FREPORT ON THE EXPOSITION

Conclusions of the Committee Appointed to Investigate the Various Exhibits.

COMMITTEE PLEASED WITH THE CONDITION

Finds Many Attractions Worthy the Patronage of the Public-Greater America Exposition is Better Than Anticipated.

The following report was submitted yesnmittee appointed to examine and report on the condition of the Greater America Exposition:

To the President and Board of Directors of the Greater America Exposition—The committee appointed to investigate and report upon the Greater America Exposition, with a view to correcting erroneous impressome misunderstanding concerning its methods and genuineness, beg leave to sub-as to the real character and purpose of this that is now offered of enjoying such an at-enterprise.

The name "Greater America" was given to the exposition with a view of representing here the flora which distinguishes the new possessions of the United States, together with industries pursued by their inhabitants and their general life and personal appearance and habits.

In view of the fact that the wars incident to those new possessions are not yet ended, and that their internal affairs are disturbed and unsettled it is to the committee a matter of surprise and gratification that so much has been accomplished by your management to support the name assumed. The grounds have been transformed into a semi-tropical garden. They are beautified by rare plants, trees, flowers, ferns and palms from our tropical possessions, together with fine specimens of cacti.

The committee proceeded with the investigation in the order of the buildings and objects hereinafter named: Public Comfort Building—This is the Illi-nois building of last year's exposition. It has been fitted up with a view of affording a place of rest and comfort for those who are wearled with sightseeing. Its beautiful location is well known to those who have visited the grounds and it serves perfectly the purposes for which it was designed.

Cacti—The cacti have been brought from the arid plains of Arizona, and have been placed in a locality just west of the Public Public Cacti in a locality just west of the Public Cacti.

placed in a locality just west of the Public Comfort building. They are grand speci-mens, some of which rise in magnificent proportions fifteen to twenty feet in height, and in diameter from ten to fifteen inches. Fraternal Building—The old Nebraska building has been converted into a Fraternal Society building, where all societies are invited to open headquarters for the purpose of meeting members of their respective or ganizations while visiting the grounds.

Horticultural Building—The artistic arrangement, in the interior of this building. of shrubbery, clinging vines, tropical plants, moss from Louisiana, fragrant flowers, palms, ferns and fountains, singing birds in the foliage, all contribute to make this one of the most beautiful features of the Bluff tract. It is arranged on the order of the famous winter gardens of Europe. As yet the exhibit of fruits is limited, but ample exhibits of this character are expected as Government Building-A limited examination of the contents of this building (in-cluding all the famous Libby Prison exhibits) has astonished us with the beauty, completeness and rare value of the things displayed.

The relics shown are infinite in number, completely filling the entire building, and represent every portion of our history as a nation from colonial times, including the war of 1812 and the Mexican war, together with federal and confederate relics of the Civil war, as well as many things of inter-est from the recent Spanish war.

The various implements of warfare, the valuable documents, the mementos and souvenirs of a hundred battlefields, the ple examination.

Who can look at the table at which Grant and Lee arranged the surrender at Appomattox without feelings of deep emotion?
Who can look at the very bed on which Lincoln died without feelings of reverence? he looks upon the doors of Libby Prison and recalls the sad story of 40,000 prisoners passing through its portals from 1861 to 1865. All these and many other things of equal interest are here to entertain or to instruct the visitor.

Remembering the magnificent display made in this building a year ago we unhesitatingly pronounce the present display more interesting and instructive to the mass of the people than the one previously made.

Fine Art Building-There are some new and attractive features in the Fine Art col-Section. In sculpture the reclining figure of the "Student," by the eminent artist, J. Q. A. Ward, commands especial attention. This, with the "Pilgrim," the original cast from with the Frigrim, the original cast from which was made the superb statue in bronze, now in Central Park, New York, the gift of the New England society, has been presented by Mr. Ward to the city of Omaha. The paintings completely fill the galleries essigned to them and the water color collec-tion is unusually large. Taken as a whole the Art exhibit is most satisfactory,

The International Building—This cannot be overlooked when speaking of the Arts. It is an admirable collection gathered by a number of firms, comprising articles of beauty for the household collection, as well as for personal adornment. Italy, Spain, Algeria, France, Turkey, Austria and other countries are represented.

The Colonial Building—This centains a distinctive exhibit, and in a comprehensive manner covers many of the great national manner covers many of the great national resources of the Hawaiian and Philippine Islands. The department of cruithology comprises a great collection of birds of rare and beautiful plumage. The exhibit also contains rare specimens of animals and reptiles curious to Americans, as well as of corals and other objects of interest from our new possessions. Your directory is to be congratulated upon your ability to place before our people this exhibit. Philippine, Cuban, Porto Rican and Sa-moan Villages—in addition to the exhibits in the Colonial building from the above-mentioned countries there are villages upon the Midway which are now nearly all com-pleted, and which are modeled after the architecture of the countries named wherein the life, manners, customs and amusements the inhabitants are exemplified.

Liberal Arts Building—This contains a Targe and diversified collection of interesting and costly exhibits, consisting of the manu-factured products of our own country. Nearly all the space is filled and the work remaining to be done is being pushed to

Machinery Hall-We cannot speak too highly of the character and class of these exhibits, which impress us with particular interest, and among which the following are worthy of note, namely: A silk loom in full operation, showing the growth of the delicate and many colored threads of silk into patterns of beauty and finest texture.

A complete display of the latest improved machinery for making and bolting flour in full operation.

An ice making machine also in operation.

A most interesting feature is the manufacture of felt hats, which is here seen in

A unique and beautiful cabinet, containing an exhibition of rifte cartridges, projectiles and explosives, by the Union Metallic Car-tridge company of Bridgeoport, Conn. In short, the exhibits in this building are all of a high order, and we can say without hesitation that, as a whole, they are superior those of last year. Manufacture and Agricultural Building-These contain a very creditable display of manufactured articles, but the space is not yet completely filled. We are told that the space has been spoken for and that exhib-tions are arriving daily with their exhibits. Some thirty-two counties have applied for and have taken space in the agricultural building and it is expected that by the Amusements-There was not sufficien time to fully investigate the character of the entertainments offered by private indi-viduals, but we believe that they are giving general satisfaction to the people who visit them. The amusements furnished by the directors are all that can be expected or desired. The particular features are music, fire works, including Paine's Battle of Manila. Hluminations-The Illuminations of the tion of the old brick work around the Lagoon has been removed and replaced with electric illuminated flower beds of great beauty. This electric lighting among the flowers, together with the tropical plants.

Conclusions—We find that the Greater America Exposition is officered by some of our best and foremost citizens, whose sbil-ity and high character are not only an absolute guarantee against fraud and imposi-tion upon the public, but an earnest of the excellence and genuineness of the enter-prise. We are of the opinion that in all that goes to make a great exposition the Greater America exceeds the original conceptions of its founders and is better than we anticipated. It is worthy the patronage It is not our purpose, in any way, to make comparisons with last year's great and excellent exposition with a view to disparage the same, but it is necessary, in some instances, to show the difference between that exposition and this year's, in order to convey impressions received by the committee as to the real character and purpose of the same.

SYRIANS IN POLICE COUR

Discord and Turmoil Overtake Mis sion of Mercy, Peace and Love on Thirteenth Street.

In police court yesterday there was a airing of troubles among several former inhabitants of Syria. During the testimony the classical Arabic language was used fre quently to the utter confusion of court and fficials, until an interpreter was forthcom ing to untangle the lingual skein.

It seems that the white dove of peace does ot hover over the mission of "Peace, Mercy and Love" on South Thirteenth street, bu instead there have been heart burnings and iscords innumerable. Three cases were heard this morning in which all the principals were charged and counter-charged with different misdemeanors, and it was a matter that took considerable hard study upon the part of the court to elucidate.

Elias Faris and Mary Faris were charged with disturbing the peace and quiet of the neighborhood on the evening of July 13. J. Taminosian, who is the preacher at the nission, was the complainant. He stated that he went to the mission on that evening, as was his custom, and he was approached by Mrs. Faris first and later by her husband and was requested to move from the premises. He replied that he was not ready to move yet and would not do so until the law was invoked. He intimated that McKinley himself could not remove him if the law did not so hold. He said that Mr. Faris thereupon began o curse him, his parents, his nation and religion, and said he would like to slap Mr. Taminosian a couple of times. A crowd gathered around to witness the trouble, and the complainant said that the defendant tried to strike him.

Mr. Faris was put on the stand and he testified that Mr. Taminosian had first inferred that he was an accursed gypsy. Mr. Faris said that he retorted in kind and her health is excellent." This shows what hinted that Mr. Taminosian was an accursed thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters trophies captured on land and sea, all unite in awakening a keen interest, not only on account of their educational features, but also from the enjoyment derived from a simunable to accomplish her aim. She denied that there had been any great disturbance. After hearing the merits of this case the matter of the charge of fighting preferred against Mrs. Faris and Mr. Taminosian was What memories will come to the aged taken up. The testimony showed that the veteran, whose conflicts are almost over, as furniture belonging to the mission had been removed to the sidewalk by Mrs. Faris, and that Mr. Taminosian was trying to move it back, while Mrs. Faris blockaded the doorway with her person. A tug of war was going on thus when Officer Davis came along and took them both to jail. It was decided that no case had been made by the state against either party to the suit and the matter was dropped. The next phase of the trouble was brought up on a charge of trespass against Mrs. Faris. Judge Gordon after hearing the several cases discharged all the parties. At the present time Mr. Taminosian is un able to hold services on account blockade kept up by the of the Faris people. It seems that there has been a little religious prejudice mixed up in the matter, as the Faris people are Catholics and Mr. Taminosian conducts an independent mission. Factions have been formed and the trouble promises to loom up in more serious proportions.

Your directory is to with California asphalt. Another large block of property owners prosecuted a test case to a successful conclusion and those who were not interested in the previous case now come into court to get the benefit of the ruling. Their cause of action is similar to that which was sustained in the previous litigation. They declare that the petition was fraudulent and irregular and that the notice of the meeting of the board of equalization was never properly published.

There was a commotion during the morn ng session of police court yesterday, and for while some of the officers made some very quick trips up and down the stairway and there was peering in unused corners and searching up alleys in the vicinity of the city jail. It all happened because one of the prisoners who was waiting in the letention room on the second floor decided that he did not want to go to jail and made

He had just been in before the judge, where he pleaded guilty to having imbibed too freely of that which intoxicates. After hearing his plaint the judge awarded him a prize of $1 and costs. He was sent back o wait in the new detention room. He sat down near the window of the stairway that leads to the first floor. When the officer left the room for a moment he passed through the window, swung himself down from the banister and was soon out of sight. A hurried search was made, but it was of no avail. The window will be barred and new locks will be put on the doors at once.
