

IN SOCIETY'S GAY WHIRL

Many Enjoyable Functions Come with June, the Month of Roses.

BELLES AND SWELLS HAVE A BUSY WEEK

Plans Are Being Concealed for Parties Which Give Promise of Being Unusually Popular During the Coming Summer.

June repleats of an unusually aggressive character seem to be powerless to check the smooth, though pleasantly varied course pursued by Omaha society folks.

Roses which have rendered June such a universal favorite among all classes which go to make up the world's unit seem at times during the past week to have been in imminent danger of losing their delicacy, but those same winds which have handled the blossoms so roughly have also added to the charms of those dainty, blushing belles whose pretty faces and graceful forms add so much to the pleasures of every well furnished ball.

All hall to the many weddings and other pleasurable events which are booked to take place during this festive month.

Although it is an unwritten law it would be hard to find one who is more rigidly and universally obeyed than the following: That after Decoration day parties are de rigueur from now on right through the picnic season. The dear girls are busily putting their heads together and racking their brains to try to devise something out of the ordinary in the picnic line. Needless to add not a little of their precious time is given to the selecting of ravishingly dainty toilettes in which to array their all times bewitching selves for conquest in pastures new and green.

A pretty home wedding of the week was that of Miss Emma Lewis to Mr. Joseph Polcar, both of this city, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The marriage took place at the home of Captain Charles H. Townsend, U. S. A., 227 St. Mary's avenue, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Thomas J. Mackay. The bride, attired in a tailor-made traveling suit of steel gray, was given in marriage by Mr. Charles E. Young as best man. Following the ceremony a collation was served to Mr. and Mrs. Polcar and a few intimate friends by Captain and Mrs. Townsend. The bride and groom left Monday for a trip to Salt Lake City, after which the bride will return to her home in England, where her family reside.

Arrangements are now being made for the packing and shipping of the products ordered. It is estimated that it will take several special trains to carry the product to the Pacific coast, where it will be transferred to ships. Each special train leaves this city for the coast and will be handsomely decorated with flags and banners in order to advertise the packing industry of South Omaha and also the company filling the order. Some of the most important items in this order are 100,000 cans of canned meats, 160,000 pounds of smoked meats, 50,000 pounds of lard, 8,000 two-pound jars of beef extract and 5,000 boxes of Diamond C soap. This is understood to be one of the largest single orders ever placed with one packing house in this city.

Members of the Commercial club are beginning to take an interest in the proposed new High school building and it is more than likely that the matter will be discussed at the next meeting of the club. Those who favor the voting of bonds for the purchase of a site and the erection of a High school building are of the opinion that $1,000 should be voted to erect a commodious and modern structure. A site, centrally located, will cost about twice as much as it would have three years ago on account of the rapid rise in values here. When the High school bond question was up before it was estimated that a suitable site could be secured for about $15,000, but now from $25,000 to $30,000 will be needed to secure ground for the proposed building.
