HOT TIME IN CRESTON TOWN

Place Thoroughly Stirred Up by Series of Revival Meetings.

FEARLESS EVANGELISTS DO GOOD WORK.

Strong Denunciation of Slot Machines, Liquor Selling and Dancing Excites People—Over Six Hundred Converted.

CRESTON, Ia., June 4.—(Special.)—For the last thirty days one of the most remarkable religious awakenings ever known in this part of the country has been in progress.

At first there was little opposition, but when the movement began to assume definite shape and the cry "The slot machines must go," was heard and sung by the great chorus choir it looked as though the strongholds of sin were being shaken.

Then came the sermon on the "Amusements of Society," in which the dance was handled in such vigorous language that while many decided to dance no more.

At that time all the daily papers had reported the meetings favorably, but after the dance sermon one paper charged Williams with being obscene.

One day business was well suspended, but the throngs still continue to come to the tabernacle from ten o'clock until ten.

In the midst of this turmoil all the papers ceased to report the meetings. The pastors immediately began negotiations with The Omaha Bee.

A movement is now on foot to organize a citizens' league for the purification of the city, with the object of abolishing saloons and the sale of liquor.

Over 600 converts have given their names for the various churches, while hundreds profess to have been converted or reconverted and more are coming at every service.

Unlike ordinary revival efforts, this work has seemed to interest everyone, old and young, good and bad.

Dr. J. P. Claybaugh, a leading physician, on being interviewed, said: "I think I can say that Mr. Williams has been a power for good in this city. His sermons are full of Christ from beginning to end.

He came at the right time, and I think I consider that he has done a great and lasting work here."

Mr. Williams has done enemies by his scathing denunciations in the pulpit. If he had known the editor of the Advertiser personally he never would have said what he said.

Mr. Quincy, a well known engineer on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, furthered, after in his praise of the meetings and their leader, asserting that they had been of great value to the community and the railroad men.

As conflicting rumors were rife on the streets concerning the attitude of the pastor toward Mr. Williams, our correspondent interviewed each one separately concerning him.

Rev. Dr. F. Snider, pastor of the Christian church, said: "The meetings under the leadership of Brothers Williams and Alexander are of exceptional merit."

The evangelist addressing an immense audience. This morning the citizens gave a substantial recognition of his services by raising a purse of about $800.

PROTECTION FROM FLOODS

Measures to Be Taken to Prevent Damage Along Missouri Bottoms.

GOVERNMENT AND INDIVIDUALS AT WORK

Large Amount of Work Laid Out to Forewarn of the Recurrence of Destructive Floods Each Recurring Season.

SIoux CITY, June 4.—(Special.)—During their recent visit to Sioux City Congressmen Gamble and Burke of South Dakota held an important conference with Captain J. C. Sanford, engineer in charge of the government improvement work of the upper Missouri.

The purpose was to enlist the aid of the government in the proposed work of protecting a large part of the bottom lands between Sioux City and Yankton from serious damage on account of overflow from the Missouri.

Already there has been something like a concerted movement among the large farm and ranch owners in the vicinity of Vermillion, Meckling and Gavville, S. D., to improve the present.

The government will be asked to construct levees at certain points where at high water the river has the greatest access to the bottom lands.

The great damage which floods have caused to the tracks of the Milwaukee Railway company by overflow of the Missouri at different times within the last few seasons has been an account of the soaking of the roadbed by water standing along the track, and cutting the grade as it was washed by the water.

It is now planned to construct roads running east and west with ample culvert facilities and with ditches alongside the highway so that there may be ready drainage into Clay creek and Vermilion river.

On top of these enterprises of a public character many of the heavy land owners are interesting themselves in private projects to be undertaken in connection therewith.
