After Three Suspects.

A report received this morning says a posse of Lander officers is out after three men suspected of being the three Union Pacific train dynamiters. The stories told by the trainmen indicate that six men were concerned in the holdup and it is possible that the party separated, three making for the Shoshone Indian reof Lander and the others being the three men now being hunted north of Casper.

CASSATT SUCCEEDS THOMSON

Another Man Who Has Risen from Ranks Will Direct Pennsylvania Lines.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9 .- At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania road A. J. Cassatt of this city was elected to succeed the late Frank Thomson. James McCrea of Pittsburg, first vice president of the company, was chosen a member of the board of directors to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Cassatt's election to the presidency. Mr. Cassatt's election to the presidency of the great corporation, with which he ha been connected for so many years, caused surprise in railroad and financial circles, as it had been generally anticipated that First mously of the opinion that the emergency son could best be met by Mr. Cassatt, and previous sessions or in committees were that gentleman, after some hesitation, concluded to accept the responsibility.

Mr. Cassatt, like Mr. Thomson, has been connected with the company since his boyhood and has a thorough knowledge of road, its resources and business. In 1882 he resigned as first vice president of the company, but was subsequently induced to be come a director and since then he has taken a most active interest in the affairs of the company, occupying, in fact, the position of managing director. So that, in view of this fact, Mr. Cassatt is no stranger to the duties that he will be called upon to perform in his new position. Mr. Cassatt is perhaps the hest known railroad man in the country and he will undoubtedly be a leader in trunk

The election to a directorship of James McCrea, who has charge of the lines west of Pitteburg, brings to the board a strong railroad man, to take the place of Mr. Caseatt in that body.

Rails Spread Under Train. The wrecked train was due to leave Kansas City last night at 7:30, but it was nearly 8 o'clock before a start was made. Two miles beyond Grandview, which is a small station thirty miles south of Kansas City, the train was derailed by spreading rails, the track having been damaged by recent severe rains. The smoker, which contained most of the injured, and the chair car immediately following were turned on their sides into a ditch; the Pullman left the track, but remained upright. The engine and combination baggage and mail car remained on the track.

The accident occurred at 9:30 during a heavy downpour of rain. The crew went to work with a will to rescue the passengers and did heroic duty in the pouring rain and darkness. Women and children were first cared for. They were dragged from ting a hole through the roof of the car,

In the smoker, which was well filled, passengers were compelled to crawl cautiously the full length of the car to the rear door to escape. The scene of the wreck was in the woods, and there were no houses near enough to which the injured could be taken. Torches were soon improvised and here and there in the darkress and rain the dim lights fluttered in the hands of their holders, scurrying in every direction to render aid to the unfortunates. For the immediate care of the huet, fires were built alongside the tracks and lent aid to the rescuers and warmth to the rain-soaked injured.

Relief Train Arrives.

The most seriously hurt were cared for in the baggage and mail car and in the Pullman. As soon as possible word of the wreck was sent to Grandview and a relief rain was started out from Kansas City. The train arrived at 3 o'clock a. m. and took back to Kansas City all of the injured. The most seriously hurt were conveyed to St. Joseph's hospital, while those less badly injured went or were assisted to the Savoy hotel.

All morning there had been rumors of wreck, but officials of the railroad steadfastly denied that any one had been seriously injured, and that the total number of hurt would not go above fifteen or twenty, all of whom, they asserted, had re-

Only Two Rounds and in Eleventh Comes Up Too Weak to Make Adequate Defense.

NEW YORK, June 9.-James J. Jeffries, another sturdy young giant, has come out of the west to whip champion pugilists. At the arena of the Coney Island Athletic club tonight be defeated Robert Fitzsimmons, world's champion in two classes-middleweight and heavyweight-in eleven rounds of whirlwind fighting. He came to the ring a rank outsider and left it the acknowledged master of the man he defeated. He was never at any time in serious danger, and after the size-up in the early rounds of the

York a great, awkward, ungainly boy. Today he is the lithe, active, alert trained athlete. The men who prepared him for his fight worked wonders with him. They taught him a nearly perfect defense, improved his foot movement and instructed him in the methods of inflicting punishment. The transition since he appeared last has been little short of miraculous. At 24 he defeated Robert Fitzsimmons, Tom Sharkey and Peter Jackson, and if he cares for himself he will probably be able to successfully defend the title for many years. Pitzsimmons as Good as Ever. The defeated man was just as good as when on the crispy morning in the plains present conditions in Cuba and the pos- of the then peerless Corbett. menced and ended amid scenes of intense excitement. It was all dramatic. The men fought before a crowd of 9,000 persons and stood up in a great beam of blinding white light. It was like a thousand calciums and it showed their great white bodies in strange relief. When the blood came it was an intenser red than usual. There was not a suggestion of interference from the police. Chief Devery occupied a seat at the ringside, but never entered the ring. When it was all over he sent Captain

Kenny in to clear the ring. The contest was pulled off without wrangle and was devoid of the brutal elements that Chief Devery feared. Handling the Crowd. Never was a crowd handled with less friction. It was all perfectly orderly. There was absolutely no confesion attendant upon the assemblage and housing of the big crowd. Several thousand of those provided with tickets came to the beach late in the afternoon and their action relieved the pressure during the earlier hours. There were several routes from the city and all seemed to be well patronized, so that at no time was there a jam at any given point. The rain that fell between the hours of 5 and 7 had a tendency to diminish the crowd of idlers that usually comes to the front on an occasion of that kind. The lateness of the hour at which the contestants were announced to appear kept the crowd from seeking the Coney Island club house very early, and Coney Island, with its merry-go-rounds, Ferris wheels, gilded cafes, jugglers and bespan-gled dancers furnished many amusement and entertainment during the wait. It all made a strange scene. thronged the streets and surged among the stands and stalls of the already thronged cafes. The prospects were never brighter, and the strange devices that make polyglot music never worked harder. Many places where liquid and solid refreshments were dispensed were packed to overflowing and everywhere was the buzz of conversation freighted with fight talk. It was on everybody's lips. Enthusiasts touted their favorities. Here, Fitzsimmons would win in a walk; there, Jeffries was a sure victor. The newsboys shouted late extras that told all about it and fakirs offered the latest pictures of the two giants who were to fight. There was very little betting. There was plenty of money on both sides, but nobody liked the odds. The Jeffries men were getting two for one for their collateral and the Fitzsimmons contingent was loth to give it.

Champions Enter the Ring. The great house filled slowly, and it was after 9 o'clock before the police had to bestir themselves to clear the aisles. The absence of any preliminary contest gave the crowd a fight appetite. They began calling for the performance at 9:30 and at 9:45 were demonstrative.

Jeffries was the first to appear. He came through the main entrance and walked the length of the hall at 9:50 to an accompaniment of cheers, while Fitzsimmons, who was accompanied by his Spartan-like wife, came from the dressing room by a side door. The agreement as to the conditions of clinches and breaks was discussed and settled outside the ring and there was but lit-
