

BOODLE IN BARTLEY CASE

Juror Krella Says He Was Approached and Offered Money.

HIS STATEMENT WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Alleged Jury Fixer is an Omaha Man Whom He Knows by Sight but Cannot Name—Other Court News.

An unexpected sensation developed in the Bartley case yesterday when Fred W. Krella, who was called as a juror, testified that he had been approached by an individual who attempted to interest him in a boodle proposition. Krella declared that the man accosted him and after ascertaining that he was a member of the panel called him to one side and volunteered the information that if he could get on the Bartley jury there would be good money in it. He asserted that he refused to listen to any further talk of that sort and consequently did not ascertain which side of the case his interlocutor pretended to represent.

Krella's statement was made the subject of a critical cross-examination by the attorneys for the bondsmen. In reply to close questioning he said that the man who approached him was of small stature and apparently about thirty-five years old. He wore a small mustache and had brown hair. He knew him by sight, as he had seen him on the streets of Omaha for several years, but he did not know his name or what his business is. He declared that this was all the knowledge of the incident but stuck closely to the few facts he had previously stated.

Judge Fawcett directed the bailiff to escort the juror through the court room and the corridors to the place where he could be found, but the search was fruitless. Krella was sure he would know the man if he saw him again and an effort will be made to discover his identity.

This was the only notable feature of the case during the day that remains of the regular jury panel is rapidly being exhausted and Judge Fawcett will order a special venire. He is occupying the criminal court room in deference to the size of the crowd that the case attracts and expects to complete the jury this week. The examination of jurors by the attorneys for the bondsmen indicates that to clear their clients they propose to rely very largely on the alleged neglect of duty on the part of Governor Holcomb. Every juror who is called to the stand in his willingness to decide for the bondsmen on technicalities and occasionally a tight proposition is encountered. One of them was a juror named Sellner who declared that he would vote to hold the bondsmen even if the state failed to prove that they were on the bond. He asserted that he had gone on some one's bond and had been compelled to settle, and he proposed to see that the same rule worked in other cases. He was excused.

JUROR HAS A STREET CAR PASS

Jury Discharged in Lewis Case Under Peculiar Circumstances.

The jury in the case of Daniel Lewis, who sues the Omaha Street Railway company for $20,000 damages on account of personal injuries, has been discharged owing to inability to agree. The case was given to the jury Thursday morning and it discussed the evidence until 4 o'clock Friday morning without getting anywhere near an agreement. When court opened the jury appeared and assured Judge Scott that an agreement had not been reached. Six members were in favor of giving damages and the other six insisted on a verdict for the defendant.

After hearing the report Judge Scott decided that his permission to bring in a sealed verdict was withdrawn and the jury could prepare to stay out until next week. Then some of the jurors wanted to hear a portion of the evidence read and they were brought back into court in the afternoon for that purpose.

The jury was brought into court again late yesterday afternoon, but with no better report. The foreman stated that they still stood equally divided and that there was no possibility of an agreement. Judge Scott consequently discharged them and the case remains unsettled.

Winter Still Gains

The canvass in the Winter-Shields contest is progressing with fair rapidity and the count of the first seven wards is now complete. The result shows a still greater falling off in Shields' democratic vote and on the face of the figures now tabulated only 57 per cent of his total vote was cast in the democratic column. This estimate includes ballots which were given for Shields and for republican candidates for other offices. The total straight popular and silver republican vote in the seven wards was 1,028.

May Term Ends Quietly

Yesterday was the last day of the May term of court, and all jurors have been discharged, except those who are engaged on the Bartley bond case and the Cholman murder trial. The children of the Winter-Shields contest will continue into the vacation. The last day of the regular term was

An Excellent Combination

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. HOUCK BROTHERS PLACED ON TRIAL

Accused of Changing the Denomination of United States Bills.

The case of the United States against M. D. and V. H. Houck, brothers, neither of whom is much past 19 years of age, has been called for trial before Judge Munger. The young men are accused of changing the denomination of United States bills and then passing them with the intent of defrauding. They operated in Saline, Fillmore and Jefferson counties, this state, where they got rid of quite a sum of the mutilated money. There was another party—a middle-aged man named Kennedy—with them, but he has denied any part in the transaction. The Houck brothers and Kennedy worked in small towns and among the farmers and their plan of operation was to secure bills of low denomination and then with the aid of machinery, figures cut from a 'certainement' and pencils, change the bills a five and tens. Their work was clever, and unless the bills were closely examined they would pass without much question.

Minor Matters in Court

Estelle Green has been designated as administratrix of the estate of Earl A. Green.

The will of Mary A. Claffin has been admitted to probate and Alma M. Claffin has been appointed administratrix.

Anna McGuckin has been appointed administratrix of the estate of the late Daniel S. McGuckin of South Omaha.

Judge Baker has called a special venire of fifty jurors and adjourned the Cholman murder case to Monday morning.

Judge Dickinson has handed down a decision in foreclosure for $1,250 in the case of N. B. Baird against Birdie and E. H. Cochran. Abraham B. Birdie secures a judgment against Baird against John Hallenbeck in a similar action.

H. J. Abrahams has sued Tom Rock to compel the delivery of the deed to a one-half lot at Twenty-fourth and N streets in South Omaha. The plaintiff alleges that he purchased the property for $2,800, and paid $50 down. He tenders the remainder, and asks that Rock be required to carry out his contract.

The final report of the master on the sale of the St. Joseph & Grand Island road, made some weeks ago, has been approved by Judge Sanborn of the United States circuit court and the receivers have been released. The property was bought in by the Union Pacific Railway company.

Deputy United States Marshal Tracy of Sioux City is in town, having brought in Dick Bowen of Onawa, charged with selling liquor to the Omaha and Winnebago Indians. Bowen was indicted by the grand jury at its recent sitting here. The accused declares that he did not sell any liquor to the Indians, but claims that his brother sold some of some of the stuff to the red men. The brother has not been arrested.

Announcements

Manager Cole's promise made at the opening of the Trocadero to furnish nothing but the very best of attractions at his pretty little theater is having its fulfillment and as a result he profits by it. The current week's bill is one of the best ever seen in Omaha. It embraces five distinctive features, each being representative of its line. In an acrobatic way the five Carnivals are the big hit of the show.

Wonderful people can easily be said to be the superiors of any act of the kind ever seen here. Show people are prone to use flattery and complimentary words and expressions to boom an act and oftentimes they give credit where it is not due or earned. In the case of the five Carnivals, the most superlative commendatory word or expression known would not be too strong to boom their act. It is the acme act of acrobatic art. One of the five, a mere girl, turns a double somersault with a twist in the air, a feat as difficult as and as hazardous as the attempt to turn a triple somersault would be. The first one of the five people work and work hard, and perform daring and difficult feats.

An admirable bill of matinee attractions is presented at the Creighton-Orpheum this week. This afternoon the ladies and children will find much to divert them in one of the most interesting bills produced here this summer. The ladies have taken an especial interest in Musical Dale, who plays so sweetly upon the bamboo harp and the soft-toned bells which are arranged according to an idea of his own. The bamboo harp has been the subject of extensive inquiry as to its origin. Some have surmised that it is a new instrument, but the real fact is that it is one of the oldest of musical instruments. It was first introduced to the country at the time of the Spanish Fair by the natives of Java and the Javanese have been playing upon it for several thousand years. This does not detract from its being one of the most fascinating instruments in existence and there is no one between Omaha and Java who can play upon the bamboo harp half so well as Musical Dale. At the children's afternoon will be greatly tickled with the performance of the four O'Learys, who are the most amusing robbots in the world. After a noon and evening performance will afford the last opportunity of seeing Dora and Mabel Swearingin and Lillie Kauble in their excellent specialty.

Increase in Tax Collections of 1899

Some time ago Deputy City Treasurer Peard made out a statement showing the amounts of taxes collected in the month of May for each of several recent years and found a large increase for May of this year. The same increase is found to have taken place in the payment of special taxes for May of this year over the same month in 1898 and 1897. In 1897 the total amount of special taxes collected in May was $11,763.22; in the same month of 1898, $12,652.35, and for May of this year it was $29,174.49. The total collections of regular and special taxes for the first five months of 1897 were $216,400.00; for the same period in 1898, $221,435.54 and for 1899, $253,654.23. This remarkable increase has surprised even those who were looking for a considerable gain.

PARK BOARD IS INTERESTED

Opposed to the Acceptance of Viaduct Agreement Submitted by Roads.

CITY WOULD VIRTUALLY LOSE A STREET

Board Does Not Intend to Pave Boulevard Street—Roads Want to Destroy Building Until the Street is Paved.

Since the submission to the city council of the last proposition in the viaduct matter by the two roads concerned, the Board of Park Commissioners has an interest in the negotiations, and will henceforth exert all the influence it is able to muster against the acceptance of one clause in the proposed agreement, namely, that of postponing the building of a viaduct over Boulevard street until such time as the city shall pave it.

The articles of an agreement between the city and the Union Pacific and Burlington roads, submitted to the council last Tuesday night and referred to a committee by that body, covered not only the sixteenth street viaduct, but all viaducts which the two roads have built or may build jointly. In regard to the one over Boulevard street it was stated that the roads should not be required to build it until the street had been paved on both sides. As the park board does not intend to pave Boulevard street at any time they are naturally opposed to the agreement in its present form. At a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon the following resolution was adopted:

Be It Resolved, That the Board of Park Commissioners objects to the acceptance by the city of Omaha of the proposition recently made to it by the Union Pacific and Burlington roads for the building of viaducts in so far as it postpones the building of the viaduct on the boulevard between Hanscom and Riverview parks until said boulevard is paved; that it is not the intention of the board to pave said boulevard at any time to its full width. Such paving as will be done for several years will probably consist of cinders and gravel; that experience shows that all people avoid the macadamized roads leading into the country and use the dirt roads alongside, except in inclement weather; that the board is at this time preparing specifications for letting the contract of grading said boulevard, and the board will, during the present year, have said boulevard graded and ready for use throughout its entire length excepting as it is delayed by the building of the viaduct, a fund amounting to an average of perhaps $15,000 a year is now set aside for the purpose of improving these roads and the people have been taxed to the limit of their means in the sum of $50,000, the main inducement being that Hanscom and Riverview parks and the valuable territory adjacent to each would be connected by this viaduct at once. The board therefore earnestly and respectfully requests the mayor and city council of Omaha to refuse to permit any terms in the agreement with the several railroad companies whereby the building of this viaduct may be delayed, but, on the contrary, it insists upon terms in any agreement which may be made by which the viaduct will be immediately ordered, so that the work of the railroad companies and of the city can proceed at the same time and the dirt excavated by the city to make a passable roadway may be used to make the approaches to the viaduct without the necessity of twice moving it.

It was agreed by the members of the board that the life of the street connecting Riverview and Hanscom parks and the valuable property adjoining each was concerned. It was therefore decided to serve the mayor and the members of the council with copies of the resolution, not waiting until the next council meeting, but serving them on the individual members, especially those composing the committee on railroads, telegraphs and telephones, which has the agreement under consideration.

The board accepted the bid of Balduff for the use of the pavilion in Hanscom park, which was an offer of $260 for the season. The privilege of putting gondolas on the lake and renting them was granted to Dominick Moretti. Bids were asked for the grading of Boulevard street from Tenth to Thirteenth, according to plans which the park engineer will draw up.
