

TODAY'S THE GREATEST DAY OF THE CLOTHING SALE that has broken all records, created more excitement and made us more solid friends than any sale we ever held. Today, you'll find the biggest bargains in the entire sale of the

STRAUSS, GLASER & CO., WHOLESALE CLOTHING STOCK

This purchase was so large that in spite of the immense trade it has brought, the assortment is still complete. But to stimulate trade to the very highest pitch, we have added a number of our most desirable suits, and placed them all in these four (4) lots for today's sale.

BOSTON OMAHA STORES J.L. BRANDEIS & SONS. 16 & DOUGLAS

$3.98 for Men's $7.50 Suits

This includes men's all wool cassimere suits, nobly Scotch mixture suits, black worsted cutaway suits, and carefully made, and far superior to anything ever offered at such a price.

$3.98 WORTH $7.50

$5.90 for Men's $12 Blue Serge Suits

Your choice of all the men's all wool fast color, blue serge suits and men's black and blue plain cheviot suits, and small plaid cassimere suits that sold up to $12 for

$5.90 WORTH $12.00

$7.90 for Men's $15 All Wool Suits

Men's fancy worsted suits, black and mixed clay worsted suits, neat Scotch and natty tweed fancy cassimere suits, blue serge suits, latest style, finest quality. at

$7.90 WORTH $15.00

$9.98 for Men's $20 Silk Lined Suits

All the very finest and highest priced suits from this purchase, lined with the best grades of silk and satin, in fancy worsteds and imported clay worsteds, English tweeds, etc., equal in every respect to a custom tailor made garment.

$9.98 WORTH $20.00

Boston Store, J. L. Brandeis & Sons, Props

Will sell today an entire New York BANKRUPT STOCK OF MEN'S and LADIES' Neckwear

This is the stock of one of New York's prominent neckwear manufacturers. It is complete and up to date in every detail, comprising all the latest and newest summer neckwear for ladies' and gentlemen.

75c 50c and 25c Men's Silk Neckwear 15c

Your choice of the very finest and highest grade of Men's Silk Neckwear including all the latest shades and colorings—in newest shapes, such as Imperials, Four-in-hands, A scots. Tecks, Puffs, Band Bows and Club String Ties—worth up to 75c for..... 15c

All the men's Washable Neckties in band bows, string ties, tecks and puffs, all at..... 5c

LADIES' NECKWEAR 10c One large bargain square of ladies' high class, summer neckwear, including silk, pique and satin brocade puffs; all colors in silk, satin and pique bows; silk, satin and fancy colored pique stock collars with small bows; plain and fancy string ties; all colors in fancy striped and plaid silk Windsor ties, in fact all the latest things in Ladies' neckwear, worth in the regular way up to 50c, all go at 10c each..... 10c

Men's and boys Straw Hats

50 cases men's and boys' Straw Hats just received from New York Auction, go on sale today at just half price.

Men's and boys' 50c Straw Hats for 25c Your choice of all Men's and Boy's $1.00 Straw Hats for 50c

Boys' and Young Men's Suits from the Strauss-Glaser Wholesale Stock

$2.50 Boys' Suits 85c

Boys' navy blue, embroidered, vestee suits and light and dark cassimere and cheviot double-breasted suits—go at..... 85c

$3 Boy's all Wool Suits at $1.25

Your choice of all the boys' double-breasted and fancy vestee suits in cheviot and cassimere that sold up to $3, go at $1.25—ages 3 to 15 years..... $1.25

$5.00 Boys' Suits at $1.98

All the boys' finest suits in this purchase, including fancy vestee suits, double-breasted suits, all sizes, 3 to 15 years, go at..... $1.98

$6 Young Men's Suits $2.50

All the boys' and young men's long pant suits in wool, cassimere and fancy cheviots—in sizes 13 to 19 years, go at..... $2.50

CHOLLMAN IS A FREE MAN

Jury Refuses to Convince Him for the Murder of John R. Jones.

FRIENDS CONGRATULATE THE YOUNG MAN

He Shakes Hands with the Court, Jury and Lawyers and is Then Accompanied Home by His Parents and Brother.

After hope of securing an agreement in the Chollman murder case had been nearly exhausted the jurors who had been hanging out for nearly forty-eight hours got into the hall-wagon Thursday and agreed to join in a verdict of acquittal. This conclusion was reached just before court opened in the morning and Judge Baker immediately sent for the jury and received the verdict. Chollman was surrounded by his friends and when the verdict that removed him from the shadow of the gallows was read by the clerk they crowded around him and congratulated him on his good fortune.

"Is there anything else against this man?" asked the court of the prosecuting attorney, and on receiving a negative response he discharged the defendant and the jury. Chollman immediately went home, accompanied by his parents and brother. It was a happy family party that hurried down the courthouse steps after shaking hands with the court, the jury and the lawyers. Chollman himself wore a sober expression in spite of his relief from anxiety. He seemed to realize that he had had a lucky escape and his friends declare that he has profited by the lesson taught by the unfortunate result of a night of dissipation.

COURT WILL NOT INTERFERE.

Dickinson Declines to Grant Injunction Asked by Painters' Union.

The injunction case growing out of the controversy between rival local organizations of painters and decorators has been settled by Judge Dickinson, who refused to grant the temporary injunction. This leaves the case to be settled on its merits on the final hearing on the application for a permanent injunction. It is generally believed that this will be the end of the litigation, as it is expected that the issues will be dead by the time the final hearing is reached.

The fight between the two organizations has been exceedingly bitter and a number of personal encounters resulted in considerable police court notoriety, which was a subject of regret to the leaders. It was a question whether unless No. 104 or No. 109 was entitled to be considered the legitimate organization of Omaha painters and for several months there has been a conflict of authority that engendered much bad feeling.

Finally Charles J. Meyers and a number of other leaders in No. 104 applied for an injunction to prevent W. H. Bell and other members of No. 109 from interfering with them in their efforts to secure employment. It was alleged that Bell and his partners had made it their business to prevent members of the other union from obtaining employment by representing that they did not represent organized labor, and that threats of violence had been freely used to accomplish the same end. The case was submitted on affidavits which alleged a number of instances in which personal violence had been used, and these were considered by Judge Dickinson in an able opinion yesterday.

In the course of his remarks Judge Dickinson said that the constitution of Nebraska guarantees a freedom of speech which is broad enough to permit representatives of labor unions to use any manner of persuasion that does not extend to violence. Such organizations cannot be enjoined from proceeding in an orderly way to induce recognition of what they consider their rights, but when they proceed to violence they go beyond the limit that the law allows. The court held that in this case there was no evidence of any intention to use violence that would authorize an injunction. If assaults had been committed, the unions had their remedy in the courts without resort to injunction proceedings.

Cleaning Up the Dockets.

Judge Hering spent part of yesterday in going over the docket with Deputy County Attorney Grossman in order that defendants in criminal cases who have not been tried during the May term might have their bonds renewed until the next term. Notices had been sent to a long list of defendants, but scarcely half a dozen of them were in court. In a number of cases the bonds were declared forfeited, and in others action was deferred in the expectation that the new bond would be furnished.

Damage Suit Against Armour.

The value of his lungs and one rib is assessed by Peter Holt of South Omaha $1,000 in a suit that he has filed against Armour & Co. Holt represents that in November, 1898, he was employed by the company to assist in the placing of two large iron tank cars in one corner of the hog-killing department. He was directed to hold a guy rope by which one of the tanks was kept steady while it was being moved into position. The supporting platform broke and Holt was thrown against a railroad tank and injured.

Minor Matters in Court.

Bertha Frank has filed a suit for divorce from Louis Frank.

Judge Dickinson has adjourned his session of the equity court until Monday afternoon. He left yesterday for his home at Tekamah and an incidental visit to the scene of the cyclone at Herman.

Rio Grande River Very High.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 16.—The Daily Light's advices from Laredo, on the border between Mexico and Texas, say the Rio Grande river is the highest in forty years on account of the excessive rains. All kinds of debris, including houses, cattle and sheep, is coming down the river. Part of the great tramway bridge at Eagle Pass floated by last night. The great sheep raising industry has suffered greatly by the drowning of many flocks.

Holdout Militia in Readiness.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 16.—Colonel Williams of the First Kentucky State Guards has received instructions from the adjutant general, in view of the serious aspect in Harlan county, to have the companies of the Middleboro, Barbourville, Williamsburg, Winchester and Somerset companies make requisition at once for complete camp and field equipments.

OMAHA HELPS THE STRICKEN

Rapidly Raising a Fund to Re-Establish Business in Herman.

PLENTIFUL SUPPLIES ALREADY RECEIVED

Farmers from the Surrounding Country Bring in Loads of Food—Steps Taken to Open the Stores.

Secretary Utt of the Omaha Commercial club has just returned from Herman, the cyclone-wrecked town, where he on Thursday placed $1,000 with the local relief committee for distribution among the needy. The money is still coming in from the commercial club relief fund very freely and probably tonight another remittance will be made.

"The desolation at Herman," said Mr. Utt, "cannot be described in words. The business portion of the city simply does not exist any more. The store buildings are not only blown down, but are split up into kindling wood. A whole board can scarcely be found. How these people are ever going to start up in business again is pretty hard to make out. Herman was a very prosperous little town, with a rich country all around it, and some of the merchants had large stocks. One man, a harness dealer, had a stock worth $4,000. Today he isn't worth a cent. Practically nothing of the goods in the stores has been saved. One implement house saved a few pieces of machinery, and there is one grocery that came out in good enough shape to open up again. Otherwise there is no business at all."

"One of the most striking things about the affair is the way in which the people of the surrounding towns and the farmers in the country near by are taking care of the people. The people of Blair have simply gone up in a body and are nursing and feeding the unfortunate. They go back and forth between Blair and Herman in box cars, to Herman in the morning and back home late at night. And the farmers from round about have flocked in by the dozen, bringing supplies of every kind. There is a row of wagons all around the town, driven in by the neighbors, who brought in food. There will be no lack of supplies."

Ill-Advised Contributions.

"Some of the contributions, while made in a spirit of helpfulness and kindness, were ill-advised. For instance, a lot of hats and shoes were sent in, but very few of them could be used on account of the great number of mitts. For that reason money can be used to better advantage than supplies and can be made to do more good than the same amount invested in articles selected at random, without any special knowledge of the circumstances."

"Since the immediate need for food has been relieved, it is probable that a large part of the money will be devoted to straightening out the business affairs of the town and getting some of the most needed business houses re-established. This will be a hard enough task, even with all the help that is given. A few tents have been put up and some business can be carried on in them for a few days."

"There has not been as much progress in the work of clearing things up as those who have not seen the place probably suppose should have been made. The first day after the storm the people all sat around doing nothing and not knowing what they might be doing. They were utterly dazed. Families sat by the ruins of their homes and simply looked vanquished at them all the time. It was the suddenness of the catastrophe that took their senses away. Had the storm come an hour later it is certain that the loss of life would have been enormous, as the

MONOPOLY NOT A GOOD THING

Influence of Tariff and Competition on the Price of Sugar.

RIVAL OF SUGAR TRUST ON THE STAND

Free Cuban Sugar Would Wipe Out the American Cane and Beet Sugar Industries in Five Years.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The industrial commission began its session today by the examination of James H. Post of Brooklyn, a representative of the Millenhauer Sugar company, and the National Sugar company of New York. Mr. Post, referring to a list of sugar prices covering the last nine years, showed that the margin between raw and refined sugar had fluctuated with the revision of the tariff and the entrance of competing companies in the field. The standard price of refined sugar, he said, was fixed daily by the American Sugar Refining company, and as a rule these prices were followed by the independent refiners. Mr. Post said that as a general proposition, he thought the American Sugar Refining company had influenced conditions for the good of the country.

Everyone Seems Anxious to Give Something Toward Their Relief.

The fund for the relief of the Herman sufferers is increasing rapidly, the thousands who visited the scene having been so impressed by the enormity of the devastation and the destruction of the once prosperous people that they have subscribed liberally or else have related their stories to friends who were more able to give. Each person seems to want to give something, so that the fund is growing steadily. The benefit of the Trocadero Thursday afternoon was well attended and a neat sum was realized. There was no expense, the actors composing the bill this week cheerfully tendering their services, while the employees gave their time and Manager Cole tendered the free use of the Trocadero for the occasion.

Aid for Stricken Herman.

Supreme President F. F. Ross desires that all members of the order and their friends who can contribute clothing, food and money for the destitute at Herman deliver such articles to Fraternity Union of America hall, third floor, Paxton block, Parson street elevator, any time during the day and the same will be properly taken care of and distributed.

Four young ladies, who earn their own living, will take vacations at The Bee's expense. Help your friends by saving coupons.

MONOPOLY NOT A GOOD THING

Influence of Tariff and Competition on the Price of Sugar.

RIVAL OF SUGAR TRUST ON THE STAND

Free Cuban Sugar Would Wipe Out the American Cane and Beet Sugar Industries in Five Years.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The industrial commission began its session today by the examination of James H. Post of Brooklyn, a representative of the Millenhauer Sugar company, and the National Sugar company of New York. Mr. Post, referring to a list of sugar prices covering the last nine years, showed that the margin between raw and refined sugar had fluctuated with the revision of the tariff and the entrance of competing companies in the field. The standard price of refined sugar, he said, was fixed daily by the American Sugar Refining company, and as a rule these prices were followed by the independent refiners. Mr. Post said that as a general proposition, he thought the American Sugar Refining company had influenced conditions for the good of the country.

Everyone Seems Anxious to Give Something Toward Their Relief.

The fund for the relief of the Herman sufferers is increasing rapidly, the thousands who visited the scene having been so impressed by the enormity of the devastation and the destruction of the once prosperous people that they have subscribed liberally or else have related their stories to friends who were more able to give. Each person seems to want to give something, so that the fund is growing steadily. The benefit of the Trocadero Thursday afternoon was well attended and a neat sum was realized. There was no expense, the actors composing the bill this week cheerfully tendering their services, while the employees gave their time and Manager Cole tendered the free use of the Trocadero for the occasion.

Aid for Stricken Herman.

Supreme President F. F. Ross desires that all members of the order and their friends who can contribute clothing, food and money for the destitute at Herman deliver such articles to Fraternity Union of America hall, third floor, Paxton block, Parson street elevator, any time during the day and the same will be properly taken care of and distributed.

Four young ladies, who earn their own living, will take vacations at The Bee's expense. Help your friends by saving coupons.

MONOPOLY NOT A GOOD THING

Influence of Tariff and Competition on the Price of Sugar.

RIVAL OF SUGAR TRUST ON THE STAND

Free Cuban Sugar Would Wipe Out the American Cane and Beet Sugar Industries in Five Years.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The industrial commission began its session today by the examination of James H. Post of Brooklyn, a representative of the Millenhauer Sugar company, and the National Sugar company of New York. Mr. Post, referring to a list of sugar prices covering the last nine years, showed that the margin between raw and refined sugar had fluctuated with the revision of the tariff and the entrance of competing companies in the field. The standard price of refined sugar, he said, was fixed daily by the American Sugar Refining company, and as a rule these prices were followed by the independent refiners. Mr. Post said that as a general proposition, he thought the American Sugar Refining company had influenced conditions for the good of the country.

Everyone Seems Anxious to Give Something Toward Their Relief.

The fund for the relief of the Herman sufferers is increasing rapidly, the thousands who visited the scene having been so impressed by the enormity of the devastation and the destruction of the once prosperous people that they have subscribed liberally or else have related their stories to friends who were more able to give. Each person seems to want to give something, so that the fund is growing steadily. The benefit of the Trocadero Thursday afternoon was well attended and a neat sum was realized. There was no expense, the actors composing the bill this week cheerfully tendering their services, while the employees gave their time and Manager Cole tendered the free use of the Trocadero for the occasion.

Aid for Stricken Herman.

Supreme President F. F. Ross desires that all members of the order and their friends who can contribute clothing, food and money for the destitute at Herman deliver such articles to Fraternity Union of America hall, third floor, Paxton block, Parson street elevator, any time during the day and the same will be properly taken care of and distributed.

Four young ladies, who earn their own living, will take vacations at The Bee's expense. Help your friends by saving coupons.

MONOPOLY NOT A GOOD THING

Influence of Tariff and Competition on the Price of Sugar.

RIVAL OF SUGAR TRUST ON THE STAND

Free Cuban Sugar Would Wipe Out the American Cane and Beet Sugar Industries in Five Years.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The industrial commission began its session today by the examination of James H. Post of Brooklyn, a representative of the Millenhauer Sugar company, and the National Sugar company of New York. Mr. Post, referring to a list of sugar prices covering the last nine years, showed that the margin between raw and refined sugar had fluctuated with the revision of the tariff and the entrance of competing companies in the field. The standard price of refined sugar, he said, was fixed daily by the American Sugar Refining company, and as a rule these prices were followed by the independent refiners. Mr. Post said that as a general proposition, he thought the American Sugar Refining company had influenced conditions for the good of the country.

Everyone Seems Anxious to Give Something Toward Their Relief.

The fund for the relief of the Herman sufferers is increasing rapidly, the thousands who visited the scene having been so impressed by the enormity of the devastation and the destruction of the once prosperous people that they have subscribed liberally or else have related their stories to friends who were more able to give. Each person seems to want to give something, so that the fund is growing steadily. The benefit of the Trocadero Thursday afternoon was well attended and a neat sum was realized. There was no expense, the actors composing the bill this week cheerfully tendering their services, while the employees gave their time and Manager Cole tendered the free use of the Trocadero for the occasion.

Aid for Stricken Herman.

Supreme President F. F. Ross desires that all members of the order and their friends who can contribute clothing, food and money for the destitute at Herman deliver such articles to Fraternity Union of America hall, third floor, Paxton block, Parson street elevator, any time during the day and the same will be properly taken care of and distributed.

Four young ladies, who earn their own living, will take vacations at The Bee's expense. Help your friends by saving coupons.

Disfigured By Skin Scalp and Blood Humors and Loss of Hair. It is the condition of thousands... Londonerry Lithia Water.

Uncontaminated by the chemist's hand. Londonerry Lithia Water. It is a natural spring water. For table use it has no equal. Sold everywhere. Both still and sparkling.