The new company will be known as the Omaha & Council Bluffs Suburban Railway company, and it will operate under the franchise granted the Lake Manawa & East Omaha Construction company at a special election held December 1, 1897. At the time that the franchise was granted the route of the new street railway between Ninth street and Broadway and the Terminal company's bridge over the Missouri had not been determined on. Three different routes had been surveyed and the right to use any of the streets along these different routes was reserved in the franchise. Which of these three routes will be adopted by the new company has not yet been decided

The new company, it is understood, will not only take over all the rights of the Lake Manawa Construction company in its franchise, but will also assume control of the pleasure resort at Lake Manawa. The steam railway between the city and the lake will be transformed into an electric line and during the summer months cars will be run direct from Omaha to the lake. The original plan of the Lake Manawa and East Omaha Construction company to build a line to Fairmount park, it is said, will also be carried out by the new company. The new line is to enter Omaha over the Terminal company's bridge, but over what streets the business center of that city will be reached has not yet been determined. The new company intends to make just as good time between Council Bluffs and Omaha as is made at present by the motor company. The new line will be longer than the present one, but the company expects by using the heaviest motors built to be able to overcome the dif-

There were, however, several matters in connection with the proposition that could not be made public at present. The firm of Townsend, Reed & Co. of St. Louis, of which he is a member, he said, had built the St. Louis and Belleville suburban line in that city, which it had sold out about five weeks ago. His firm, he said, had built a number of lines in different parts of the country. He was unwilling to give the names of the financial backers of the new line, but said the articles of incorporation would in all probability be filed tomorrow.

A very pretty wedding of the early autumn season was cefebrated Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Colonel and Mrs. Baker when their daughter, Miss Helen Cordelia Baker, and Mr. William Leonard Butler were united in marriage. The bride was lovely in a gown of white silk mull en train with trimmings of white lace and ribbon. She wore a veil and carried bride roses. The maid of honor, Miss Millie Graham, was sweet in a gown of pale green mull, cut decollete, and she carried pink roses. Mr. James Butler, brother of the groom, acted as best man. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding warch, played by Mrs. Ratekin, the bridal party entered the parlor in the following order Rev. Mackay of Omaha, Miss Millie Graham and Mr. James Butler, Miss Baker on the

In today's battle the Coburn forces won out, but the latter was instructed for Gear. Before the convention Coburn claimed he was neutral and in the event of Gear instructiens would support Gear.

Indications at the time the convention was called to order where that Coburn would be elected and the Gear resolutions passed. A majority of the candidates favored this combination. When the resolutions came before the convention there was a fight of over two hours and Cummins leaders and Gear people almost came to blows and the speakers got deep into personal history. The country delegates stood by the Gear speakers and when the final address was to be made by a Cummins man he was hooted down. This angered many Cummins delegates and for a moment it looked as though a general mixup would follow. Never in the history of Cherokee county has such a bitter personal contest been waged. When the result of the vote on instructions was made known the convention broke into a wild cheer and marched from the county building to the
