A good sized crowd and one that was much interested, assembled at the Exposition race course Thursday to watch a card of four good running races, with two Indian races added for variety.

Several new horses were on the track, and the test of their speed was an interesting feature. The betting was lively during the afternoon, which added a zest to the sport, and with the spirited music furnished by the band as a sort of an invigoration, the program was thoroughly enjoyable alike to novices and to the sports, who had their money up, and won and lost heavily.

The first race was for a distance of fiveeighths of a mile for a purse of $75. There were five starters, and they got away in pretty good shape. Royal Lancer won first money, Spolaska second and Sir Walter Time: 1:041/2.

Humming Bird was the favorite in the second race, but she was left at the post. Cap Hardy made the best time, and came under the wire in the lead, with New Moon at his heels. Al Stokes was third. Distance four and one-half furlongs. Time: 0:58.

There was considerable jockeying at the post in the third race, but they finally made a pretty good get-away. Two new horses made the start in a field of five. Dad's Daughter won the larger part of the purse, when nearly everyone looked for Tidal Wave to get it. Forget-Me-Not was second and Tidal Wave came in third. May-I-Go and Elsie Zase, the new horses, came in fourth and fifth. Distance, nine-sixteenths of a mile. Time: 0:58, Purse, $75.

The last race was the one in which most interest was centered, owing to the fact that Robinson, a growing favorite, was a starter. The betting on this race was all in favor of Robinson, but he was a disappointment. He not only got away from the post last, but was hampered by too much weight, which wore him out before he reached the wire. Tarranette won the heat, with Miss Chambers but a neck back of her, and Robinson came third. Distance, seven-eighths of a mile. Time: 1:27. Purse, $75.

The Indian races were comical. ponies got off in splendid style, breaking like one horse from the post. As soon as they started the riders began to whip and kept it up until their steeds came under Both races were once around the track In the first heat James Red Cloud the success which will attend the introduction of baseball on the Exposition grounds promises to be most flattering. There is every reason to believe that these games will be of high merit. The Omaha Originals are composed of practically the same players who have won so many victories this peason, while the Havelock team is said to be a strong one, so that a close and exciting contest may be expected. Splendid facilities have been provided in the way of a diamond with ample accommodations for all who may desire to witness the game from the grandstand. No extra charge will be made for the ball game and Sunday afternoon the reduced price of admission applies to all the privlleges of the grounds as well as the ball Workmen, the Switchmen's union and game. Both games will be called at 3:30.

SCENES ALONG THE MIDWAY. Excursionists and Free Fruit Add

Much to Midway Crowds. Burlington yesterday were not to be disappointed by the threatening weather. They came to see the whole show, and they have swarmed in and around the principal attractions. The new bill at the Artist's Studio. "An Affair of Honor," proved its great popularity again and again. The duel to the death by the two prominent French belles as they pose in the different attractive attitudes in their deshabille dueling custom, ereated considerable enthusiasm.

The one place on the Midway that cutches everybody, the young and the old, is the up-and-down Scenic Railway. The excitement of the rapid ride grows with each trip around the labyrinth of tunnels and beautiful scenery that encircles the track.

Some ornamental stands are being placed in the Colonial building which add much to he appearance of the interior of that structure. The Hawaiian exhibit is to be further milarged by the addition of a fine exhibition of coffee and No. 1 sugar. The sugar is as a comes from the mill before it is refined. Sixty-eight guards were sworn in Thursday at 1 o clock and are now special policemen under the direction of Sergeant Hayes, who takes his orders from Chief White. The force of guards has been made compact, and they have been given authority to see that things are run right on the grounds. The attraction for today will be the Indian sham battle on the East Bluff tract, at 4 o'clock. Great preparations have been made to make the fight a realistic one, and Bell-stedt's Concert band will give two fine musical programs as usual, one in the afternoon in the Auditorium and in the evening at the usual Venetian Carnival.

A rivalry has sprung up between Captain Billy Johnson, the high diver, and Jack Inana, a native Hawakan. To settle the dispute a match swimming race between the two has been arranged. They will swim for 150 yards and a big purse will be hung up for the event. There will alro be other events of an exciting nature, and they are open to all comers.

Difficult Point in Law.

In rendering a decision in the forcible entry and detainer case of Timothy Kelley versus Margaret Huston Thursday afternoon Justice Pritchard held that a second action to collect rent and oust a tenant could not be begun while appeal proceedings were being taken in the first and after a good and sufficient bond had been given. The second action was based on the failure to pay a different menth's rent than that on which the first one was based, but as after the bond had been given the court held that it was secured by the bond and therefore could not be made the subject of an action. First Ward Candidate Wins an Easy Victory in the Democratic Primaries.

LIKELY TO CARRY BROADWELL WITH HIM

Power's Friends Claim the Nomination on the First Ballot and Other Candidates Practically Give Up the Fight.

The result of the democratic primaries Thursday was a sweeping victory for John Power, the First ward candidate for sheriff. and his friends are confident that he will be an easy winner on the first ballot. The other candidates are generally disposed to consider themselves out of the race and it seems certain that Power is the man that the republican candidate will have to beat. Frank Broadwell, the South Omaha candidate for clerk of the district court, was tied up with Power and it is regarded as probable that Power's victory will carry the South Omaha man through. This leaves the situation decidedly less complicated than it would have been if Power had been defeated and a lot of personal ambitions were duly interred when the returns were received last night.

For the most part the primaries were devoid of feature. The lack of interest was something remarkable in view of the stubborn contests that were scheduled in every ward, and apparently the rank and file of the party took little interest in the re-The only really lively fight was in the Fourth ward, where 315 votes were cast and Milier was defeated by about 85 majority. The only ward that Power lost was the Sixth, where Pat Mostyn's neighbors pulled his delegation through by a small majority. As Power's backers practically conceded this ward to Mostyn before the poles opened the Power victory was practically complete.

Contest in the Seventh Ward. In the Seventh ward James Schneiderwind and some of his friends created a diversion by an organized and successful effort to defeat the compromise delegation that had been agreed on by J. J. O'Connor and Charley Fanning. After 3 o'clock they began to throw in their votes by printing the names of their candidates with a rubber stamp, and they elected their men by from 10 to 40 majority out of 85 votes cast. The defeated delegates assert that there was only one delegation legally filed with the secretary of the county central committee and they will probably make a contest in the convention.

On the face of the returns Power claims over 100 votes on the first ballot. It only requires 91 to elect. He claims the First, Second, Fourth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth ward delegations entire, 7 votes in the Third, 5 in the Fifth and the solid vote of South Omaha. It is thought that this estimate may be exaggerated in one or two cases, but that this will be offset by the votes he will get in the country precincts. Miller has the majority of the country precincts, half of the Fifth ward and part of the Third, and Mestyn has the Sixth. Their combined strength is inadequate to head Power off unless they can break into his lines before the convention meets.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Yesterday's democratic primaries were fully as lively, if not more so, than the primaries about which there was so much talk a few weeks ago. It was the same old fight between the Ensor faction and the Johnston faction and Ensor won hands down, carrying every ward in the city. Just as the primaries were opening at noon Deputy Sheriffs Stryker and Lewis appeared with an order from Judge Dickinson of the district court restraining Mayor Ensor, Chief Carroll and the entire police force from interfering in any manner with the casting of ballots in the First and Fourth wards. This restraining order was issued under the application of Ed Johnston and was served by the deputies on all of the parties concerned before 1 o'clock. When it became noised about that Johnston had secured a restraining order for the purpose of boistering up his chances the tide in his favor began to turn toward the opposition and the Johnston faction was completely snowed under. There was a lively contest in the First ward, but the Ensor ticket won out without any trouble. From the start the voting was brisk, both sides working hard. Members of the Ensor faction, however, appeared so confident along toward the midrle of the afternoon that efforts were slacked up a bit. Not so with the opposition. Some of the anti-Ensorites in this ward sulked in their tents and refused to come out to vote, but the number was small as compared with the total number of votes cast.

Rhodie Redmond manipulated things in there was no contest. The voting place was located at Thirteenth and Monroe streets, two blocks north of the county line, and on this account only thirty-one patriots considered it worth their while to charter a conveyance and ride two miles for the fun of voting.

Things were quite interesting in the Third ward and one or two small disturbances resulted from altercations between friends of candidates. The result was entirely favorable to the Ensor faction.

The real battle ground was in the Fourth ward, which is Johnston's home ward and he along with some of his followers made the fight of his life. Backed by his restraining order Johnston thought he had things coming his way, but the total of the count showed that Ensor's high man received 117 votes to Johnston's 80. At none f the precincts were Ensor challengers noticeable. The opposition, however, were out in force in this respect and challenged quite a number of votes P. C. Caldwell and Jacob Levy were se-

The delegates are: First Ward-J. S. Walters, Henry Oest Charles E. Scarr, J. C. Collins. Second Ward-Rhodie Redmond, Ed Conley, Joe Ferdy, Andy McGuire. Third Ward-J. J. Jackman, John Fallon J. J. Ryan, Tim Maloney.

Fourth Ward-J. E. O'Hern, Tom Gilles pie, Sam Mort, Patrick Hannigan. The name of Henry Oest appeared on the opposition ticket in the First ward and Oest received more votes than any of the other delegates. The placing of Oest's name on the opposition ticket was done because James Pollard, one of the original Ensor delegates, withdrew from the race the day before the primaries. The delegation is solid for Broadwell for clerk of the district court, but is somewhat divided on a choice for sheriff.

Improvements on West L Street. A contract has just been let by the county commissioners for the grading of L street from the city limits on the west to the Papilion. The steep hills on this road are to be cut down so that there will be no more than a 5 per cent grade on any portion of the road. This work contemplates the removal of 25,000 cubic yards of dirt. Work is to be commenced at once and hurried to completion in order that a first-class road may be established before winter sets

Delinquent Tax List. The delinquent tax list is due at the county treasurer's office today and it is expected that the force of clerks in the city treasurer's office will complete the compiling of this report today or tomorrow. While the totals are incomplete, enough s known to show that the delinquent list this year will not be as long as it was a year ago. For the past few months property owners have been paying up back taxes much more rapidly than usual. This applies also to special taxes. More money on back taxes has been paid into the city treasurer's office this year than for a number of years past. The reason is that property owners are getting big rents and with money easier than formerly they can better af-

Creighton University Athletics.

From present indications unusual interest will be taken in athletics at Creighton university during the coming year. With the return of the old students and the enrollment of those who have just matriculated a large number of excellent candidates for the various departments of physical culture are in attendance and the directors of athletics are confident that this will be a most successful year. What gives them most assurance is the spirit and ardor evinced by the students.

Last Wednesday a meeting for the purpose of reorganizing the foot ball team was held in one of the academic halls. Nearly all the senior students attended and as the well known figures of Creighton's representatives in athletics appeared in the hall they were greeted with applause and cheers. Speeches were made by Paul Martin of the senior class and by David Murphy, the newly-elected manager. The former recalled victories won in previous years. He referred to the trophy—a silver base ball—which Creighton some years ago won in a series of games with the Omaha High school. "We must not," he said, "rest satisfied with the laurels we have already won, but we should go forth to seek new honors."

Boys Unearth a Skall.

Some boys digging in the yard in the rear of Tenth and Capitol avenue Thursday evening dug up a grinning skull. The lads took the bones from the earth, but they soon fell in pieces. Upon searching further in the yellow clay they found a round stone that had evidently at one time been a part of an Indian war club and from that it was thought that the skull must be that of some redman long since dead. The bones were put into a box and taken to the police station. The boys gave their names as Tony Mazza and Harry Lewis. The Omaha Safe and Iron Works, G. ANDREEN, Prop.
