CHESTERFIELD'S LAST WEEK

The Eminent Thought Reader and Palmist Leaves Omaha One Week from Tomorrow.

Next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, "one week from today," Prof. Grant Chesterfield will close his rooms at 1712 Dodge street and will leave Omaha for Lincoln, where he will remain a few days and give the people of the Capital City a chance to test his wonderful powers of the time of palm reading.

Prof. Chesterfield is not only recognized in all the principal cities in this country as the highest authority on palmistry, but also in Europe. During his European tour in '93 he visited the principal cities and read the palms of the most prominent citizens and noblemen.

Prof. Chesterfield speaks rapidly and to the point, covering the ground thoroughly and leaving no stone unturned. He gives the complete story of your life as told by the hand and he likewise diagnoses your present condition. The fee is 25c and the room remains open on Sunday until 4 p. m.

have cost $5,000, while straw laid down thickly on the street corners and roads have cost $2,000. The artists, in the absence of Melba, owing to illness, included Suzanne, Adams, Alvarez and Rejane. Orchids were all over the house and were also decorations on the table.

Bellet at Chambers' Departure. The announcement that Chief Justice Chambers is to leave London is received with great satisfaction by all sections of the German press. The newspapers have all along represented Chambers as the tool of E. B. S. Maxse, the British consul at Apia, and especially hostile to the Germans in the island.
