the country; the men who had courage to face the cannon, the hospital, Successors to Gilbert Bres. AN ELEGANT TOILET LUXURY. Used by people of refinement for over a quarter of a century.

A story of how a federal private is honored even by opponents in battle. The officer had been shot, and when the private rushed to his rescue fifty rifles of the enemy were pointed at him, but the officer in command of the confederates ordered his men to hold their fire. It was a pretty recognition of the courage of the private and was acknowledged by bimself and the officer, who lifted their hats to the enemy

the malarial swamp and all other hardships and dangers of war. And this is the selfsacrifice with which these men went to the

as they retired to shelter. There were those at home who were brave as well as the soldier who went to the front; among them the mothers, and sisters and sweethearts, whose heartaches cannot be portrayed, to say nothing of the harolnes. who followed the camp. A mother who got word of the death of her son in battle immediately offered her only remaining boy for her country's service. In the face of the day have been completed by the several protestations of friends she urged that this son was just as loyal as the other, and that she wished him to go to the front and series of four. Carelessness on the bases shoulder a musket for his country.

> of age only remember with what eagerness the mothers watched for the news from the front. Others cannot even remember the roll of the drum, and some can only remember the farewells. It was four years of ghastliness, of funeral dirges, of grave digging, and of weeping. And so, the children ask: "What was the cause?" The question is easily answered. Royalty's gift to this nation in 1607 brought with it royal blood, but there also came a serpent. In 1620 the Pilgrims arrived as refugees and settled in the north, while the royalists went | Washingto to the south. This serpent they had brought was the serpent of slavery. There has been abundant time for retrospect, and there has been atonement with four years of bloodshed with hundreds of thousands of lives lost, Lincoln said: "A nation half slave and half free cannot live." Great abuses have never melted away under an April sun. The Greek saying, "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad," has ever been true. Pharoah ever flogged the slave in his brick kilns in Egypt without a thought that he would one day come into contact with the wrath of Jehovah as well as the tears of the Hebrew mother. When Jehovah's wrath was kindled he swept safe on the other side.

A Divine Power.

We should recognize a divine power as well as a divine purpose. When Israel dispersed Jehovah blew a blast upon the purple arrayed Assyrians and they were driven the day. The following program will be to their own destruction. Napoleon said God was always on the side of the mighty artillery, but Blucher, following the advice D. C. Franklin; music by Glee club and of the shepherd boy, annihilated his forces choir; remarks by the president and other It was the clergy who taught equality upon members; song, "America;" oration of the the throne of heaven. It was the English day, Emmet Tinley; music by the band; as- barons that wrested the magna charta from sembly at the graves of the unknown dead; King John. Puritan theology built our free song or ode; oration to unknown dead, institutions-free churches, free schools and Judge Strawn of Omaha; closing prayer by a fress press and the liberty of conscience.

It was the finit-loc of the minute men that drove the British soldiers down Bunker Captain Cousins has appointed the follow- hill. It was the growing conviction that ng orderlies for the day from among the human slavery is never separated from huex-members of the Dodge Light Guards: man suffering, it was the armed hosts with Sergeant J. Q. Anderson, Sergeant Paul Van the tramp, tramp across the nation that Order, Private Lane, Private Sackett, all of broke the rebellion, liberated the slave and restored the nation.

God's hand is evident in battle. There are events which are incorrigible by reason, mut wil lever be crushed by force. We olations he hath wrought. Belshazzar was Memorial day will be observed in all the feasting with hi shign captains, lords and doom. Spanish tyranny could hold the rod At the principal schools the children will be addressed by veterans of '61, the following spirit of liberty fro mthe land of the free and the home of the brave finally let loose and shot across the waters fifty miles and struck the chaskles not only from the Cubans, but fro mithose who are sweltering in the eastern seas. By this national service we mean the future defense of the nation and its interests. Future generations will rise up in the face of the enemy who may encroach upon our rights. Patriotism is as essential now as in 1861. The tendency of peace is to exhalt the material God. "How much was he worth?" is the common question when we follow a fellow-citizen to the grave-fifty thousand or ten thousand? Many of our old comrades were worth not a dollar, and they have held their own. We think the vast wealth of the nation in its varied forms, but there is a vaster wealth than that which is noted by the dollar mark -the wealth of manhood and of patriotism.

Adams' Troubles. There is a man named Adams in Anderson. Ind., who seems to have run into a streak of very hard luck of late. Not long ago he was sued by a Mr. Mains for $25,000 for the alienation of Mrs. M's affections and a judgment was recovered against him. Subquently Mr. and Mrs. Mains were divorced. Adams had promised to marry Mrs. Mains after the divorce was secured, but in the meantime a man by the name of Dalton feel a victim to the lady's charms and at-tempted to commit suicide on her account. This had the effect of causing Adams to retract his plighted troth and now Mrs. Mains is suing him for $10,000 for breach of prom-
