

HOLCOMB'S BOOM GOES AWRY

Populists Regret Having Introduced Resolution in Democratic Convention.

STATE HOUSE GANG WORKS FOR FUSION

Check to Governor's Aspirations by Democrats Taken as Serious Setback to His Chances for Supreme Bench.

LINCOLN, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The boom for Silas A. Holcomb for supreme judge has been started in this city under decidedly unfavorable conditions. The action of the democratic convention in refusing to adopt the resolution endorsing his candidacy, introduced by Colonel Victor Viquin, is a source of deep regret to the supporters of the ex-governor, who realize that a serious mistake was made in bringing the matter before the democrats at all, and it is also generally believed that the refusal to pledge their support is only a forerunner of what will transpire in other counties should a similar attempt be made.

Holcomb was a conspicuous figure at all of the conventions yesterday and the state officials were there in full force. These men realized that the situation was a critical one and while they took no active interest in the nominations, they were all working for fusion. Even Deputy Attorney General Oldham, who last year was against fusion and all candidates on the state ticket, with the exception of C. J. Smyth, did not openly oppose the fusion of the issues of the day. This sentiment, however, was not at all universal and it is very evident that had it not been for the work of the state house crowd the fusion ties which have held the anti-republican forces in this county together for the past few years would have been completely severed.

The state house contingent divided its attentions between the three conventions. Deputy Attorney General Oldham, J. G. P. Heibrandt of the insurance department, Colonel Viquin and others devoted the most time to the democrats. The deliberations of the populist convention were presided over by Labor Commissioner Kent, who came down from Omaha for the purpose, returning on an early train this morning. A number of clerks from the state office were present and assisted in securing the endorsement of Holcomb. A. H. Gleason of the labor commissioner's office was a delegate to the free silver republican convention.

Carefully prepared plans were defeated in the democratic convention and the resolution of endorsement was rushed through in the populist convention without any consideration, a large proportion of the delegates not knowing what they were voting for.

Interest on School District Bonds.

State Auditor Cornell has announced that under the law he cannot register school district bonds which draw interest at a higher rate than 6 per cent. There is a very general misunderstanding regarding this law, nearly all of the school directors holding that the act limiting the interest rate to 6 per cent is ineffectual on the ground that it does not repeal a former act fixing the rate at 7 per cent. The attorney general holds that the act of the last legislature indirectly repeals the former law, even though it does not contain the repealing clause. Acting on this opinion Auditor Cornell refuses to register any school district bond drawing interest at a higher rate than 6 per cent.

Land Commissioner Wolfe has announced a public auction for leasing school land in Sheridan county, to be held September 5, and a similar auction in Cherry county September 7, both to be held at the county seat of the respective county treasurers. Auctions for leasing school lands in Blaine, Box Butte, Grant, Garfield, Hooker, Logan, Hold, Sioux and Thomas counties will be held during the latter part of the month. This land will be leased under the following provision of the new law:

If, after using due diligence to lease said land at an annual rental of 5 per cent upon the appraised value of the land, the land is unable to do so, he may offer the same for lease at less than the appraised valuation and lease it to the person who offers the highest valuation as annual rental, if, in his judgment, it is to the best interests of the state to accept such bid.

There is still some prospect that the judgment held by the state against the bondsmen of ex-Oil Inspector Hilton will not be satisfied to its full amount. Through Judge Wakely of Omaha the bondsmen have paid to the district court in Lancaster county a little over $7,000. This is about $500 less than the judgment calls for, which amount is disputed by the bondsmen. Hilton retained a large amount of fees received for inspection of gasoline claims that are paid under the act of 1897. The court held that the state was not entitled to the money. The courts held differently and the supreme court sent it back a few months ago to be straightened up as being against Hilton as principal and the others as sureties, an error having been made.

Bondsmen Claim Overcharge.

The exact amount paid in by the bondsmen is $7,002.15, which is the sum found due up to June 7, 1898, together with interest from June 25, 1899. The bondsmen dispute the claim of the state that they must pay interest between the date named. The case was first tried before a jury in Judge Holmes' court in Lancaster county June 7, 1898, and a verdict rendered in favor of the state against Hilton and others. The defendants all appealed, but the supreme court, while holding for the state on all essential points, found that the court below had erred in the form in which the judgment was entered up. The case was remanded with instructions to the clerk to re-write the judgment as being against Hilton as principal and the others as sureties. The bondsmen claim that as they secured a reversal in the supreme court they should not be compelled to pay interest on the judgment while the case was pending there. The attorney general contends that this is a false interpretation of the law, but as the bondsmen wanted to litigate the question of liability for this interest—about $500—and were willing to pay the remainder of the judgment into the court at once, the state stipulated that it would not issue execution. From the remainder of the judgment the bondsmen, Richard Bianco, W. C. Walton, E. A. Stewart and John A. McKee, appeal to the supreme court.

CORN LIES FLAT ON THE GROUND.

Damage by Storm and Rain in Various Parts of Nebraska.

FRIEND, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—During a local thunderstorm, which occurred last evening, several farmers east of this city had buildings and windmills blown down. The fine new barn of John Aspume was wrecked, and James G. Hodges, Mrs. Jewell, Tommy Nichols and Jacob Thilen had windmills levelled to the ground. Other damage is reported, but it is hard to gather the particulars. Corn is lying flat to the ground. In this vicinity two inches of water fell, which has not come a moment too soon.

FAIRMONT, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—A much needed rain fell here last night, about three-quarters of an inch of water, with some hail. The hail was very large, but scattering, so that it did no harm. Some of the corn was past help, but the most of it is benefited greatly.

HARVARD, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Yesterday was another very warm day, but closed with one inch and a little more of rainfall, the storm coming from the south-west and was quite general on south and east, but did not reach over a mile or two northwest from Harvard. The storm came up about 1:30 o'clock in the evening and lasted about forty minutes. No hail or damage from the storm.

NORTH LOUP, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Threshing has commenced and the yield of wheat in the valley is proving to be very disappointing, varying from four to eight bushels per acre. At prices paid now this will hardly pay the farmer's harvesting bill.

YORK, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—In certain portions of this county the corn is said to be greatly in need of rain. One farmer said today: "There are 10,000 acres of corn between Lushton and McCool that is not worth $1 per acre." Of course this pessimistic view is not shared generally, yet the most optimistic admit that rain is needed very badly in certain portions of the county where previous showers have not struck.

BEATRICE, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—A rainstorm passed over this section late last night, but without doing serious damage. Some hail fell, but not enough to do any damage in this immediate locality. South-west of town the hail was pretty severe, and melons and tomatoes suffered. Grapes were knocked from the vines in the line of the storm, but the rainfall was comparatively light.

WESTERN, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—It has been very warm and dry here for some time. At 3:15 p. m. yesterday the mercury reached 89 degrees in the shade and at 7 p. m. was 80 and about 8 o'clock it commenced raining and one inch of water fell, the biggest rain since June. It will make thousands of bushels of corn. Wheat that was left making from fourteen to twenty-three bushels per acre, oats, thirty-five to fifty bushels; quality good.

Brown County Fusion Delegates. AINSWORTH, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—The fusion forces met this afternoon in three separate places and selected the following delegates to the various conventions: Democratic—State, W. H. Davis, P. J. Murphy, Charles Caselman, Tim Hintze; congressional, W. H. Magill; judicial, P. J. Murphy, J. A. Munson, C. F. Martin, George Carpenter.

Republican—State, H. P. McKelzie, J. G. Ackerman; judicial, J. M. Curry, B. B. Mastick.

No delegates to the congressional convention were chosen by the silverites. The attendance was very small, the democrats numbering twelve, populists, fifteen and silverites less than a half-dozen.

Nepolik District Campmeeting.

LYONS, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The Nepolik district campmeeting, which began services here yesterday, has every indication of bringing a multitude of people here from both far and near. Neighboring towns are becoming interested and whole families are in attendance daily. Tents are numerous and were filled to overflowing with people who seem to be enjoying the meeting. The singing conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Eiderlin of Chicago, yesterday and their families who arrived today with their families to take active part in these meetings are Rev. A. Hodgetts, D. D., Norfolk, Neb.; Rev. E. E. Shaffer, Oakland, Neb.; Rev. A. Brient, Laurel, Neb.; Rev. O. W. Mulder, Colorado, Neb.; Rev. T. A. Arling, Lehigh, Neb.; Rev. C. H. Moore, St. James, Neb.; Rev. C. M. Epworth League Protest.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 10.—The Nebraska Epworth League assembly, which concluded today, adopted resolutions on the army canten as follows: "The Nebraska Epworth assembly, 7,000 strong, representing a constituency of 50,000, condemns the infamous decision of Attorney General Griggs in nullifying the act of Congress establishing the army canten, and calls upon President McKinley to exercise his authority as commander-in-chief to carry out the will of the people, as expressed by congress, and protect our soldiers from the injury and outrage inflicted on them and their families by the shameful blot on our military system which is more destructive to life and character than fever, famine and war itself." The assembly passed resolutions warmly commending the administration of President McKinley.

David City Democrats Split.

DAVID CITY, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The democratic wing of the fusion camp in David City does not seem to be harmonious. It was announced that a conference would be held last night to agree upon delegates to submit to the primaries today, which elects delegates to the county convention tomorrow. Early in the evening a small convention was held by C. W. McCarty, an insurance agent, met and agreed upon a list of delegates and then retired to Thomas' saloon. At the appointed hour another contingent, headed by County Clerk Graham, met and selected a list of delegates. The primaries are being held this afternoon and the contest is decidedly interesting. The contest is for and against delegates to the judicial convention.

Cass County Primaries.

PLATTSBURGH, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The Cass county primaries were held last evening and elected delegates to attend a convention in Greenwood August 17. The elected delegates to attend the state and also the judicial convention to be held in Nebraska City September 12. There will be only two candidates before the convention for district judge, the present incumbent Judge B. S. Haman, and Hon. H. D. Travis, and the writing each claim the delegation from this county.

United Sunday School Picnic.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The Sunday schools of Broken Bow united yesterday in a union picnic. They chartered a special train and went to Ravenna, a distance of fifty miles. The company was received by the school and city authorities and escorted to the grove on the Beaver. The Ravenna cornet band tendered its services during the day. A literary program was rendered in the forenoon and the afternoon was given over to sports.

Johnson County Republicans.

TECUMSEH, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The republicans of Johnson county will hold their county convention in this city tomorrow. At the primaries in this (Nemaha) precinct but one list of delegates was voted on and they are sworn to support George D. Bennett for the nomination of county clerk and Hon. J. S. Still for the nomination of district judge. The convention will be an interesting one.

Shotgun Goes Off Unexpectedly.

TIEN, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—George Whitney returned from a week's outing yesterday minus the fourth and fifth toes of the right foot. While on horseback and carrying a shotgun attached to the saddle, the firearm was discharged, the shot passing through the foot and rendering amputation necessary.

Redness Ote County Debt.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The county commissioners yesterday gave orders to call in $22,000 of the $50,000 Ote county refunding bonds, which were issued April 1, 1895. This reduces the bonded indebtedness of the county to $463,000.

CONCLUDE TO DIE TOGETHER

Terrible Double Tragedy at Arapahoe Involving Two Young People.

OBJECTIONS TO THEIR KEEPING COMPANY

Find the Bodies in the High School Building, Both with Bullet Holes Through the Head.

ARAPAOHE, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—The people of Arapahoe were startled this morning by the report of a terrible tragedy in which two young people of this place were concerned.

Workers who were repairing the High School building on going to work about 7 o'clock found the lifeless body of James Bloodworth, aged 21, with a bullet hole in his right temple, in the east doorway of the building. In his clenched hand he still held the revolver with which the deed was done.

Lying partially on his body was the body of Miss Grace Cooper, with a bullet wound in her temple. She was still breathing, but died about four hours later.

Each left a statement that it was a case of suicide with each other. Objections had been made to their keeping company and this is supposed to be the cause. Miss Cooper was about 15 years old.

DANGER IN CHEAP SPECTACLES.

A Great Many Eyes Ruined by Attempts at Economy.

Looking back now to the time when the itinerant quack doctor and the wandering dentist spread misery and destruction over the land, observe the New York Sun, we wonder at the ignorance and carelessness of our fathers in trusting their teeth, or even their lives to hands so unworthy. A very similar thing is done today by people who buy spectacles or eyeglasses from men who sell them on the streets or have their eyes fitted by opticians who have no qualifications for doing the work.

A surprising number of people buy their glasses from vendors on the streets. They get glasses for 50 cents which seem to them just as good as a pair they would pay $5 for having made on an oculist's prescription, and then they think they have saved money. Glasses acquired in all sorts of ways, by inheritance or exchange from a friend, or even glasses found on the streets, are used to the detriment, even to the destruction of the wearer's sight. "People seem to think glasses are like clothes," said an oculist this morning, "and if they are fairly comfortable and look well they ask no further questions."

Another way in which people damage their eyes is through carelessness in trying to remove dust or cinders from them. They try themselves, a friend tries a rub, the nearest drug store and the nearest oculist are called on, all before an oculist is consulted. The result is that the eyeball is often badly rubbed and scraped and in many instances permanent injury is done.

BONNER'S LOOK AHEAD.

Intuition Which Made Him One of the Most Successful Advertisers. Bonner must have had some purpose, unconscious or acknowledged, when he came to New York in 1844 and took place as proof-reader and as assistant foreman on the Evening Mirror, relates the Review of Reviews. By that step he brought himself into touch with men who were the leaders of literary life in New York, one of whom was the great Andy of literature as he was the pet of society. N. P. Willis, Bonner could not have dreamed when he first met Willis that many years would pass before he would be tempting successfully the famous sister of Willis, "Fanny Fern" (Mrs. James Parton in private life), to write for him a story ten columns in length for which she would receive $1,000.

In all this, however, Mr. Bonner was simply working out what his intuition had well taught him correct and skillful advertising could do. He not only made the market rates for tales and poems and sketches far higher than they had ever been, but he also taught the advertisers wherever the English language is spoken a lesson of which in this day we have seen the finest fruits. Bonner undoubtedly was the most expert advertiser of his time, and no man was ever a more honest one than he. His theory was to catch the eye, to impress the mind, to do it by iteration and repetition, by tricks of type, by unexpected or marvelous things, as, for instance, the Luck of Tact.

Indianapolis Journal: "It do so hope you will succeed," said the motherly, warm-hearted landlady. "I am hoping," said the sanguine young inventor. "And when I do you won't see me eating at a place like this any more." Then, in realization of the utter impossibility of fixing things, he grabbed his hat and fled.

Poetry.

Here the poet rallied bitterly. "It is absurd to pretend that my lines are not worth printing!" he protested. "You are a conceited ass!" retorted the editor, hotly. "You think just because you don't know what you mean in your poetry that nobody else knows what you mean! Bah!"

of the agnostic. Rev. Alexander Clark went west. I am not sure to what state he emigrated, but I believe it was Missouri, and there he became ill. He was at a hotel and the governor of the state, who had known him many years, had him removed to his home. Mr. Clark grew worse and was threatened with death. The news came east and Ingersoll heard of it in Washington, where he was lecturing, and immediately went west as quickly as possible and at the bedside of the Christian minister and until the death of Mr. Clark was almost constantly in attendance upon him. When Mr. Clark died Ingersoll took charge of the remains and brought them east to Newcastle, where they were buried. At the funeral after the officiating clergyman had concluded his sermon, the agnostic delivered an address touching upon the grand life and character of the dead man which moved his hearers to tears. It was one of his best efforts and was from the heart."

WOMAN'S IDENTITY IS HIDDEN

Mystery Still Surrounds Death of Supposed Mrs. Lee.

In a Company with an Unknown Man She Alighted at Hastings—Photographs Taken to Aid the Identification.

HASTINGS, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—It is still a shrouded mystery as to whom the young woman was that committed suicide Wednesday at the Lindell hotel by taking poison. Telegrams were sent to various places in the hope of obtaining some clue to her identity, but the only answers received by Coroner Cooke were to the effect that the woman was not known. The coroner's jury, after meeting and adjourning several times, with the hope of gaining some information, this morning brought in a verdict to the effect that Mrs. W. L. Lee committed suicide by taking opium. Regardless of the fact that scores and scores of people viewed the body yesterday and today, not one person was able to recognize the corpse, although many who viewed it said they were positive they had seen the woman somewhere.

Conductor Berry, who was on Burlington flyer No. 2 Tuesday night, viewed the remains and said that the deceased came in on his train that night and that she was accompanied by a man. The brakeman on the same train also recognized her as a passenger that night and said he saw a man of medium height, but he could not give any information, this morning brought in a verdict to the effect that Mrs. W. L. Lee committed suicide by taking opium. Regardless of the fact that scores and scores of people viewed the body yesterday and today, not one person was able to recognize the corpse, although many who viewed it said they were positive they had seen the woman somewhere.

It is now learned that the man giving him the name as "H. Spencer of Omaha" interviewed Coroner Cooke yesterday and asked to see the letter the woman had written to her father. After seeing it he said he did not recognize the writing. He then disappeared and if this man can be found the identity of the woman will follow.

Photographs of the corpse were taken today with the hope that someone will be able to identify it. The body was buried at Hastings this afternoon in the county burying ground.

INGERSOLL'S METHODIST FRIEND.

A Story Vouched For by a Woman Resident of Pennsylvania.

The incident was related by a Bradford lady who requested that her name be not mentioned in connection with it, reports the Bradford (Pa.) Star. "It was in Pittsburg," she said, "I believe in the Library hall, where I first heard Colonel Ingersoll speak. There was a large audience gathered there, among them being laymen and the cream of professional life of the city. Colonel Ingersoll's speech was magnificent from an oratorical standpoint, but his attack on religion and the bible was blasphemous. However, the man's powers as an orator and as an actor made a deep impression on his hearers and seemed to effect one man in particular, the Rev. Alexander Clark, pastor of the Methodist church, which everyone in Pittsburg knew as the Old Home.

"At the conclusion of the lecture Colonel Ingersoll was backing from the stage in his peculiarly graceful manner, when the Rev. Mr. Clark bounded to the forum and asked to be introduced to the speaker. This formally having been done, the minister and the agnostic joined hands, the minister with eagerness, the agnostic with a grace peculiarly his own. I well remember the pleasant, hearty, honest manner in which the great Ingersoll grasped the hand of the good minister, whose fame as a Christian of the real kind was known throughout Pittsburg.

"Mr. Clark, when he held Colonel Ingersoll's hand in his held it tightly while he lifted his eyes toward heaven and prayed in a fervent manner that God would direct the wonderful talents of his man in another and better sphere. The prayer was not a long one, but it was from the heart and had its effect upon Ingersoll. The great agnostic looked the good Christian in the eyes, thanked him most heartily for his kindness and solemnly added that Mr. Clark was the first Christian minister that had ever wished him goodspeed. He then left the platform and the audience slowly filed out of the building.

"In due season, though, shows Ingersoll as he was. It brought out the great manhood

DEBILITATED MEN

In the treatment of these nervous disorders, the most successful result is obtained from the abuse of some law of nature, early interdictions, later excesses, disastations, etc., there is a great deal to be considered. My electric treatment is deeper than most physicians think it. There is one thing that is certain. Drugs do not stimulate. They do not tone or strengthen. It is just like taking a drink of whiskey to relieve the mental depression of a man who has been financially or family troubled. I knew drugs would not cure these disorders, so I went to the electric treatment.

—Just as a business man would do who wanted to improve the condition of his business. I discovered that the weakness was not local. To get the proper results a remedy would have to be found to build up the entire organism. I knew I would have to treat the cause—not the effect, and to meet this demand I invented.

Dr. Bennett's Electric Belt.

It is a model home self-treatment and has a special attachment for men. It generates four times the Electricity of any other Electric Belt in the world, and has soft, silken, chamois-covered sponge electrodes that cannot burn or blister as do the bare metal electrodes used on all other makes of belts. My Belt has cheap imitations. My electric treatment is deeper than most physicians think it. There is one thing that is certain. Drugs do not stimulate. They do not tone or strengthen.
