The main attractions at the exposition Friday were the music in the afternoon and evening. The latter attraction is proving more and more of a pleasure at every repetition and the pleasure experienced by those a peculiarly effective picture. The other who went out Friday night was very great. The multi-colored lights, the sweet singing spired by the "Divina Comedia." of the Hawaiians and the music by the two bands makes not only a picture beautiful gil and is a fascinating study. to the eye, but a tone picture that appeals to the ear.

The swaying lines of Japanese lanterns add a touch of color to the illumination and the effect is most pleasing with the addition of gally decorated gondolas with their freight of happy people, and the fact that the singers are on the water makes that part of the program doubly enjoyable. The electric fountain feature is still proving a most happy addition to the evening pro grams and the pretty dance in the midst of the spray elicits much pleased comment. The band concerts were well attended and Bellstedt gave such a variety of music that all were satisfied, from those who have made a lifelong study of music and like only the masterpieces, to those who have ear only for the popular songs of the day.

A discussion of plans for the proper celebration of Labor day was held Friday night at a well-attended meeting of the Central At the hour of midnight lights were ex-tinguished and into the darkened hall filed pallbearers wearing mourning cassocks and carrying burning tapers. They were six in number and were followed by the council officers garbed in a similar manner with the and charge the regular admission fee of 50 cents was made and the committee that had been appointed to look the matter up so reported. Later on the executive committee of Major Wessell, arrived this afternoon and withdrew the offer and made a rate of 25 cents for each admission, not allowing the union any money concession at all. It was the sense of the meeting that the union did not want to go into its already badly depleted treasury for money to carry on the celebration and the matter was referred back to the committee with instructions to wait upon the executive committee of the exposition to see what might be accomplished. All present were in favor of observing the day in one way or another, and if no arrangement is made with the exposition the union will see that the day is celebrated at some other point and make every effort to have big attractions.

Several Prominent Men from Honoluin at the Exposition.

Captain Edward Towse of Honolulu, Ha-wallan islands, a member of the staff of President Dole and chief of the Hawaiian commission, was a visitor on the grounds Friday, having arrived the day before. He is a native of Wyoming, but has been in Hawaii for many years. On his way out he stopped in his home state and had a very pleasant reception. He was the guest of the governor of the state and several of the state officials. Captain Towse brought with him a large collection of pictures which are to be displayed at the Hawaiian exhibit as soon as they are properly framed. These pictures will add materially to the interest of the display. John F. Soper, manager of the Hawaiian News company, an old and long established book and music house of Honolulu, has been visiting the members of the Hawalian commission for a day or zo. He is on a trip through the states. He ex-pressed himself as very much pleased, not only with the Hawaiian exhibit but also with the exposition as a whole.
