

HOW THE GAME WAS WORKED

Witnesses in County Attorney Case Tell How Fusion Was Accomplished.

WINTER DETAILS GENERAL FUSION SCHEME

Shows that Shields Was Not the Real Candidate of Either the Populist or Silver Republican Organizations.

Very little testimony remains to be taken in the Winter-Shields case, and if the next few days were not so thickly crowded with holidays the end would soon be reached.

Mr. Winter is now introducing testimony to show the manner in which Shields secured his place on the tickets of the populist and silver republican organizations.

Mr. Winter himself was the first witness, and he briefly detailed the general scheme of fusion and testified that he was the legitimate nominee of the republican party.

E. F. Morarity, secretary of the county central committee of the populists, was then called to testify in regard to the manner in which Shields' name got on the populist ticket.

Dr. J. J. Saville was then called to give similar testimony in regard to the manner in which Shields was nominated by the silver republicans.

In his own behalf County Attorney Shields testified to the fact that he was duly nominated by the three conventions and W. H. Gonsular, messenger in the county attorney's office, testified that he was a delegate to the democratic convention.

Two Strings to His Bow. James McCarthy, an iron molder at the Union Pacific shops, took out two accident policies early in 1938 and was lucky enough to straightaway step through a hole in the sidewalk on Clark street and break his left arm in two places.

The will of Oscar B. Huns, late clerk of the United States circuit court, has been filed for probate before Judge Baxter.

Employees of the office of the district court clerk are well satisfied with the new law.

ONLY A COMPROMISE LAW

Act to Provide for Examination and Licensing of Embalmers Considered Incomplete.

The undertakers and embalmers of Omaha are not generally pleased with the provisions of the new embalmers' certificate law which goes into effect today.

It is the latter provision of the law to which the most objection is offered. It is claimed that there are many embalmers in business who are really incompetent and that in exempting them from examination the law in large part defeats its main purpose.

The passage of the bill in this state and of similar bills in other states, it is said, was primarily instigated by the National Association of Baggagemen for the protection of the members on which such laws operate.

President Traynor of that organization has said that he would not recognize the state board would not be recognized as giving the holder a right to ship embalmed bodies.

Some Omaha embalmers are of the opinion that the law will not affect undertakers who do not wish to ship bodies from one point to another, and that probably a few will do some embalming without taking out a certificate.

Those Prevailing in the Different Countries of Europe Compared.

A comparison of the prices paid for sugar beets in the various European countries with the prices paid in the United States may be interesting to the farmers of Nebraska.

In Russia farmers receive $4.24, this price being an advance over that of last year of $4 cents.

In Belgium the prices run from $3.47 for 11 per cent beets to $6.17 for 16 per cent beets.

In France the prices vary from $4.83 to $6 for beets of about 7 per cent richness, this percentage, however, being according to the Beaume system of estimating.

WANTED FOR AN OLD CRIME

Law Lays Its Hand on Julius Sinks After Four Years' Delays.

REFORMATION CAME A LITTLE TOO LATE. Becomes a Good Husband and a Respected Citizen, Only to Meet His Fate in an Old Indictment.

After living for four years in happy unconsciousness, the man who was hung over him, Julius A. Sinks, a clerk in the freight department at the Union Pacific headquarters, was dragged from his desk by a deputy sheriff yesterday afternoon and locked in the county jail to answer an indictment for embezzlement.

The case is peculiar for the reason that Sinks had not the slightest idea that he was a fugitive from justice. He has lived in Omaha since he left Aberdeen.

The alleged crime for which Sinks is arrested is the theft of $125 in money and a quantity of silverware alleged to have been worth about $300 more in 1934.

RENTS THE CAUSE OF CRIME

Women of Restricted District Held Up by Avaricious Landlords.

CHIEF WHITE DEALS HAND TO HIMSELF. Summons Proprietors and Compels Them to Cut Their Rents to a Semi-Reasonable Figure—Women Go Hungry.

For the first time the landlords of the houses in the restricted district have been compelled to lower their exorbitant rents. The high prices charged for houses with what little there is in them have been cut almost in two through the intervention of Chief White, who believes that this one thing alone is responsible for more of the larceny from the person cases than any other.

The attention of Chief White was called to this state of affairs by notices from the landlords to their tenants that they intended to increase their rents on July 1 because the exposition would bring so many people to the city that it was to be expected they would be able to pay better rentals.

Many of the women along the street stated that they did not have a second gown to wear. They had been compelled to sacrifice all their clothes to keep rent payments. This state of affairs convinced the chief that something ought to be done, especially after a consultation with Mayor Moore yesterday, who informed him that he would be sustained in any action he might take.

WANTS MEDAL FOR DEMPSEY. Chief White Thinks the Officer Should Be Rewarded for Life Saving.

An effort is being made to raise a sufficient sum of money to enable Chief White to purchase a life-saving medal for Detective Mike Dempsey in recognition of his arrest of Charles Augustus Johnson as he was about to jump from the Douglas street bridge.
