J. D. Edmundson, the purchaser as trus-Mrs. Cora Tyrrell of Chicago are in the tee, represents the First National bank of this city, of which institution he is presiof their father, W. G. Nason, of Benton dent. The First National, as successor of the Citizens' State bank, held a judgment against the Lake Manawa Railway company for $18,000, which, with accrued interest, now amounts to about $23,000. The property was bought in by the bank to secure its claim.

In his report of the sale filed yesterday afternoon in the district court, Receiver

"That in the opinion and judgment of the receiver it is for the best interests of all Harry New is in the city after a two concerned that said property be seld at private sale; that pursuant to said order of court and upon the best judgment of said receiver he sold said property of the Lake Manawa Railway company in gross to J. D. Edmundson, trustee, for the sum of $17,500, it being the greatest amount that said receiver was able to obtain."

Preferred Claims Outstanding. The purchase price of $17,500 does not represent by any means the amount that the bank will have to pay for the property, as there are several thousand dollars worth of preferred claims standing against it in the shape of mechanics' liens and liens for labor. In addition to these the bank will have to still standing upon the books of the county treasurer against the property. The bank Evans for $6,000 against the Lake Manawa Railway company, which it recently purchased through Receiver Hannan for $750. This judgment was secured by young Evans for personal injuries received on the switchback. After the appointment of C. R. Hannan as receiver, however, he was never able to secure a settlement of the judgment and was finally induced to sell his claim for an amount just sufficient to pay his doctors' bills. Evans lost the sight of one eye and was disfigured for life, his face being crushed

The sale of the property to the bank, it is understood, will now wipe out entirely any equity that Colonel F. C. Reed, the former owner, may have had in it. Colonel Reed, who came here from Arkansas some seven or eight years ago and built up the place, invested in the neighborhood of $40,000 in the resort at the lake. The property, which at first was a paying investment, developed in a few years into a losing proposition and Reed became involved with the bank, being forced to borrow large sums of money to carry on the place. Some three years ago the bank brought suit, secured a judgment, appointed receiver by the district court here. The place has been managed and run under varying success. This year, owing to the limited patronage, it has been a losing ven-

Mr. Hannan, when asked yesterday as to the future plans of the bank in regard to the resort, stated he presumed he would continue to run it as before.

The Omaha & Council Bluffs Railway and Bridge company was at one time anxious to secure the property and made an offer for it, but could not make terms with Receiver Hannan. The price offered by the motor company, Mr. Hannan stated yesterday, was $15,000, and this included certain property within the Grand Plaza fence which was no owned by the Lake Manawa Railway company and valued at about $2,200. The motor company intended, if it secured possession of the resort, to build an electric line to the lake to replace the steam railway and would have built a summer theater fashioned after the Trocadero in Omaha. On Sundays and other special days the company intended running through trains from Omaha.
