General Joubert's force it appears, will consist of 20,000 men armed with Mauser rifles, in addition to forty-six quick-firing guns and 1,000 artillerymen most of them drawn from the German Dutch armies. With these troops and help expected from the Orange Free State, Joubert expects to take the offensive immediately after the declaration of war, enter the Orange Free State and march on Kimberley. divisions of Cape Colony. Simultaneously, it is added, the railroad from Capetown to Bulawayo will be destroyed by Boer sympathizers and agents in Cape Colony, who will destroy the Port Elizabeth Pretoria line south of Bloemfontein, to prevent British troops from using it.

Finally, immediately after Kimberley is captured, General Joubert will advance on Capetown, the capital of Cape Colony, through the western provinces where the Dutch predominate and are expected to join the Boers. Joubert calculates that he will be master of Capetown a fortnight after the declaration of war and that he will then be able to dictate terms of peace.

FIRST TO USE MOVABLE TYPE. Originated the Practice of Making It of Metal.

Corea was the first of all peoples to originate movable metal type, relates Harper's Magazine. For hundreds of years the country and the king had been under the domina-tion of the Buddhist priesthood and the land was suffering the extremes of sacerdotalism. Every third son must by law become a monk in other words, an unproductive member of society; the killing of a cow was a as printed. At the same time I sent with this an explanatory letter explaining to The people's houses were being selzed for the The people's houses were being seized for the Admiral Schley that the letter of denial erection of worse than useless monasteries, was a denial of the dialogue as it appeared At last the general Yi Ta-jo, whom a dotard king had sent upon the insane mission of invading China, turned to his soldiers and said: "Shall we return to the capital and apply curselves to the cleansing of the unspeakable corruption of our country?" was applauded to the echo and, like Julius Caesar, but with better purpose, he recrossed the Yalu, Corea's Rubicon, marched back upon the capital and scaled the death warrant of sacerdotalism. No sooner had the new dynasty been founded in 1492 than literature received a new impetus through the revival of Confucianism and the study of the ancient classics. The monasteries, which had become the repositories of the scholarship of the land, were fifled with the unintelligible jargon of buddhism, and literature was almost wholly confined to its ritual. But now schools were being established, books were being demanded and students were calling impatiently for the time-honored classics. Thus it was that in the reign of King T'ajong a fount of metal type was cast, the first the world had ever seen. The art of of the Fairmount Park Transportation com- xylography had existed for centuries and clay type had also been used in Japan, but Corea after holding up the revelver and five other was the first to discern the need of the employes of the railway, blew open the safe, more permanent and durable form of metal securing $4,000, the company's receipts for type, and so well did it carry out its plan that the type then cast has come down Frank Leavan, receiver, Frank Watson to the present day practically unimpaired and Henry B. Strange Tug of War.

At the lodging camp of Mesars. Brady & Earl, on Turkly Creek, Fla., a hog commenced squealing and the balance of the hogs began railying around a small pond behind the camp. Mr. Earl, hearing the noise, ran down to see what was the maiter, and seeing a hog under water, jumped in and caught the hog by the leg and started for the bank, but instead of going to the bank he was pulled the other way, calling for assistance. Taking hold of hands they all pulled together and it was soon evident that a monstrous alligator had the hog. When they got his head out of water he objected to going any further and commenced to drag them back. They see-sawed there some time, nip and tuck. The men would pull the hog and alligator toward the bank and then the alligator would pull the hog and alligator men back again. They succeeded in getting him partly out of the water, when Mr. Earl called for an axe, but they brought him a pole, and giving his hod on the hog to some one else, he came down on the alligator's head, who, turning loose the hog, plunged into his hole.

Colored Candidates Stumped. The grading of papers from the recent examinations of colored candidates for certificates to teach schools at Henderson, Ky., developed that many of them were weak on questions in the branch of civil government—and some of them humorously so. Following are a few questions and answers in point:

Q.—What is a bill of rights? A.—A bill of rights is a bill that has been passed and been enforced by the people to abide by the laws therein, to the expense of the com-

Q.—What are the principal duties of the secretary of war? A.—To keep a record of all that goes on of interest, write out and read all the laws that are executed and a great many other things that would befall -What are the qualifications of a state tor? A.—The senator's office is one of senator? A.—The senator's office is one of the highest office in the state of Kentucky —chosen for life.

Q.—State the sources of the school fund and trace the channels through which the teachers' money passes. A.—The trachers' money passes through the state and county superintendents.

Business in Chicago.

Some Chicago men carry on at the same time two or more different lines of business. Sometimes these combinations are laughable. Over the door of a store in Wells street, relates the Tribune, is a sign which announces "Wholesale Popcorn and School of Magic." In the window of an office in Madison street is an anouncement that within are to be had "Books on Love and Poultry Raising." A South Side humorist has a placard in his basement windown which reads: "Lunches Put Up and Carpets Put Down." Business in Chicago.

to disguise himself and when he perceived Coming, Week of June 25that he was discovered he turned and ran with the officer in hot pursuit. The suspect is a tall, lean man and he tried strategy. Between two buildings on the opposite side tiste of the street there was a passageway wide enough to allow him to slip through, too parrow to admit the broader figure of the officer. Through this opening the suspect The policeman dashed around hind the building and before the crowd had time to follow, the suspect again appeared on the street, having run around the other side, but the officer was close on his trail.

Then ensued a footrace up the middle of the street and when the policeman observed that he could not gain he drew his pistol and fired a shot into the air. The suspect didn't check his speed, and so another shot was fired, this time so low that the runner could hear the bullet whiz past his ears. It had the desired effect. The man stopped and was arrested.

The name he gave at the station is Jacob Schwartz. The offense he is said to have mimitted is the larceny of a valuable watch and $10 from a North Platte man named ea Henry Potter, who came to see the sights of the exposition and fell into Schwartz' com pany. Potter says that his newly found friend got him intoxi ated and escorting him to a dark place beneath the Douglas street

When a man falls headlong from a roof, we think only of the hazardons character of his employment. It does not occur to us that thousands of men at sea or on land are hourly climbing to dizzy heights without a fear and without a fall, and that the real danger is not in the employment but in the weakening of the nerves and giving way of the muscles. That danger is just as great to the man on the sidewalk or in the office as to the man on the roof. When the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased the blood becomes impoverished, and nerves and muscles grow weak for lack of nutrition. More fatal diseases probably begin with "weak stomach" than with any other cause. The first symptom of disordered stomach calls for prompt use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a vegetable medi-cine, absolutely non-alcoholic and nonnarcotic, and is unequaled for the strength it gives to blood, nerves and muscles,

"I became
all 'run down,'
nerves and stomach were out of nerves and stom-ach were out of order. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for a dvice. He said I had gen-eral debility, and ad-vised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Dis-covery, and thanks covery, and, thanks to you for your ad-vice, I used six bot-tles, and since I stop-ped taking it about tics; and since I stopped taking it about one year ago, I have not taken any medicine of any kind, and have been able to work every day. My appetite is good, I can eat three square meals a day, and I do not feel that miserable burning in the stomach after eating. I think I am now well."
