MAIN DISPUTE OVER TERM SUZERAINTY

Decision of British Government to Send Ten Thousand Troops to Natal Satisfies Demands of the War Party.

(Copyright, 1899, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Sept. 9 .- (New York World Cablegram-Special Telegram.)-The decision of the British cabinet to dispatch 10,000 troops to Natal has pleased the war party here, though the more bellicose among them express regret that the outcome of the cabinet meeting was not to dispatch an ultimatum Salisbury's moderating influence outweighed for the present Chamberlain's desire to force a war. There are many people who believe that no remedy exists that will cure rheumatism. They have tried dozens of sure cures, and still they suffer, but all such cases are assured that at last a remedy has been discovered that has cured thousands of so-cailed hopeless cases. The name of the remedy is Gloria Tonic, and is even endorsed by physicians.

Dr. Quintero of the University of Venezuela to whom Gloria Tonic had been recommended by the U. S. Consul testifies that he used it with excellent success among his patients. Mr. F.
