

Just Arrived NEW GOLF PLAIDS—from the best looms abroad and the wonder is the surprisingly little prices for a thoroughly good fabric—$1.25 $1.50, $2.00 and $2.25 a yard.

NEW FINE GREY DRESS GOODS—There is a fine gathering of elegant dress stuffs... NEW BLACK DRESS GOODS—There's style in black goods and variety, too—the new black stuffs are ready, excellent value in black goods, at surprisingly little prices.

AGENTS FOR FOSTER KID GLOVES AND MOCALL'S PATTERNS.

THOMPSON, BELDEN & Co. THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE DRY GOODS HOUSE IN OMAHA.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING, COR. 10TH AND DOUGLAS STS.

loved ones. The reception that is awaiting them will compensate for all inconveniences and cause them soon to forget their troubles in the sincerity and cordiality of its warmth.

Wednesday's Program.

It is expected now that the reception proper will begin about 7 o'clock in the morning, by which time the guests will have had ample opportunity to enjoy a full night's sleep and prepare themselves for receiving company. Breakfast will be served by the women at the depot and it is believed that by 8:30 the parade will be ready for its march from the station along the route selected, and already announced, to the city hall. This promises to be one of the grandest and most imposing spectacles ever witnessed in this city.

connection with the old settlers' reunion, which holds its annual meeting on that date, and the exercises will be held on the fair grounds. The boys will be given a gorgeous spread and a program of speeches will be delivered. Congressman W. L. Stark delivering the address of the day. While no company was formed from here yet we have a number of boys in the First regiment, of whom our people are justly proud and whom they will delight to honor.

UNCERTAIN ADVICES FROM BARRY.

Adjutant General Sends Two Dispatches to the Governor.

LINCOLN, Aug. 28.—(Special.)—From advices received today, both from Adjutant General Barry and from the railroad, it is estimated that the first section carrying the Nebraska soldiers will not arrive until late tomorrow afternoon. One dispatch from General Barry, dated at Mounds, Utah, stated that the boys would arrive in Denver this afternoon and that the journey would be continued without delay. Another report was to the effect that the soldiers would not reach Denver until 10 o'clock this evening. If this is the case they will not reach Lincoln or Omaha before 2 or 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Governor Poynter has accepted the invitation for himself and staff to participate in the reception exercises at Omaha. Telegrams were sent to the different members of the staff this morning, asking them to report at the state house this evening. The governor's party will wait in Lincoln for the first section of the troop train and will accompany it from here to Omaha.

Governor Poynter yesterday afternoon sent the following dispatch to Adjutant General Barry, Lincoln, Neb.: "Replying to your telegram of the 27th, I have requested J. Francis of Omaha to change tickets for transportation of the Nebraska company, to include a ticket for each man from Denver to home towns. Have notified different sections contents of your message relating to the Nebraska company, to include a ticket for each man from Denver to home towns. Have notified different sections contents of your message relating to the Nebraska company, to include a ticket for each man from Denver to home towns."

W. A. POYNTER, Governor. The following telegram in response was received at the governor's office today:

MOUNDS, Utah, Aug. 27.—W. A. Poynter, Governor, Lincoln, Neb.: "Replying to your telegram of the 27th, I have requested J. Francis of Omaha to change tickets for transportation of the Nebraska company, to include a ticket for each man from Denver to home towns. Have notified different sections contents of your message relating to the Nebraska company, to include a ticket for each man from Denver to home towns. Have notified different sections contents of your message relating to the Nebraska company, to include a ticket for each man from Denver to home towns."

Members of the governor's staff were notified to appear in uniform with side arms. Nearly all are expected to respond to the invitation. The staff is comprised of the following: Brigadier General P. H. Barry, adjutant general; Colonel W. M. Dutton, acting quartermaster and commissary general; Colonel G. C. Barnes, Albin, surgeon general; Colonel Nels P. Lundeen, York, inspector general; Colonel William Neville, North Platte, judge advocate; Colonel Walter B. Jones, Omaha, adjutant general; Major Colonel Charles W. Branch, Lincoln; Colonel L. A. Nakinson, Palmyra; Colonel Julian A. Abbott, Falls City; Colonel Peter Berger, South Auburn; Colonel James H. Penbody, Omaha, aides-de-camp.

Hearty Welcome in Sight. BEATRICE, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Preparations for a reception of Company C, First Nebraska, are about completed. The company is expected home tomorrow, but this reception will not take place until later in the week, when the boys have had an opportunity for a short visit at home and among their friends. The program committee has reported a program, which is essentially as follows: Parade of the police, fire and various city departments, secret societies, bands, G. R. and W. R. C., Red Cross Society, former members of the present Company C, ex-members and returned members of the present Company C escorting the company just returning from the Philippines, escorts, citizens, schools, etc. The parade will be concluded in time enough in the morning to permit the general public and Company C to reach the Chautauqua grounds by noon, where after a short program at the tabernacle dinner will be served by the company by the entertainment and banquet committee at Stewart hall. All numbers of Company C, First Nebraska, participating in the Spanish-American war and members of the Second and Third Nebraska present are expected to partake of this banquet. Following the banquet a short program will be observed at the tabernacle, consisting of band and vocal music, an address of welcome by Rev. C. S. Dudley, response by Captain Hollingsworth, returning the flag to Company C by Miss Laura Babcock, and then after more music, a general handshaking. Other features of the program will be arranged for before the affair takes place.

Bound to Go to Omaha. GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Major F. H. Atter, a few days ago telegraphed to the members of Company M, First Nebraska, to the effect that if the company would leave the B. & M. at Hastings and come to this city to make connections for home the people of Grand Island would be pleased to royally entertain them. A answer was received this morning acknowledging thanks for the invitation, but saying the company had decided to go to Omaha. Grand Island may meet the boys when they return from Omaha.

Stella to Extend a Welcome. STELLA, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—At a mass meeting held in the new opera house last night to formulate plans for a reception to the home members of the First Nebraska, now on their way home from San Francisco, $100 was raised and a band hired for Wednesday. A banquet will be given them in the new opera house. A large crowd is expected.

ALL COMING McLEAN'S WAY

Kilbourne Only Man Who is Making Any Headway Against Him. HAS OLD THURMAN FOLLOWING WITH HIM

McLean Would Like to Have His Appointment Take Second Place, But Kilbourne is Shy.

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 28.—The democratic state convention was inaugurated today by the arrival of John McLean, who in the afternoon and Colonel James Kilbourne tonight and all the other candidates for governor and other places on the state ticket. While the attendance is unusually large, there are not many delegations present. They will come tomorrow with the visiting clubs. The preliminary meetings do not occur until 4 p. m. tomorrow, and the convention does not convene until Wednesday. There has been no change today in the figures. The arrival of McLean has made his friends more enthusiastic and the arrival of Kilbourne has made some of his friends more despondent. The other candidates for governor are not doing much except shaking hands, with the exception of Sherwood, who seems to be in line for second place. The McLean men are so confident of not less than seventy-six more than is necessary on the first ballot that they are figuring on their running mates. They prefer Colonel James Kilbourne for lieutenant governor, but so far neither he nor his friends will concede the nomination to McLean or accept the second place. If the Kilbourne men hold out, it is likely that the ticket will be McLean and Sherwood. The McLean men held a conference late this afternoon and gave assurance afterward of a majority of seventy-eight over all together with claims of seventeen sure and probably eighteen of the twenty-one congressional districts. This would assure them control of all the committees tomorrow night and absolute control of the convention.

Plans for Organization.

Judge William Mooney will be temporary chairman of the convention, but he is not the permanent presiding officer. The candidacy of McLean has brought many prominent men here who have not attended conventions for many years. Those who are from other states. Nearly all the "old guard" that was in McLean's organization in 1885, when he sought to succeed Sherman as a senator, are here and all of the workers he marshaled two years ago against Hanna are here. Kilbourne has not only the old friends of Sherman, but quite an army of new men of his following. All of the candidates seem to have brought in all the "rooters" available.

The indications tonight are that there will be opposition to the adoption of the proposed constitution that provides a more definite plan of party organization and a uniform system for selecting delegates to all democratic conventions.

Anti-McLean Movement.

After the arrival of Colonel James Kilbourne tonight the friends of all other candidates except those of McLean are around him and there was quite an anti-McLean movement and a demonstration in honor of Kilbourne.

Colonel Kilbourne made a fine impression and proved a popular leader, but neither he nor his friends would give up the idea of a McLean movement and a demonstration in honor of Kilbourne.

A complaint was filed against Fred Jeschner, an employe of Cudahy's packing house, who was charged with the murder of a woman. The complaint is in the name of Mrs. Jacob Earnest, who says Jeschner struck her because she would not dance with him Sunday afternoon at the barbers' picnic at Fort Omaha.

E. S. Grouse and Mrs. E. W. Allensby, who were arrested by the Omaha police Saturday night in a Farnam street lodging house on complaint of the woman's divorced husband, have been released. The differences between the parties were compromised by the marriage of Grouse and the woman and the ex-husband declared himself satisfied.

A complaint has been filed against John Anderson on the charge of theft of a watch from the editorial rooms of the World-Register. The watch was in a pocket of a coat, which he hung on a wall. It was missed soon afterward and Officer Shover recovered it in a Douglas street lodging house.

People do not always realize the personal interest that the wholesale grocer takes in the articles of food which he furnishes customers.

Some people believe that the grocer is influenced by the profit he may derive, and that his recommendations are governed entirely by monetary motives, but this is not always true. On the contrary, it is believed that a majority of the better class of grocers are thoroughly honest in their desire to furnish their patrons with really pure and nourishing food.

The following from John Wallgren, a prominent grocer of Portland, Oregon, may be of interest: "I am on my tenth case of Grape-Nuts and my trade is still increasing. I have been bothered with a weak stomach for five years. I have tried a number of remedies and patent medicines without relief. I am eating Grape-Nuts three times a day, and after using three packages I must admit that I am relieved of my weak stomach and feel like a new man."

There is a reason for this. A weak stomach can take Grape-Nuts and digest them without difficulty, for Grape-Nuts are actually pre-digested and ready for immediate transformation into rich blood and good strong tissue, both of muscle and brain. They are generally admitted to be the most healthful and most nourishing food in the world, in which the starch of the cereals is transformed into grape-sugar and this is done without the use of any sort of drug or acid whatsoever. On the contrary, all of the foodstuffs are purely mechanical, using simple machinery in which to grow the (diastase) and heat, but the work of the human system is copied almost exactly, with the result that the food is ready for immediate assimilation.

The flavor is exquisite and delicate, the sugar of grape sugar can be detected, the food is absolutely free from cane or beet sugar, but the fine, almost microscopic, particles of grape sugar can be seen glistening on the surface of the small granules. Grape-Nuts with cream furnishes the most delicious breakfast food in existence. Nut is food is in use now by practically all of the well-to-do families in America. The demand has been so great that the factory has been running steadily, both night and day, for upwards of a year, and the fame of the American breakfast dish has spread to many of the other countries of the world.

The subscription from butchers alone has reached $1,000,000. The public will be permitted to subscribe $2,000,000 and the remaining stock. It is believed, will be taken up by outsiders. It is proposed to start the concern with a working capital of $5,000,000.

REV. TREZF WILL ACCEPT

Able Young Preacher to Become Pastor of Kountze Memorial Church.

A telegram received from Rev. Edward F. Trezf of St. Joseph conveys the information that he will accept the call recently extended to him by Kountze Memorial Lutheran church of this city and will assume the pastorate September 10. He has resigned his position as editor of the St. Joseph Herald, and will prepare at once to move to his new field.

While Rev. Trezf's acceptance was not unexpected, it was received with marked satisfaction by the members of his prospective congregation and by others who are glad to welcome to this city a man of the rank of a young man, Rev. Trezf has acquired an enviable reputation in two professions, and during his temporary occupancy of the Omaha pulpit he impressed those who heard him as a pulpit orator of high merit. Aside from his genial manner and social qualities were subjects of the most favorable comment, and the members of the church consider themselves especially fortunate in their selection.

Rev. Trezf was educated at Midland college at Atchison, Mo., and later he studied theology, coupled with a post graduate course, at Princeton university. During his student days he drifted into newspaper work as a means of defraying his expenses and this led to his subsequent experience as editor of the St. Joseph Herald.

Immediately after he completed his college course, Rev. Trezf organized the First English Lutheran church of St. Joseph, accomplished the erection of a handsome church edifice and built the church up to a flourishing standard. He was ordained a minister in 1894 and continued his church work until late in 1897, when he was induced to accept the editorial management of the Herald. His newspaper work, however, did not prevent him from preaching almost as regularly as though he had a regular pastorate and his ability in the pulpit created a continuing demand for his presence, which he seldom refused.

It was in accordance with this custom that he accepted an invitation to fill the pulpit at Kountze Memorial church after the resignation of Rev. Turkle left the church without a pastor, and the enthusiastic call from the congregation followed. He preached in Omaha Sunday, and after the services he said that he had almost decided to accept. He declined to give a final answer, however, until after he had received from St. Joseph, and the news received last night confirms the general expectation of the congregation.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gerke, a fifteen-pound boy.

Miss Mary Kindley, a guest of the Mercer hotel, filed a complaint against the head cook at the hotel, charging him with assault. Kindley says he had an altercation with the cook, who struck him without provocation.

Gerlie Kelly, the woman who eloped from Omaha sometime ago with a barber named Bert Campbell and subsequently tried to commit suicide, has returned to her home in Omaha. Her companion will stick to the barber business at Springfield.

PROGRESS OF DREYFUS TRIAL

M. Paray-Javal Proceeds to Dissect Bertillon's Theory.

GENERAL MERCIER AMONG SPECTATORS Appears Ill at Ease and Has Little to Say to Those Around Him—Army Men Ostracise Freystaetter.

RENNES, Aug. 28.—When the fourth week of the Dreyfus trial opened in the Lycee building this morning General Mercier, who was minister of war when Dreyfus was first tried, in 1894, was present as usual in the front row of the witness seats, thus definitely setting at rest the reports as to his having fled to the Island of Jersey and as to his arrest. The first witness called today was M. Paray-Javal, the draughtsman, whose evidence was interrupted on Saturday by the adjournment of the court.

M. Paray-Javal was called by the defense to refute the system by which M. Bertillon, chief of the anthropometric department of the Paris prefecture of police, last week attempted to prove that the prisoner wrote the famous bordereau in a disguised hand and by means of a key-word "Interest," and that it could not have been written by Esterhazy, although the document was in a handwriting resembling that of Esterhazy.

With the aid of a blackboard M. Paray-Javal demonstrated the fallacy of M. Bertillon's calculations and criticized the latter's unfairness in not subjecting Esterhazy's handwriting to the same tests as the prisoner's writing. At the same time the draughtsman declared that even if M. Bertillon had done so the results would not have proved anything.

In brief, the morning's session may be said to have been a field day for the handwriting experts, who devoted themselves to contradicting one another's evidence. The public followed the depositions listlessly, but the judges and counsel listened with the greatest attention.

General De Boisdeffre was not present in cheerful today. He hardly said a word to General Gouze during the whole morning, but during the brief suspension of the court's sitting he and General Gouze and Roget walked up and down the courtyard of the Lycee engaged in conversation.

General De Boisdeffre was not present in court today. He has been absent from the last few sessions, and it is rumored here that he is desirous of leaving the sinking ship of the general staff.

Freystaetter Center of Interest. The center of interest in the courtyard was Captain Freystaetter of the marine infantry, who testified so favorably to Dreyfus on Saturday and who seemingly gave the lie to Colonel Maurel, who was president of the court martial of 1894, in a most important feature of the latter's evidence.

The captain, dressed in a blue-black tunic, indigo blue trousers and wearing his five decorations, held a veritable reception of his friends, who pressed around him and shook his hand. These friends, however, were all civilians. No single uniformed officer spoke to him, which is the first fruit of frankness and a clear indication of the determination of the military clique to ostracize him.

When the two first witnesses had testified and argued against M. Bertillon's system it was the opinion of the spectators of Dreyfus that if the statements of the witnesses were correct they had simply pulverized M. Bertillon. The latter wished to reply, but the president of the court, Colonel Jouvast, declined to allow the specialist to go over his evidence again, taking the ground that the evidence would never end if every expert did the same.

An amusing scene followed. M. Bertillon pleaded that he had a personal statement to make and started the platform, but he had hardly uttered half a dozen words when Colonel Jouvast saw he was merely repeating his evidence, and, to the great satisfaction of the audience, curtly told the specialist to leave the platform, which he did, discomfited.

Expert Confesses His Error. M. Testonier's testimony against Dreyfus followed and then M. Charvay, the expert who had previously declared Dreyfus was the author of the bordereau, was called to the witness bar. His testimony proved to be of the greatest interest, as he came to confess he had made an error and said he now convinced that Esterhazy and not Dreyfus wrote the bordereau. This announcement made a deep impression on the court and was greeted with a general murmur of satisfaction. The next expert, M. Pelletier, also testified favorably to Dreyfus.

M. Couard, another expert, then deposed that as a result of his examination he had become convinced that the bordereau was not written by Esterhazy, but he could not say it was written by Dreyfus, because he had not seen the prisoner's handwriting. This witness kept the court in a continual roar of laughter by the extraordinary modulations of his voice, misplaced emphasis and gestures.

The final witness, M. Varinaud, maintained the declaration he had made before the court of cessation, that the bordereau was written by Esterhazy.

Colonel Jouvast then announced that M. de Freystaetter, who resigned as minister of war May 6 of the present year and who was succeeded by M. Krantz, who in turn was succeeded by General de Marquis de Gallifet on the downfall of the Dupuy ministry, would be among the witnesses tomorrow and the session was closed with the request that a rogatory commission be sent to Colonel Paty de Clam, whose illness prevents his attendance in court, to which Colonel Jouvast agreed.

This step does not satisfy the defense, but they acquiesced to the commission taking Du Paty de Clam's testimony on the principal that half a loaf is better than no bread.

Maitre Demange of counsel for the defense asked the clerk of the court to read the evidence of M. Athalin before the court of cessation in regard to the genuineness of Esterhazy's letter, which M. Couard doubted, and the evidence of others showing how the handwriting was copied by Esterhazy to its genuineness, which was done.

M. Varinaud, who, with Mm. Couard and Bolhomme, acted as expert in the Esterhazy case, was the next witness. He adhered to his report that the bordereau was not the work of Esterhazy and said he persisted in this opinion in spite of Esterhazy's statements to the contrary. Before adjourning for the day Colonel Jouvast announced that M. de Freystaetter, former minister of war, M. Gallifet and Colonel Cordier would be examined tomorrow.

The commissary Major Carrier, arose and said: "I have handed the court a letter regarding the health of Colonel Du Paty de Clam. It indicates that Du Paty de Clam is writing his evidence and that he will be in court to us. The deposition has not arrived. I therefore ask the president of the court to be kind enough to instruct the reporter of the second Paris court-martial to have the evidence of Du Paty de Clam taken by court commission."

Colonel Jouvast assented to this and at 11:50 o'clock the court adjourned for the day.

To Prosecute General Mercier. LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail says he learns on excellent authority that General Mercier will be prosecuted in connection with the Dreyfus affair.

Mayor and Council Enjoined. Judge Favest has issued a restraining order by which the mayor and city council

PROGRESS OF DREYFUS TRIAL

M. Paray-Javal Proceeds to Dissect Bertillon's Theory.

GENERAL MERCIER AMONG SPECTATORS Appears Ill at Ease and Has Little to Say to Those Around Him—Army Men Ostracise Freystaetter.

RENNES, Aug. 28.—When the fourth week of the Dreyfus trial opened in the Lycee building this morning General Mercier, who was minister of war when Dreyfus was first tried, in 1894, was present as usual in the front row of the witness seats, thus definitely setting at rest the reports as to his having fled to the Island of Jersey and as to his arrest. The first witness called today was M. Paray-Javal, the draughtsman, whose evidence was interrupted on Saturday by the adjournment of the court.

M. Paray-Javal was called by the defense to refute the system by which M. Bertillon, chief of the anthropometric department of the Paris prefecture of police, last week attempted to prove that the prisoner wrote the famous bordereau in a disguised hand and by means of a key-word "Interest," and that it could not have been written by Esterhazy, although the document was in a handwriting resembling that of Esterhazy.

With the aid of a blackboard M. Paray-Javal demonstrated the fallacy of M. Bertillon's calculations and criticized the latter's unfairness in not subjecting Esterhazy's handwriting to the same tests as the prisoner's writing. At the same time the draughtsman declared that even if M. Bertillon had done so the results would not have proved anything.

In brief, the morning's session may be said to have been a field day for the handwriting experts, who devoted themselves to contradicting one another's evidence. The public followed the depositions listlessly, but the judges and counsel listened with the greatest attention.

General De Boisdeffre was not present in cheerful today. He hardly said a word to General Gouze during the whole morning, but during the brief suspension of the court's sitting he and General Gouze and Roget walked up and down the courtyard of the Lycee engaged in conversation.

General De Boisdeffre was not present in court today. He has been absent from the last few sessions, and it is rumored here that he is desirous of leaving the sinking ship of the general staff.

Freystaetter Center of Interest. The center of interest in the courtyard was Captain Freystaetter of the marine infantry, who testified so favorably to Dreyfus on Saturday and who seemingly gave the lie to Colonel Maurel, who was president of the court martial of 1894, in a most important feature of the latter's evidence.

The captain, dressed in a blue-black tunic, indigo blue trousers and wearing his five decorations, held a veritable reception of his friends, who pressed around him and shook his hand. These friends, however, were all civilians. No single uniformed officer spoke to him, which is the first fruit of frankness and a clear indication of the determination of the military clique to ostracize him.

When the two first witnesses had testified and argued against M. Bertillon's system it was the opinion of the spectators of Dreyfus that if the statements of the witnesses were correct they had simply pulverized M. Bertillon. The latter wished to reply, but the president of the court, Colonel Jouvast, declined to allow the specialist to go over his evidence again, taking the ground that the evidence would never end if every expert did the same.

An amusing scene followed. M. Bertillon pleaded that he had a personal statement to make and started the platform, but he had hardly uttered half a dozen words when Colonel Jouvast saw he was merely repeating his evidence, and, to the great satisfaction of the audience, curtly told the specialist to leave the platform, which he did, discomfited.

Expert Confesses His Error. M. Testonier's testimony against Dreyfus followed and then M. Charvay, the expert who had previously declared Dreyfus was the author of the bordereau, was called to the witness bar. His testimony proved to be of the greatest interest, as he came to confess he had made an error and said he now convinced that Esterhazy and not Dreyfus wrote the bordereau. This announcement made a deep impression on the court and was greeted with a general murmur of satisfaction. The next expert, M. Pelletier, also testified favorably to Dreyfus.

M. Couard, another expert, then deposed that as a result of his examination he had become convinced that the bordereau was not written by Esterhazy, but he could not say it was written by Dreyfus, because he had not seen the prisoner's handwriting. This witness kept the court in a continual roar of laughter by the extraordinary modulations of his voice, misplaced emphasis and gestures.

The final witness, M. Varinaud, maintained the declaration he had made before the court of cessation, that the bordereau was written by Esterhazy.

Colonel Jouvast then announced that M. de Freystaetter, who resigned as minister of war May 6 of the present year and who was succeeded by M. Krantz, who in turn was succeeded by General de Marquis de Gallifet on the downfall of the Dupuy ministry, would be among the witnesses tomorrow and the session was closed with the request that a rogatory commission be sent to Colonel Paty de Clam, whose illness prevents his attendance in court, to which Colonel Jouvast agreed.

This step does not satisfy the defense, but they acquiesced to the commission taking Du Paty de Clam's testimony on the principal that half a loaf is better than no bread.

Maitre Demange of counsel for the defense asked the clerk of the court to read the evidence of M. Athalin before the court of cessation in regard to the genuineness of Esterhazy's letter, which M. Couard doubted, and the evidence of others showing how the handwriting was copied by Esterhazy to its genuineness, which was done.

M. Varinaud, who, with Mm. Couard and Bolhomme, acted as expert in the Esterhazy case, was the next witness. He adhered to his report that the bordereau was not the work of Esterhazy and said he persisted in this opinion in spite of Esterhazy's statements to the contrary. Before adjourning for the day Colonel Jouvast announced that M. de Freystaetter, former minister of war, M. Gallifet and Colonel Cordier would be examined tomorrow.

The commissary Major Carrier, arose and said: "I have handed the court a letter regarding the health of Colonel Du Paty de Clam. It indicates that Du Paty de Clam is writing his evidence and that he will be in court to us. The deposition has not arrived. I therefore ask the president of the court to be kind enough to instruct the reporter of the second Paris court-martial to have the evidence of Du Paty de Clam taken by court commission."

Colonel Jouvast assented to this and at 11:50 o'clock the court adjourned for the day.

To Prosecute General Mercier. LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail says he learns on excellent authority that General Mercier will be prosecuted in connection with the Dreyfus affair.

Mayor and Council Enjoined. Judge Favest has issued a restraining order by which the mayor and city council

First Nebraska Day.

2:30 p. m.—Concert in Auditorium by Bellstedt's Band. 3:30 p. m.—Running Races, Indian Pony and Foot Races and Indian Squaw Races. 7:00 p. m.—Concert by Bellstedt's Concert Band on Plaza. 8:45 p. m.—Electrical Fountain, with Serpentine Dance. 9:15 p. m.—Grand Display of Fireworks Specially Arranged for First Nebraska Regiment.

ON THE MIDWAY.

The Cream of the Midway

THE BATTLE OF MISSIONARY RIDGE & LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN

THE NEW DARKNESS AND DAWN; OR, Heaven and Hell.

THE OLD PLANTATION The Exposition Fun Factory.

HOBSON Sinking the Merrimaa

THE MOORISH PALACE AND GREAT PASSION PLAY.

WARACRAPH The Battle of Manila.

PHILIPPINE VILLAGE

THE GREAT NAVAL BATTLE IN THE TUNNEL.

SCENIC RAILWAY

HAWAIIAN VILLAGE

MEET ME AT Pabst On the Midway.

THE MILLARD

ARE YOU GOING TO GET $10.00 AUGUST 31st?

THE BUFFALO BILLS' WILD WEST ROUGH RIDERS

Batle of San Juan Hill

MONDAY, SEPT. 16

TWICE DAILY, Rain or Shine, 2 and 8 p. m.

BOYD'S THE WOODWARD STOCK CO.

THE TROCADERO

OPHEUM WILL OPEN

EXCURSION STEAMER

THE ARTIST'S STUDIO

The Art Feature of the Exposition. West Midway.

THE NEW STREETS OF CAIRO

Only Oriental Show on Midway. Ride the Camel. See the Egyptian Dancing Girls.

CHUTES CAFE

ON WEST MIDWAY. The Coolest and Most Amusing Place on the Exposition Grounds.

MERRY GO ROUND

ON WEST MIDWAY. Attractive and amusing entertainment—delightful resting place for ladies and gentlemen. Admission free. W. H. DOLAN, Manager.

Society's Resort

The Cuban Village. The delectable feature of the Midway—depicting life in Cuba and the Island of Porto Rico.

Schlitz Pavilion

Question—Why is SCHLITZ PAVILION crowded all the time? Answer—Because rotiferwurst and potato salad sell for 15c.

Deep Sea Diving & Novelty Co.

Opposite Faber building, West Midway.

WE HAVE HER NOW

In Her Own Aquarium. CORA BECKWITH. Champion Lady Swimmer of the World. See Magic Stairs—That's the Place. WEST MIDWAY.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE BUFFALO BILLS' WILD WEST ROUGH RIDERS

Newly Added Features. Buffalo Bill's Wild West Rough Riders. American Cowboys, U. S. Cavalry, U. S. Artillery, Buffalo Soldiers of all Nations, Heroic Horsemen, Scenic Tri