FAVORABLE COURSE IN MONEY MARKET

Period of Summer Reaction is Nearing Its Close and the Future Contains Nothing But Hopeful Signs.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(Special.)—Henry Clegg, head of the banking house of Henry Clegg & Co.,

The period of summer reaction is now nearing its close, and from this time forward the ranks of Wall street operators will be reinforced by the return of absentees. It would seem that they may be safely expected to resume operations only with buoyant expectations. During their two months of absence the whole drift of affairs, both in the market and abroad, toward the maintenance of an active bull campaign during the fall months. The activity of our industries far exceed anything witnessed in the past summer.

Favorable Course.

Again, the money market has taken a course much more favorable than was feared a few weeks ago. The reaction has been much less severe than was expected. The reserves held by the banks of the interior have been justified by the current drift of internal exchange. The money market is usually flowing from the metropolitan banks to their country correspondents, with a consequent depletion of the reserves held by the banks of the interior.

The past week witnessed several sharp attacks upon values. Results were anything but encouraging to the bear side of the market. Two or three of the active shares were singled out and more or less liquidation induced by the circulation of doubts and sensational predictions of lower prices. Such shallow reactions, however, were soon composed and there was no real interruption to the favorable conditions and news which are now influencing values.

Dangerous Conditions Continue.

Prosperous conditions continue throughout the land, and the wave advances rather than the reaction. The market is still showing considerable excitement at times, but thus far there has been no corresponding increase in the supply of security bills from the foreign market. The uncertainty whether the buying in London was on foreign or American account. European financial markets were somewhat unpropitious to the Transvaal and Dreyfus affairs; but apart from these influences there is nothing unfavorable to this market in the foreign situation.

HEAT AFFECTS STOCK EXCHANGE.

Holiday feeling is pronounced and other features promote dullness. LONDON, Aug. 27.—The tone of the stock exchange remains remarkably good, though owing to the heat the holiday feeling is somewhat pronounced. The inherent strength of the markets is shown in the way prices have been maintained in spite of the depressing influence of the news from the Transvaal crisis and the curious state of things in France.

Manchester Textile Fabrics.

MANCHESTER, Aug. 27.—Last week's market was dull and inactive, though firm. There was a dogged determination displayed by yarn and cloth buyers to leave cotton alone, transactions being confined to retail assortments and aggregating much less than the output. Oldham will practically close this week for the annual holidays.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Features of the Trading and Closing Session. CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Wheat was weak all day today and closed at decline of 1/4 for both December and September. The northwest was a large seller and the demand was high to absorb offerings. The weak cash market was also a factor. Corn declined 1/4 for September, but closed only a shade lower for other months. Oats declined 1/4 and provisions 1/2.

Wheat opened weak 1/4 from 3/4 to 5/8 decline. Most of the trading was in December and September. The northwest was a large seller and the demand was high to absorb offerings. The weak cash market was also a factor.

Corn was weak and closed at decline of 1/4 for September, but closed only a shade lower for other months. Oats declined 1/4 and provisions 1/2.

Provisions were weak and closed at decline of 1/2. The market was active and the price of hogs was steady.
