BUSINESS IN RETAIL WAY IMPROVING

Rapid Advance in Values Makes a Good Profit for Jobbers, with Large Stocks on Hand-Talk About Live Stock Prices.

The beginning of the fall season finds the retail trade of Omana greatly improved over what It was two or three weeks ago. People who have been spending the summor among the mountains, at the lakes or seashore, are flocking back to the city and resuming thielr accustomed places. The same trains that bring back Omaha's wan-The dering chilzens are also bringing in a good many exposition visitors and the city is visibly filling up. A much larger population is to be noticed about the hotels and boarding houses than was the case two weeks ago. This being so, it is hardly necessary to report improvement in retail trade, as more people always means more business. About the busicst men in the west are the jobbers, who have more than enough to do. August business with jobbers almost invariably shows a handsome gain over the same month last year and yet, as a rule, it is stated that trade cannot be regarded as earlier than usual. The increased busi-bess can, therefore, be safely regarded as natural and not the result of the antici-bation of their wants on the part of re-tailers in tributary territory. The facts are that retail merchants, especially of Ne-braska, have grown very cautions in recent years and are not in the habit of buying recklessily or any farther in advance than the requirements of the trade demand, so that the very excellent trade doing may be regarded as of an entirely healthy character. In New York City they are predicting, by reason of the scarcity of many lines of mer-thandise and the very encouraging pros-pects, that fail buying will be prolonged this season to a late date, and they are tooking to that as a feature of strength in the market. About the busiest men in the west are the market. A Feature of the Jobbing Trade. One of the characteristic features of the jobbing trade has been the rapid advance in values, to which attention has been called frequently. While such advances are beldom looked upon by consumers with favor, they mean a great deal to the jobeddom looked upon by consumers with favor, they mean a great deal to the job-ber. The representative of a local house remarked this week that his firm made more money last month in the advance in the value of its stock of merchandise than during the twelve months of some less fa-vorable years. The policy of the firm in ouestion has been to buy heavily in ad-vance of actual requirements, and this has been the policy of a great many houses. For some time back merchants have been easking themselves when the upward ten-dency in values was to come to an end, for an end must be reached sconer or later. There must come a time when either con-sumption will decrease sufficiently to allow an accumulation in the hands of manu-facturers sufficient to at least bring ad-vances to a hait, or prices will be carried to a point where importations of merchan-dise on a large scale will be possible. In contrasting the present boom in the from and steel trade with that of twenty years are, the Iron Age mentions that at that time prices were such that Immense quan-tities of foreign material were imported to meet a demand which was largely speculatitles of foreign material were imported tities of forsign material were imported to meet a demand which was largely specula-tive, even when it appeared to be for con-mumption. Now the prices at home are so low, much as they have risen in six or eight months, that there is a wide margin between domestic prices and the prices at which foreign pig iron, billets and rails could be laid down here duty paid. On mome of the higher forms of manufactured term and steel the margin is not wide; our could be laid down here duty plue. On some of the higher forms of manufactured iron and steel the margin is not wide; our brices cannot be forced up much more without making importation possible. Al-ready a few lots have been imported be-cause of special needs here which made delay impossible. But while the domestic brices might easily reach the foreign brices on structural material and a con-tinuation of recent advances would even carry them before very long to the foreign brice plus tariff on pig, billets and rails. vet it is also true that the foreign fur-naces and mills are extremely busy; many of them have sold their products for months shead, some of them till well into next ituation were favorable for imports. This is consideration will not discourage further advances here, though any further advance maports. Arefulltural implement people are con-

Agricultural implement people are con-efferably interested in the report that one of the largest corporations engaged in the manufacture of havester machinery, after an existence of five years as a corpora-tion, has decided to give up its charter and return to the co-partnership system. The reasons given for the change are the grow-ing hostility on the part of the buying pub-lo to corporations. OATS-20%C. lio to corporations.

A week ago. Minneapolis, in addition, wired that re-celpts by Tuesday, the next session on exchange, would probably reach 2,000, which added materially to the bearishness of the situation, though it did not have any effect at hrst. A wild spurt took place in corn shortly after the opening. The advance in that grain was so rapid that for the time being it took wheat shorts off their feet and sent prices up about  $\frac{1}{2}$  of September and about  $\frac{3}{2}$  of December. While the in-fluence of the corn firmness lasted there was considerable activity in wheat, but when realizing set in in the coarser grains and prices began to ease off wheat readily followed. The influence of the heavy ex-pected northwest receipts then began to be feit. Heavy shorts who had held aloof from the market during the sail and pressed prices downward. The stock market has shown the effects this week of profit-taking by the organized pools, which were active last week in advancing the prices of certain raliroad stocks. Those stocks have suffered most acutely, but the whole kist has shown an increasing disposition to sag. Early in the week the pools were sharply on. The short interest in some of the in-dustrials was mensive to the upward movement and was inched to cover, help-ing the strength. The various professional maneuvers were the surface indications of the culmination of the recent bull move-ment and the market lapsed into duliness and neglect after they had been concluded. There was no heavy liquidation in evidence outside the speculative profit-taking and the market took on the condition of left-argy and sluggishness which indicates the curities and the unwillingness of buyers to raiso their blds.
