Four weeks of the Greater America Exposition have passed away, and as a rule the members of the management are satisfied with the work that has been accomplished in the way of bringing the enterprise to the attention of the public. The members of the new executive committee contend that they have the affairs of the exposition well in hand, that they have studied its needs, its strong points and its weak ones, until they now know where they stand. With this knowledge, they assert that they are in a position to give the enterprise the proper momentum from now on.

In studying the exposition and the method of conducting it, the members of this new executive committee make the point that they will be able to reduce the running expenses very materially at the beginning of next month. They declare that they propose to run the exposition upon the same plan that they would a private enterprise, and in doing this they state that they will cut off all of the needless frills, thus reducing expenses without impairing the show in the least. The members of this committee have spent much time in a comparison of offices and have ascertained the amount of work that is performed and the number of employes required to perform the work. In many of the offices and departments they discovered that a number of people are on the pay roll for whom there is comparatively nothing to do. They also find that in some departments clerks and employes are not kept busy more than half of the time during the day. In all of these places the force will be cut in two, the most efficient and faithful of the employes being retained. While the cutting of employes may be unpleasant, the members of the committee take the ground that they will be doing nothing more than a prudent business man would do under like circumstances in the conduct of his own private affairs. However, later on, when the rush business comes, these people may be put back, but until that time they will be off the exposition pay roll.

Indians on the Bluff Tract.
While not catering to the opinion of anyone the members of the executive committee have decided to locate the Indian camp on the Bluff tract, just south and west of the Horticultural building. This decision has aroused some opposition from persons who contend that it is a pity to disfigure and destroy this beautiful park. Speaking of this, one of the members of the committee said: "It is true that the Bluff tract is a beautiful park, probably as handsome and artistic as any in the country, but we are not in the park business, and consequently we are not maintaining parks for the sole purpose of furnishing something beautiful. If the city wanted this maintained as a park, the authorities should have taken hold of the matter and secured it. Under our contract with the old exposition, we agree to restore this ground to its original condition, and we can as easily do so after it has been used as a camping ground for Indians as we could if we allowed it to remain as a beautiful lawn during the continuance of the exposition." The original plan was to locate the Indians on the little square just south of the Transportation building, but it was found that this tract did not contain sufficient ground, hence the change. Again, it was found that more attractions were needed on the east side of the ground, and this was regarded as the easiest way to furnish the features.

The old buildings that were used on the Indian grounds of last year are being moved to the new location, where they will be used as quarters for men and for Indians who object to living in tepees. The Georgia state building has been secured, and this will be used for an office and store rooms. The Indian ponies, when not in use, will be kept in the Transportation building. In the event of sham battles, they will be put on the grounds occupied last year by the Indians passing up the Midway in going from the Bluff tract to the scenes of the conflict.

Of the Indians, a number from Arizona are already here, and seventy-five Sioux from the country around Rushville are expected to arrive today or tomorrow. The exposition officials are far from being satisfied with the result of yesterday's horse races, but they hope to remedy the defects that existed and formulate a different plan of action before next Saturday.

Object to Paying Two Fees.
Yesterday there were probably 700 people who wanted to see the races, and would gladly have paid the regular fee, but for a quarter of a dollar, but they refused to be quartered for an extra half and consequently returned home without entering the grounds. In advertising the races it was given out that the price of admission would be 25 cents. People upon the exposition grounds yesterday afternoon filed no objection to this tax, but when people from the city and elsewhere reached the grounds and learned that it cost them 50 cents to get on the exposition grounds and a quarter to pass through the gates to the race track there was a loud howl and most of them returned to the city.
It is urged that arrangements can be made by which those who want to see the races and the races only can be admitted through a gate independent of the main grounds and there given a check for identification, so that if they return to the race track the exhibition they may pay the regular fee, thus avoiding all controversy and doing away with such dissatisfaction.

The interesting feature of this coming week and the one that is attracting attention is the formal opening of the Fine Arts building. The building has been open to the public for some days and many people have inspected the pictures. However, after consulting with the officials of the exposition, Director Key deemed it expedient to have a public opening, and the date was decided upon, which is to be next Tuesday evening, between the hours of 7 and 10. Upon this occasion Godfrey's band will be located in the open court between the two sections of the building and will furnish music during the evening. It is likely that there will be one or two short addresses, but by whom has not yet been determined.

Feature of This Week.
It has been decided that the concert upon the Lagoon will be given upon the basin at the west instead of on the harbor at the east end of the Illinois Exposition. There has been discovered that the high walls of the harbor interfere with the sound and that the facilities for seating are not anywhere near as good as in front of the Government building. The Olympia will be removed to the new location and will be moored just east of the electric fountain, thus making it more imposing, then it will be above the walls of the Lagoon, instead of down in a pocket as now.

Views Along the Midway.
Tropical Scenes In and About the Philippine Village.
Located on the West Midway and covering five acres of ground is the Philippine village, with its dozen or more buildings, lake, fountains and flower beds. The village has a frontage of 200 feet along the Midway, forming a separate and distinct feature. All of the buildings are constructed along the style of architecture of the islands. They are low, rangy affairs, covered with grass, cane or bamboo and thatched with grass. On the front there are three huge buildings, one of which is used for restaurant purposes and one for a store. The third is a huge tower, through which one enters the village proper. Inside the village there are a dozen or more huts and buildings, some for office use, others for housing the natives and still others that are intended to be resting places for the guests. There is a large theater, said to be an exact counterpart of one of the Philippine play houses, and a grand interior is decorated with paintings, showing forest, street and other scenes on the island.

Notes of the Exposition.
All of the water tanks upon the grounds are being supplied with water by the city. Work upon the construction of the Up & Down railroad on the North tract has been about completed.
The Baby incubator building on the East Midway has been leased and will be put in operation next month.
The usual band concerts will be given this afternoon and evening. They are both designated as sacred concerts.

Bicycles and Dogs Must Go.
The exposition managers have ruled bicycles and dogs off the grounds. Hereafter only messenger boys will be permitted to ride bicycles upon the exposition grounds, except on the race track. The order was issued yesterday and went into effect at once. Hereafter dogs have been allowed upon the grounds, but as they have become a nuisance the guards have been instructed to kill all found within the enclosure.

Narrow Escape for Wheelman.
A. A. Cardonella, a cook at the exposition grounds, living at 902 Douglas street, was riding his bicycle to a pile of hay, causing a Twenty-fourth street car Saturday night. Cardonella was returning home from work on a bicycle. Crossing Clauing street at Seventeenth he rode in front of a car moving at a high rate of speed. The motorist caught sight of him in time to lower his wheel and he escaped by a narrow margin. The bicycle rider was bruised, but not seriously hurt.

Blaze in a Shed.
Children playing with matches in a coal-shed at the rear of 2763 Burt street Saturday night set fire to a pile of hay, causing a blaze that brought out the fire department. The shed is on James England's property. Neighbors are urged to be careful before setting off fireworks, as they are very dangerous.

Chip Off the Old Block—
No use to say much about the ten-cent Barrister cigar, for every smoker knows it is the best cigar sold anywhere—but how many have tried the "Little Barrister"? This is a chip off the old block, made of the same tobacco—but sold for a nickel—why? Because it is as its name indicates—little—not too small—but just right for a good, satisfying smoke—old smokers pronounce it one of the best of smokers—Most all dealers sell plain and but B. H. Hatters—We are the distributing agents.

NEW FACTORY TO BE BUILT
High Grade Pianos and Organs Will Be Manufactured in Omaha.
ORIGINAL INVESTMENT IS $300,000

Eastern Capitalists Are Interested in the Plan and It Promises to Be Consummated with All Possible Expediency.

Omaha will soon have its operation an extensive establishment for the manufacture of pianos and organs. John C. Pullenwidder of St. Louis arrived in the city yesterday for the purpose of completing arrangements for the location of such an establishment and will have it under way within a very short time. Mr. Pullenwidder is a practical and experienced piano and organ man and will have associated with him eastern piano manufacturers of unlimited means.

In discussing the institution of the factory and the reason for selecting Omaha Mr. Pullenwidder said last night: "It has been my purpose for some time to establish a manufactory of pianos and organs at some point in the middle west, and the opening seemed so desirable that I found no difficulty in interesting an ample sufficiency of eastern capital in the plan. Our first intention was to establish the plant in Des Moines, but upon investigation I found that the railroad facilities were not ample enough to meet our demands, and there were other barriers which made it impracticable to locate there. July 6 I came to Omaha and looked the field over here. I liked the city. It has all the advantages and facilities of Chicago and other eastern trade and manufacturing centers. The railroad accommodations are especially good, and the city is the center of the territory in the middle west which we expect to supply."

While it is not yet absolutely definite, still we are almost certain as to the location which we shall be able to secure. We intend to erect a three-story brick and stone building, designed especially for our purpose. The first floor will be used for the heavy machinery, the second for the planers and joiners and the third for the finishing department. We will inaugurate this plant with seventy-five laborers employed. The most of them will be skilled mechanics, whom we shall bring from the east. Our installation will represent on the part of Pullenwidder & Sons a total investment of $300,000.

"I have been in the piano business for many years, although never before as a manufacturer. We expect to produce only high-grade instruments; pianos which will compare with those manufactured by Briggs of Boston, Steuble & Sons of New York and the Schaff of Chicago, and organs that will be equal to the Stevens reed and pipe organs, manufactured at Marietta, O. These are the instruments which I have been handling for many years."

It is inferred from information received from sources other than Mr. Pullenwidder that the eastern company which he has represented in St. Louis—Briggs, Steuble & Sons, Schaff Bros. company and Stevens—are interested to a certain extent in the establishment of the Omaha factory and it is also hinted that some local capital is connected with the business. The section of the middle west tributary to Omaha has long been looked upon with rapidly increasing favor by eastern manufacturers and the location of a piano and organ factory here is considered to be the first of many new manufactures which will seek location in this city before a great while.

ALASKA COMMISSION COMING
They Will Visit the Exposition on Their Way Home from the Frozen North.
President Miller of the Greater America Exposition received word this evening by wire that the Alaska commission would visit Omaha on its return east. The commission consists of Seneca E. Payne of New York, John Dalzell of Pennsylvania, John A. T. Hull of Iowa, Joel P. Heatwole of Minnesota and George W. Steele. The members are at present the guests of Manager Holdrege of the Burlington, who went to meet them at Billings. They had intended going home by a southern route, but upon the invitation of Mr. Holdrege to come this way they agreed. They have accepted an invitation to attend the exposition and a luncheon will be given for them at the Filipino village either on Tuesday from 1 to 2 o'clock or Wednesday evening, if they remain over that long. They will arrive Monday afternoon.

There has been made to Yellowstone park during the homeward journey and other places of interest have been visited. They have been north looking up several important matters, among them being the boundary dispute.

A Request—Talk No. 43—
I want to ask a favor of my patrons. If there is one among them who thinks that his glasses are not quite right I shall consider it a personal favor if he will do so. I would ten times rather have him come back than to have him feel that his glasses are worth to him one cent less than he paid me. It is not a bother or an annoyance to me to have a customer come back. I am anxious to have my glasses fit him perfectly and prove of service to him as he can possibly be himself. I have a reputation to preserve and I realize that "a satisfied patron is the best advertisement."

ELKS REVEL IN PICNIC PLAY
Annual Outing Made Memorable by Various High Jinks.

The theater, park, boats, dining room and water at Lake Manawa were alive with Elks from Omaha lodge No. 39 yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the annual outing of the order. There was no amusement of the place which dignified judges, eminent attorneys and conservative business men did not try. Fat old boys and thin young ones rivaled each other in frolicsome excess. Then ducked each other in the lake, showed the crowd how they used to row in the days when they were in form, and being all the more remarkable from the fact that the rope was under water and only the head of the performer showed above the surface. Judge Estelle was adjudged to have given the best exhibition of firmness in the water, as he clung to a post from the pier to the Elks when the boat came out. He taunted Albyn Frank and a few others who did not go in with the charge of cowardice.

Upward of fifty members sat down in the summer garden to the supper, which was satisfying both in quality and quantity. After it had been disposed of the wife and daughters were called upon by Toastmaster George P. Cronk to make impromptu remarks upon the subjects previously assigned to them.
"The Elks as an American Institution" was expounded by Lee Estelle. W. F. Gurley described eloquently the "Advantages of the Order" to those who already appreciate them. Lytle I. Abbott dilated upon the "Responsibilities of an Elk," and I. R. Andrey interpreted the emblems of the Elks. D. M. Vinsonhour discoursed in a serious vein on "What the Order Teaches." F. A. Brogan's after tongue was disposed of in honor of the "Ladies." E. P. Mullen reviewed the subject of "The Progress of the Order."

"The Elks as an American Institution" was expounded by Lee Estelle. W. F. Gurley described eloquently the "Advantages of the Order" to those who already appreciate them. Lytle I. Abbott dilated upon the "Responsibilities of an Elk," and I. R. Andrey interpreted the emblems of the Elks. D. M. Vinsonhour discoursed in a serious vein on "What the Order Teaches." F. A. Brogan's after tongue was disposed of in honor of the "Ladies." E. P. Mullen reviewed the subject of "The Progress of the Order."

TRAVELERS GETTING READY
Omaha Members of the Western Travelers' Association Preparing for a Convention.

There was an enthusiastic meeting of the Omaha members of the Western Travelers' Association Saturday night in the rooms of the National bank building. The States National bank building. The meeting was in the nature of an informal smoker and was for the purpose of working up an interest in the convention of the association, which will be held at Lincoln September 29 and 30. There are about 4500 members of the order in this city and it is thought that the special train may be chartered to transport the members and their families to Lincoln and Douglas streets, Omaha, Neb.

Mr. Frederick Hatter—
Will give any young man a pass into his hat concession at 120 South 15th street—and a straw hat for 25c—some people may think we don't have straw hats for less than $1.50—that's a mistake—we have 'em all along the line—25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00—bring in the boys and get them hatted in style at these prices—every hat we sell will be shaped to the head by a "conformator"—if there's anything disagreeable it's a bargain store straw hat fit.

A Request—Talk No. 43—
I want to ask a favor of my patrons. If there is one among them who thinks that his glasses are not quite right I shall consider it a personal favor if he will do so. I would ten times rather have him come back than to have him feel that his glasses are worth to him one cent less than he paid me. It is not a bother or an annoyance to me to have a customer come back. I am anxious to have my glasses fit him perfectly and prove of service to him as he can possibly be himself. I have a reputation to preserve and I realize that "a satisfied patron is the best advertisement."

If You Go Out Today—
Just take a look at the number of women that are wearing our new man fashion shoes—they give the room for the toes to lie on the sole of the shoe as nature intended they should—and are the most fashionable for women's foot covering—one of the most saleable of these boots is a dark tan—darker than usual—at $3.00—this one is duplicated in a black vici—also $3.00. At $4.00 per pair is the most extensive line of all—the different shades of leather in this price shoe—from the yellowest yellow to the blackest black.

ELKS REVEL IN PICNIC PLAY
Annual Outing Made Memorable by Various High Jinks.

The theater, park, boats, dining room and water at Lake Manawa were alive with Elks from Omaha lodge No. 39 yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the annual outing of the order. There was no amusement of the place which dignified judges, eminent attorneys and conservative business men did not try. Fat old boys and thin young ones rivaled each other in frolicsome excess. Then ducked each other in the lake, showed the crowd how they used to row in the days when they were in form, and being all the more remarkable from the fact that the rope was under water and only the head of the performer showed above the surface. Judge Estelle was adjudged to have given the
