Political Scheme Connected with Organization of Third Regiment.

Heavy Artillery Regiment Sacrificed to Advance Popocratio Interests.

TRAINED MILITARY MEN STAND ASIDE

Compelled to Take a Back Seat to Make Room for a Class of Their Fellow Citizens Trained Only in Tricks of Politicians.

LINCOLN, Sept. 24 .- (Special.) -- To those who are unacquainted with the methods used by the little coterie of popocratic politician in organizing and forcing into the service the Third regiment of Nebraska volunteer infantry the statements of Colonel Victor Vifquain, published recently in the fusion press of the state, may bear some semblance of truth. However, little respect the last colonel of the Third regiment has for W. J. Bryan as a military officer, he is still his loyal friend and protests with emphasis the allegation that there was a political scheme connected with the organization of the third military body which left Nebraska for service in the war with

The manner in which the regiment of heavy artillery was turned down through the efforts of Governor Holcomb, Adjutant General Barry and General Victor Vifquain so that the free silver champion might lead a regiment will probably never be forgotten by a certain body of young men in this state. When the call was issued for volunteers an organization was formed by a number of young men who had received military training at the State university under experienced regular army officers and its services were accepted by the governor and formally tendered to the War department. These men were inspired by true patriotic instincts and were earnest in their desire to enter the service. But Bryan had another scheme and the heavy antillery regiment was offered as a sacrifice by Governor Holcomb to make a place for the Third regiment, whose commander had had no experience whatever in military matters.

letter to the public that he was authorized to organize Company A of the Third regiment and that a few days afterwards he got enough enlisted men and that he then "got the men together for the election of officers. Bryan was elected captain. But he Then Captain Charles F. Schwartz was elected captain, George S. Raiston first heutenant and Edwin R. Morsecond lieutenant. If he had not raised and organized the regiment then no regiment was ever raised or organized in the United States by anybody."

No Outsiders Admitted "These statements are so far from being the truth that they cannot be credited without attacking the veracity of nearly every man who was present at the election of officers. On the evening of May 22, 1898, all of the men who agreed to enlist in Company A assembled in a back room of the popocratic is the man to lead us to victory. campaign headquarters in the Lincoln hotel, the meeting being called by General Vifquain to elect three officers for the company. No outsiders were admitted and no newspaper men were allowed to pass the winner. door except those of the popocratic persuasion. However, popocratic politicians from Tecumseh and other places were allowed to remain and, through their sense of fairness, it was possible after the meeting to ascertain how the election had been conducted. vember. "When the matter of election of officers came up Bryan's name was mentioned for captain, it being the intention of the organizers of the regiment to have him enlist as a private and be elected to that position, but before any vote was taken he made a speech to the men and withdrew his name. He said that he did not desire to be elected captain, as he expected to be immediately appointed colonel of the regiment. Horace G. Whitmore, an ex-cadet and chairman of the committee on organization of the heavy artillery regiment, was then elected captain. After the heavy artillery regiment was turned down as an organization Whitmore sought to enlist several of the companies of that regiment in the regiment Bryan was forming, having been assured by the latter that such could be done. He was slated for captain of Company A, but until the night of the election of officers Bryan insisted on first being elected to that position himself. A later promotion to a higher office would, of course, place his successor at the top of the ranking list of captains. Whitmore then came out as a leader of the anti-Bryan movement, although he himself was a democrat. The contest for second lieutenant was between Charles Schwartz and W. F. Schwind, Bryan's pri-

Ever since the regiment was formed the popocrats have exerted every effort to cover up Bryan's defeat. SEWARD, Neb., Sept. 24 .- (Special.)-The nomination of Judge Reese for supreme judge gives great satisfaction and a rousing ratification will be held here Monday

FREMONT, Neb., Sept. 24.-(Special.)-The nominations made by the republican state convention last week give the best of satisfaction to the republicans here. Dodge county was for Reese when his name was first mentioned and all much regretted his decision not to be a candidate. Democrats and populists all admit that he is a clean candidate and seem disappointed that some vulnerable man was not put up. He is likely to get many votes that would otherwise go to Holcomb from the fact the railroads downed him in 1889 and he is not considered a corporation man.

COLUMBUS, Neb., Sept. 24 .- (Special.)-M. B. Reese, the republican nominee for supreme judge, is well and favorably known in this county. In the early days he was district attorney here in what was then the old Fourth judicial district and he has many warm friends irrespective of party lines. A partial canvass of the leading republicans has been made with the following results: Henry Ragatz-I have known Judge Reese since 1880. Regiment to Participate in the Dewey Parade.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 24 .- A special from Ottawa to the Mail and Empire says: The forty-eight Highlanders of Toronto will not be granted permission to visit New Yorl to take part in the reception to Admiral Dewey. The militia department has not yet received the communication from the dis trict commanding officer at Toronto and his officers for permission to make the trip, but when it does come an answer in the negative will be returned.

The view held here is that Admiral Dewey is to be the central figure in the New York celebration, yet, after all, the demonstration really will be a glorification of the United States victories in the Spanish war. Under the circumstances, therefore, it is fused permission to take part in the proposed demonstration.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 24.-(Special.)-The reported killing of William Buechner by a Union Pacific train at Medicine Bow Tuesday was erroneous. Buechner was shot and killed by B. Cravenson, a cook of the Callahan grading outfit. Buechner, who had been working on the grade for Contractor W. F. Callahan, quit work and demanded his money. Callahan referred him to the bookkeeper, but Buechner drew a revolver and marched Callahan to the office. Callahan called to Cravenson heavy artillery, which were mustered our yesterday, left for home today on a special for assistance.
