CHICAGO EXPERT DETECTIVE TELLS A THING

Notorious Pickpocket Turned Loose Because of His Full-Size World-Herald Editor as Reference.

The most sensational testimony yet drawn out by the Shields libel suit against The Bee is contained in the following deposition taken last week, the essential parts of which are given word for word as elicited by the questions of the attorneys for both plaintiff and defendant.

M. J. Conway, of lawful age, being by me first duly examined, cautioned and solemnly sworn, as hereinafter certified, deposes and says: "I am a Pinkerton detective. Q-How long have you been a Pinkerton detective? A-Since 1894. Q-And have you any specialty? A-Yes, sir. Q-What is it? A-Looking after thieves, pickpockets, diamond thieves, sneaks, hotel sneaks, bank sneaks. Q-And whereabouts do you operate? A-My headquarters is in Chicago. I am sent to San Francisco, New York—all through from New York to San Francisco. Q-Where you in Omaha during the last summer at any time? A-Yes, sir. Q-When? A-I arrived here June 1. Q-I will ask you to state at what you were engaged here? A-I was engaged by the exposition people in company with four other men to protect the grounds from thieves and pickpockets. Q-Town lined with pickpockets. Q-Will you state to me if you found many of that class of people here? A-In Omaha. Q-During the exposition? A-Yes, sir. Q-Can you state how many? A-I could not tell the exact amount—I could find out through the amount, because I made out a report every day and sent it to Chicago, and by looking that up I could tell the exact amount of people I seen and talked with here. Q-Did you see many you knew to be professional thieves? A-Yes, sir. Q-Can you name over any of them? A-Yes, sir. Q-And what their specialties were? A-Yes, sir. The way was George McCandless, professional pickpocket and diamond thief; James Bright, professional pickpocket and diamond thief; Robert Roberts, professional pickpocket and diamond thief; Smithy, professional pickpocket and diamond thief; that is all I know him by—Smithy—the Mexican. I am just picking out all the good ones; Frank Clark, professional pickpocket and diamond thief; Big Bobby Haley; Thomas Costigan; Billy Hill. Well, that will do. Q-Now, what do you mean by professional pickpocket and diamond thief? A-A professional pickpocket and diamond thief. When I say diamond thief I mean a man that can walk up to you in a crowd and take your diamond stud or your shirt front or tie. A pickpocket can pick your pocket on the inside of your vest or coat or hip pocket. Q-Would you see these men that you have named around town often? A-Yes, and I have talked with them. Q-Did you call the attention of any policemen to them? A-No, sir. Q-I will ask you to state what others you saw up there on the grounds? A-I saw a man named Elmer Anderson—a professional Chicago pickpocket. Q-Did you see any one in the Government building? A-Yes, sir. Q-How did you see? A-I saw a man by the name of Lewis—he was known as the Pocatello kid. Q-Did you have any conversation with him? A-Yes. Q-What was that? A-It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and I was making a tour of the life-saving crew at the Government building. I was walking through the Government building in the fisheries department and I noticed this Lewis—I afterwards found his name to be Paul Butler, and I asked him what he was doing in there. He said nothing and I said this is a very hot spot to be in. Q-Where was he? A-In the fisheries department. Q-What was he doing? A-I asked him why he was in there and he said he was not doing anything. I said this is the wrong place for you. I said, you know we do not allow any people like you on the exposition grounds. Why, he says, I belong here. Now I did not know he belonged here. I have seen him all over the country. Q-Where did you see him? A-Outside of Omaha. Q-Yes? A-The first time I seen him was on May 30, Louisville, Ky., 1897, and the next time I saw him was June 11 and 12, 1897, at Charleston, Ill., and the next time I saw him was December, 1897, where I was sent for by the chief of police of San Francisco to go up to the police headquarters and see if I could identify the man, and I went up there and identified him and a man named Russell, who is out there now. Q-What he said to you. A-I told him that he had no business to be in there—that was on account of the kind of business I knew him to be in. He says, I will jump on the car with you and we will ride down to the chief of police. Q-Who did he mean? A-Chief Gallagher. I says, "no, you will jump on no car with me"—because I did not have any business—only in these grounds. He says, "I belong here." I says, "that has got nothing to do with me." He says, "My brother-in-law is the editor of the World-Herald. I says, "that has got nothing to do with me. I am going to look you up or find out the reason why." He says, "you cannot do it." So I took him to the chief of police. Q-Did he state who his brother-in-law was? The name? A-Objected to by counsel for the plaintiff as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and inadmissible. A-He says, "Metcalfe." As we were walking east there I asked him "who is your brother-in-law?" He says, "his name is Metcalfe," so I just took and wrote it down on my cuff so as not to forget it—so just then I see Detectives Dunn and Donahue, so I called them over, and I says, "do you know this fellow?" I said, "do you know anything about him?" I says, he says he belongs here. I says "I know him; he is a professional grafter and I want him locked up." They said, "we will lock him up," and the lockup was just about half a block away and they took him inside and locked him up, and I was done. I was never called to court about it or anything. I was never called by anybody. Q-Do you know whether he was let out or not? A-They told me he was, and I met him next day in front of the Paxton hotel. Q-Did you meet him often after that? A-Yes, sir. Q-Who did he associate with here? A-With some of these parties that I have mentioned here as the best thieves in the country in their line. Q-How was he known—what was his specialty? A-He is a pickpocket. Q-Do you know how long he remained here? A-Well, he remained about, I guess, about three weeks after that. Q-Examination by Mr. Abbott: Q-Where you subpoenaed to come here? A-No, sir. Q-Who asked you to come here? A-Mr. Pinkerton told me to come. Q-To come here and testify? A-Yes, sir. Q-And then you are going right back to Chicago? A-Yes, sir. Q-You just came here to give this testimony? A-Yes, sir. Q-And then you are going right back to Chicago? A-Yes, sir. Q-What was he doing there? A-When I first knew him he was the chief or special agent of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, and had been for years. Q-What do you mean by special agent? A-Doing detective work and looking out for railroad robbers, and protecting the railroad where there was big gatherings in towns. Let us say there was a big gathering in a town in Iowa, he would be there with his men and keep thieves away from the railroad and the depots. Q-How long have you known him in Chicago? A-Oh, I have known him for five or six years. Q-How many men did he have under him? A-I could not tell you. Q-Do you know whether he had any? A-Yes, sir, he must have had. I know he had. Q-He is connected with the Pinkerton agency, isn't he? A-Has he ever been? A-Not to my knowledge. Q-Are you sure of that or do you mean that you do not know? A-Up to date, since I have been with the institution, and since I know him, he never worked a day there. Q-I don't mean in the office. But he is on good terms with Pinkerton, isn't he? A-I presume so. Q-They work together, don't they? A-No, sir, there is nobody works with Pinkerton but himself. Q-What I mean is this—that Pinkerton always renders him aid and he always renders Pinkerton aid? A-Well, that is the same all over the country, in every city. Q-You wanted to come here and tell your story? A-No, sir, I did not want to stop here a minute. Q-It is under protest? A-Yes, sir; I am here under protest. Q-Didn't want to say a word about this? A-No, sir, it was nothing to me. Q-How did you know what you were coming here for? A-I didn't know until I landed right in here. It was bothering me from the time I heard they wanted me to stop off in Omaha, for I thought they were trying to get me here in this exposition again. Q-Did you get acquainted with Tom Dennison when you were here? A-Yes, sir. Q-How did you do that? A-Through friends. Q-Through whom? A-I was introduced to him on the exposition grounds. Q-Who introduced you? A-Showman. Q-What was his name? A-Jordan. Q-Did you get acquainted with Ed Rosewater when you were here? A-No, sir. Q-Do you know him by sight? A-Yes, sir. Q-Ever speak to him? A-Once. Q-When was that? A-I think that was a week after the jubilee. Or two or three days before. I will tell you how I came to meet Rosewater for the first time. The chief of police, or the superintendent of police, Major Linton of Philadelphia, came here with letters of introduction to me. I had met him before, and I met him the first time in the morning at the hotel, and I took him right out to the grounds, and I showed him the show the best I could, and he says, "I have a letter of introduction to Mr. Rosewater." So I had to walk up here and show him. Now, he had to walk in and introduce himself, and I introduced the superintendent of police of Philadelphia, introduced me to Mr.

Rosewater in his office one day, and I never spoke to him from that time to this, nor before. Q-Do you know Dr. Victor Rosewater? A-No, sir. I seen him once or twice, but never have spoken to him. He would not know me from Adam. Q-Was Martin White here at that time? A-Yes, sir. Q-All the time you were here? A-No, sir; he was not here all the time I was here. Q-While you were here were you working with him? A-No, sir. Q-Who was chief—Martin White? A-He was chief of police at the time that I am speaking of. It was around the jubilee—October 12. Q-You were here during the summer, were you not? A-Yes, I was here from June 1 until October 22. Q-When did White come here? A-I don't know what time he came here. I could not tell you the day or the time. Mr. Simeral—I was the 28th. He took charge the 26th of September. Q-You were here then about a month after that? A-Yes, sir. Q-White's Efficiency. Q-Did you have much to do with White? A-I used to see him on an average every night when I would come down from the grounds, and would see him every time he would come in there. Q-Did you see him from the office every time you came down town? A-I used to come down town on an average once or twice a week and would go to see him. Q-Every time you came down town you saw White, didn't you? A-No, sir. Q-Every time you went out on the grounds you saw him? A-No, sir; I did not. Q-I thought you said you did? A-I said I used to see him every time he used to come out; he was out there a very few times. Q-You said every time he came out there to the grounds? A-Yes, sir; he was only out there, to my knowledge, two or three times. Q-How often did you see Dennison? A-I used to see him most every day. Q-Where? A-Down town and out at the grounds. Q-Whereabouts down town did you see him? A-Around Hamilton's. Q-Where is that? A-Over on Douglas street. Q-What kind of a place is it? A-Saloon. Q-Do you know the number of it? A-No, sir. Q-Anything besides saloon there? A-Before my time they told me they used to have a cafe in there; it was not there in my time. Q-Any gambling going on around there? A-No, sir, I never seen any. Q-Any time you were there? A-Yes, sir. Q-What is a thief trainer? A-A thief trainer, to my knowledge, is a man that takes little boys and girls and educates them to what we call boost a house out of stores and pick women's pockets. The cheapest grade of thieves. Q-Did you ever hear Dennison spoken of as a thief trainer? A-No, sir. Q-What do you call a man who makes it a business of being in league with thieves and receiving from them stolen property and hiding it and disposing of it? A-I would call him a fence. Q-Did you ever hear any of these men speaking of Dennison as a fence? A-No, sir. Q-Did you ever hear any of these thieves speaking of Martin White? A-Yes, sir. Q-They all knew him? A-Yes, sir. Q-What was he doing there? A-When I first knew him he was the chief or special agent of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, and had been for years. Q-What do you mean by special agent? A-Doing detective work and looking out for railroad robbers, and protecting the railroad where there was big gatherings in towns. this man Fanning—Moise, and Jack Norton. Q-And what were they supposed to do—these Herdman gang? A-Why, the way that I come to look at it—these people were being robbed on the street cars and on the trains and nobody ever picked up for it. I could have picked up the whole bunch of them in twenty-four hours. Q-And what was this Herdman gang supposed to be doing? A-It looked like they were protecting them people—somebody was protecting them. Re-Cross-Examination by Mr. Abbott. Q-Where are you going to stay when you go out of town? A-I don't know—I may stay over. I stopped at the Millard when I was here before. Q-Well, you are staying here at the expense of The Bee. You are going to have the best there is, ain't you? A-Well, I was going to pay my own expenses, but I was charged it up—because my expenses are paid from last Saturday—not from San Francisco to Chicago—so I will put it all in one bill. WHO'S YOUR GIRL? Here is an opportunity to give her a vacation. The Bee's generous offer to send away the most popular young ladies of Omaha, who earn their own living, has met with more than ordinary interest among the young ladies and their friends. Of course every one wants to go and there are only four that can go, so that the contest is bound to be a sharp one. There are no summer trips that can compare with the four which have been selected. The mountain trips will take them to the heart of the Rockies, the Black Hills trip to the most famous of western springs, while the trip to Chicago and across Lake Michigan to Mackinac island is delightful beyond compare. Then, too, all traveling expenses will be paid, so that it will cost the girls not a cent for an outing, which would no doubt break a hundred dollar bill for those who can afford such luxuries. The first ballot will be counted Monday evening and the results will be published in Tuesday's paper. Boston Store Closed Tuesday. Business rests while we listen to the chimes of memory's bells, and call the roll of sleeping patriots. Back through the gathering mists of years, we see the heroism and self-sacrifice of men who left forest and farm, store and workshop, to guard the liberties of a nation. They stood side by side in the long march, in ravines running with blood—stood guard together in the wild storm, or under the quiet stars, in thicket or morass, down hill-sides and through rivers they plunged, lighted only by the pillars of fire from the guns of foes—holding aloft the stars and stripes until they floated over a united public—the stars undimmed—the stripes untarnished. There are those who went to war in soldiers' clothes and never came home again. Perchance "neath foreign skies, in peace they sleep—Unmarked by stone or flower, their lowly bed, Or, happy, sentry marches keep Their silent watch where loving tears are shed. Some of them fell in the darkest hours of the republic—others in the early dawn of peace, when the morning stars were singing together for joy. But victory or defeat makes no difference to them now. They have all conquered in the final triumph. We owe it to these patriots, living or dead, that the young men of America can devote their unbroken manhood to pursuits of industry. We owe it to them that we enjoy the economy and quietude of the present and anticipated peace. Let this Memorial Day stand as the visible symbol of our national unity, and may the retrospect each year give new impetus to our country's hope and strength.
