NEW RECORD FOR THE MILE

Eddie McDuffee Covers the Distance in 1:31 2-5, Paced by His Motor Machine.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 29.—Eddie McDuffee made a new world's record for the mile at the Buttonwood cycle track this afternoon. His time was 1:31 2-5 for the distance, beating Major Taylor's previous record by two-fifths of a second. The quarter was done in 0:21 3-5, the half in 0:43 and the three-quarters in 1:07 3-5. All three of these are also new world's records. McDuffee was paced by his motor machine.

The fifteen-mile paced race between McDuffee and Joe Downey was with motor machines and both worked perfectly. McDuffee rode a beautiful race and gradually gained on his opponent from the start.

At the end of the twelfth mile he was three laps in the lead. On the third lap of the twelfth mile McDuffee allowed the front wheel of his machine to touch the rear wheel of his motor and was given a bad toss. He was badly bruised and his wheel was broken. To escape a collision Downey's machine ran off the track and was disabled. Downey finished the distance paced by a single wheel and was declared the winner. Downey's time for the distance was 30:55 1-5.

No Object in Secrecy.

LONDON, June 29.—The yachting authorities are criticising Sir Thomas Lipton's attempts to maintain secrecy regarding the building of the Shamrock. The Yachtsman says:

"The absurd air of mystery is maintained to the last, though the cup defender was racing Defender when Shamrock was put in the water. It is difficult for the ordinary mind to grasp the object of this extreme solicitude to guard the secrets of her design. Even if a highly satisfactory photograph could be obtained there is hardly time for the Herreschoffs to build a new vessel, as no doubt they would like to do."

In conclusion the article alludes to the "fictitious enthusiasm attending the building of Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht."

HARVARD MEN ARE HAPPY

Crimson Oarsmen Enjoy Novelty of Viewing the Yale Backs.

ELI'S SONS DISTANCED IN THREE RACES

Cambridge Boys Lead the 'Varsity by Three Lengths in 20:52 in a Hot Neck-and-Neck Race.

condescendingly lowered its stroke to 33. At the two-mile flag the Cambridge boat was fairly flying through the water, its oarsmen apparently growing stronger. Yale was rowing well and improved in the next half mile, but for every notch of fine work that Yale cut out, Harvard gouged out two and at the two-and-a-half-mile flag it was Harvard's advantage by three clean lengths.

Yale, with its traditions and pluck, put in some gruelling work and undertook to fight bravely the fate which now seemed certain. The race had gone too far, however, and Harvard having in mind the previous thrashings which it has suffered at Yale's hands in former years, proceeded to make a walkaway of it, and at the three-mile flag the race partook of all the elements of a procession. Harvard had stolen two more lengths from the Yale boat and was gliding gracefully along with Yale five lengths to the rear. Down the long lane of fantastically decorated yachts gathered at and about the finish the Harvard eight swung jauntily, steadily pulling away from Yale.

Boats Swarm Around the Finish.

Reaching for the finish flags the tide caught the Harvard shell and swerved it woefully. The little coxswain had his head about him, however, and with great skill worked his way back into line and down toward the judges' boat. Here was witnessed wretched policing, many small boats hovering about the course. It lost Harvard a fraction of a length, perhaps, but Yale, struggling along gamely, had a similar experience and the disadvantages were even.

Harvard crossed the finish line in a whirlwind, rowing beautifully, six and a half lengths to the good. Yale finished in fairly good shape, but its men were somewhat depressed. In terms of minutes Harvard had won its grand race in 20:52½, while Yale crossed the line in 21:13. The Associated Press time, taken from a telegraphic start and timed on the finish line by C. C. McConville, the coach of the Wisconsin crew, was 20:47½ and is believed to be the accurate time of Harvard's crew.

The official record of the 'varsity race, showing technically how it was rowed, is as follows, the figures being taken from the referee's boat:

	Yale.	Harvard.

Half mile	36	36

CRIMSON BOAT TAKES THE LEAD.

Harvard's Four-Oared Shell Sets the Pace from the Start-Off.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 29.—The races preliminary to the 'varsity simply served to whet the spectators' appetite.

The forenoon program called for the rowing of both races upstream, but the changing to the afternoon for these races made it necessary to pull all three races downstream. Harvard had been allotted the eastern course and Yale had the western lane.

After the four-oared boats were in position Referee Meikleham made it a matter of a second sending them off. Harvard caught the water first and jumped to a lead which was never wrested from it. Yale splashed at the first stroke and rowed far easier than Harvard. Before half a mile had been rowed it was evident that Harvard's four substitutes could furnish to the crimson eight in case of accident to the regular men far better material than the second men who would supplement Yale's 'varsity.

At the half-mile the crimson had established a lead of two lengths. The crew was pulling smoothly, while Yale's shell was noticeably jerky between strokes. Shortly after passing the first half-mile Harvard spurted and added another length to its lead. This drive developed the first unsteadiness in the Harvard boat, an awkward break appearing in evidence at the bow oar. Yale, however, continued to splash and it was unable to take advantage of the Harvard irregularity. A quarter of a mile sufficed for Harvard to recover its form and the crimson boys resumed their Yale annihilating pace. Two more lengths came Harvard's way in short order.

Eli's Sons Try Hard.

When the battle was half finished Yale made its most desperate effort with a lively spurt. Harvard, however, was ready and apparently eager and met Yale's effort with another. There was temporary muscle and skill in the Yale four, fortunately, and the boys in blue succeeded in cutting down the lead of their rivals nearly a length.

At the mile, therefore, Harvard was ahead by four lengths. Instead of continuing their work, however, the Yale men began to indulge in vagaries and the boat was for some minutes sadly off an even keel. The last mile was a repetition of the first, Harvard gaining steadily until at the mile and a half it had nearly six lengths to the good.

Harvard grew stronger and spurted with vehemence. Yale tried to meet it, but its efforts were futile and a few minutes later Harvard had crossed the line a winner by six lengths and a fraction, in 10 minutes 51 seconds; Yale crossing in 11:06. Time:

	Yale.	Harvard.
Half mile	2:52	2:42
Mile	5:43	5:28
Mile and half	8:21	8:00
Finish	11:06	10:51

YALE FRESHMEN IN HARD LUCK.

Excursion Steamer Trespasses on Course and Ruins Blue's Chances.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 29.—The conditions for the freshman race were better if anything than those under which the previous race had been rowed. A strong outgoing tide caused trouble at the start, but at about 4:45 both crews were ready and the starting shot was fired. Harvard was first to find the water and the two boats were off. It was a false start, for almost immediately No. 2 in the Harvard shell raised his hand as a signal that something was wrong in the crimson boat. He had jumped his slide.

The boats maneuvered for their positions and at 4:56 they were successfully sent away. Yale took the lead instantly, rowing magnificently. Harvard, too, was pulling in beautiful style. At the half-mile Yale led by a meager half length. Here both crews did some splashing. At the mile Yale was in better form and had acquired the comfortable lead of one length.

As the Yale crew raced down to the finish flag it was seen that the drawbridge of the New York, New Haven & Hartford company was open and that a mammoth sidewheel excursion steamer was plying up the river directly in the course of the boats. The boat proved to be the sound steamer Glen Island, swarmed with spectators on an excursion from New Haven. Shrieking whistles, shouting thousands and scurrying police boats finally impressed on the offending helmsman that he was outrageously careless and the big hulk turned off to one side. The wash, however, played havoc with the oncoming crews.

Harvard Escapes Easily.

Harvard's position in the course on the east side of the river saved the boat from serious harm, however, and impeded its progress but comparatively little. With the Yale boat matters were worse. The blue shell was almost swamped. Barrels of water were shipped and the crew lost entirely half a dozen strokes. Meanwhile the lead which it had so carefully nourished throughout the race was ruthlessly snatched away by the Harvard boys, and a few seconds later the Harvard youngsters crossed the line winners by two and a half lengths.

The time was a record breaker on the Thames, Harvard winning in 9:33, Yale 9:40. This record, however, does not stand in American intercollegiate rowing, as the time made in the triangular freshmen race between Cornell, Harvard and Yale, at Poughkeepsie in 1897 was: Yale freshmen, 9:19¼; Harvard freshmen, 9:24; Cornell freshmen, 9:29.

Harvard won by two lengths and a half as follows.

	Half mile.	Mile.	Mile and half.	Finish.
Yale	1:49	4:35	7:02	9:40
Harvard	1:53	4:38	7:04	9:33½

Y. M. C. A. Fourth of July Program.

A great program is being arranged for the Fourth of July at the Athletic park of the Young Men's Christian association. It will bring joy to the hearts of the old-timers to know that they will again have the opportunity to see the University club on the base ball diamond. Captain Abbott has secured nearly all the old players of the Fourth of July game, including Crawford, Creigh, Hayes, Jellen and Robinson. It will be a hot game, in which the youths of the Young Men's Christian association will contest for the amateur honors which the older aggregation has held for all these years. Captain Sprague of the Christians is very sanguine and confidently expects to come out with championship honors.

Bicycle riders will also be given a chance. Three races are on the program. In the one-mile open and the one-mile tandem the prizes in each event will be worth $25, $10 and $5 for first, second and third places respectively. There will be a five-mile club championship race, in which two men from each of the several bicycle clubs in this vicinity will compete for a silver trophy, which has been put up by a local business house. Requests for entry blanks have come in from Keaney, Lincoln, Plattsmouth, Grand Island and Hastings. These races have been sanctioned by the League of American Wheelmen, and will be under its auspices.

In order to fill out the program there will be a 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, and 440-yard handicap. In each of these events the winner of the first place will receive a silver cup, and of the second place a silver medal. Quite a number of young men are in training for this part of the program.

Great Interest in Cricket Match.

LEEDS, Eng., June 29.—The third test cricket match between the visiting Australians and an All-England eleven opened here today. The weather was bright, though the wicket was soft after a night's rain and favorable to the bowler. There were about 12,000 spectators present when the Australians went to the wickets. Very great interest is taken in the present match owing to the poor showing made by the home team in the two previous matches and the fact that the press and the cricketers of the whole country have been showering advice upon the selection committee regarding the choice of an eleven, with the result that considerable ill-feeling has been aroused among some of the players, who have thought themselves
