ACROSS THE BURNING SANDS Tyros March Over the Parched Desert to the Shrine of Mequaddem. KNIGHTS OF KHORASSAN HAVE A TIME Initiatory Ceremonies at Myrtle Hall, Followed by a Spread at Thurston Rifles Army—Details of the Affair. Friday was a memorable day in the annals of the Knights of Khorassan. It was the occasion of an initiation that has long looked forward to and the social affairs held in connection with the initiatory exercises were the most successful in respect of the number and prominence of the members present that have been held. There was an afternoon reception for the visiting members of temples of other cities and after the degree work there was a banquet, where those who excel at speechmaking were heard on subjects of peculiar interest to members of the order. The reception was in Myrtle hall from 2 to 3 o'clock, shaking temple of Council Bluffs and Elkader temple of Lincoln were represented by large contingents of votaries, who never miss an opportunity to join the caravan fling across the deserts to the peak of Omaha and the home of the Temple of Mequaddem. At the hour appointed for the initiation of tyros into the mysteries of Khorassan the hall was ablaze with the colors of the order. The ceremonial robes of the officers were of Arabian design and as nearly like those of the ancient inhabitants of the desert as possible. The votaries all wore the purple and gold-woven turbans peculiar to knights of the Khorassan. A class of about twenty tyros was led across the burning sands, but halted long enough to quench their parched lips with zem-zem, which flowed in abundance. After the initiatory ceremonies the knights marched in a body to the Thurston Rifles' armory, where a feast was prepared for them. Covers were laid for 125 guests and there were no vacant places. When the last course of the menu had been served, and the pop of cork, the tinkling of glasses and glowing cigars there were many brilliant toasts by prominent votaries. The toastmaster was Supreme Nawab J. McFarland. Grand Chancellor Young of Stanton responded to the toast, "Friendship," after which the following toasts and responses were given: "Votaries of Khorassan," Judge Jacob Fawcett; "Desert of Iowa," Hon. C. B. Wadsworth, Council Bluffs; "Woman, Her Beauty and Virtues," Judge B. S. Baker; "Wady and Watt," George A. Magney; "The Arabs of Elkader," Hon. Richard O'Neill, Lincoln, Neb.; "Pythian Heroes of the Spanish War," Judge Schlaugh. MOURNING CONQUERING BEAR Indian Village Scene for Dead Brave—Sounds of Wailing Heard. SATURDAY 2 p. m.—Bellstedt's Concert band, Government building. High diving and destruction of the Maine, Lagoon. 4 p. m.—Alfredo, champion high wire walker of the world, across Lagoon. 4:30 p. m.—Indian sham battle and wild west, Indian village. 7 p. m.—Bellstedt's Concert band, Plaza or Auditorium. 8:30 p. m.—Alfredo, champion high wire walker of the world, across Lagoon. Wield wailing sounded strangely through the Indian Village all Thursday night and the rhythmic beat of the hollow tom-tom accompanying made a peculiar echo through the deserted grounds of the exposition. Once more the semi-civilized men relapsed into their barbaric ways in the presence of death, and the traditional rites were held over the death of Conquering Bear, one of the chiefs of the Ogallala Sioux, who was accidentally killed Thursday afternoon. As soon as the news of his death was received at the little camp the red men began to make preparations for the ceremonies, they held at the death of one of their number, and all night long the women wailed and the men beat the tom-tom. In the morning there were the usual scenes about the camp and in the afternoon the sham battle was given as though nothing had occurred to mar the regular routine. The body of Conquering Bear will be sent this afternoon to Gordon, Pine Ridge agency, accompanied by Lucy Red Cloud and George Clifford. From Gordon the remains will be taken to the home of Little Crow, the son of the dead man, where funeral services according to the Episcopal rites will be held, and the old man will be buried near his home. The Indian rites are never witnessed by white men and no one seems to know of what they consist, as the red men are very reticent concerning them. They wrap the brave in his blanket and put in his favorite weapons and trinkets, and bury him. Most of the Ogallala Sioux have professed Christianity, yet they cling to the old religion at time of death and make a mixture of Christianity with their former ceremonies. Conquering Bear was a member of the Episcopal church. He was a chief of a small band and was highly respected. Today's Musical Program. 2 p. m.—Bellstedt's Concert band at the Auditorium. There was the usual attendance at the exposition Friday and the spectators went from one to the other of the attractions afforded and enjoyed the day as much as possible. The cool weather made out of door amusements a little unpleasant, yet in the sun it was warm and the crowds sought the sunny spots. There was universal regret expressed over the fact that the frost had killed the beautiful plants and flowers. The landscape gardening has been one of the chief beauties of the big show, and the Friday night chill simply wrought ruin and havoc among all the flower beds and the banks of palms and other tropical plants. There was a good crowd out to hear the concert in the afternoon at the Government building, and Mr. Bellstedt gave a fine program. Indians Will Close Game. KENDALLVILLE, Ind., Sept. 29.—(Special Telegram)—The Nebraska Indians lost to Kendallville yesterday by a score of 13 to 11 and won today by a score of 10 to 7.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS. The condition of the Twenty-fourth street paving cases seems to be attracting attention from taxpayers and many are asking how the city is to get out of the dilemma. There is yet due on this paving tax the sum of $75,000 and the property owners who have not paid decline to do so under the existing condition of affairs. In some circles there is a disposition to censure the city attorney and the mayor for not taking more energetic steps in the premises. The district court records show that no defense was made by the city in the cases before Judges Dickinson and Fawcett. This fact is considered grounds for complaint by certain property owners. City Attorney Montgomery asserts that he notified the city council that there was no chance of winning the cases and consequently he saved the city money by not appearing. Mr. Montgomery stated a day or two ago that he was preparing a message to the council giving a brief history of these paving cases and his reasons for not appearing to defend the rights of the city. It is expected that this communication will be read to the council at the meeting to be held next Monday night. In the opinion of some of those versed in municipal affairs the issuing of bonds will be the only way in which this debt of $75,000 can be cancelled. The city will retain the amount already paid on this tax, but provision must soon be made for the taking up of the balance of the bonds. Just how soon it will be necessary to issue these bonds has not been decided, but more than likely the issue will be made before the end of the year. Viaduct Repairs Commence Today. City Engineer Beal will commence work today on the repairs of the west approach to the L street viaduct. Quite a number of piers will have to be set in order to level the roadway and this work will occupy some time. When this is done the planking will be gone over and all defective boards removed. It is estimated that this work will cost the city something like $60. The repairs will be made under the direction of the city engineer and street commissioner as it is figured that the cost will be less in this way than if a contract was let. City Officials Suffer for Want of Heat. City officials are complaining about the lack of heat at the city hall building.

Thursday night there was quite a heavy frost and the prisoners confined in the jail were compelled to walk up and down the corridor in order to keep warm. In the city offices yesterday the temperature was too low for comfort and the clerk and treasurer were compelled to wear heavyweight overcoats while at work. It is understood that the plumbing inspector went to Omaha for the purpose of talking with the agents of the property about the lack of heat. Unless an inclination is shown by the property owner to comply with the terms of the contract no more money will be paid for rent. The last payment for rent was held up for several months while awaiting the action of the owner on repairs and now it is the heating proposition. Protest on Grading Nineteenth Street. There seems to be some conflict of opinion in regard to the grading of Nineteenth street from Q to U. A petition is being circulated asking for the grading of the street and yesterday those opposed to the proposition started a petition protesting against the grading. It is stated by those opposed to the plan that the fill between Q and S streets is too big to undertake at this time and that few if any benefits would be derived by reason of the grading. A majority of the property owners will rule, so it is a question of the most signatures. Both those for and against are working hard and it is impossible to tell how the matter will end. Excavating for New School House. Excavating for the new school building at Twentieth and O streets is nearly completed. Architect Kiewit said yesterday that this work would be completed within a day or two and that the laying of the foundations would commence next week. Large quantities of material have been ordered by the contractors and the erection will be pushed to completion. It is hoped that January 1 will see the structure finished and ready for occupancy. Music City Gossip. R. C. Howe, manager at Armour's plant, is in Chicago. J. B. Watkins, head of the Watkins Lumber company, is on the sick list. Mrs. C. M. Huribut has gone to Des Moines to visit relatives for a month. The semi-annual meeting of the Joint Car Inspection association will be held on October 10. Major F. E. Wolcott is in South Dakota looking after cattle shipments for the Stock yards company. A gasoline stove exploded at the home of Mrs. Fayliss, Twenty-fourth and M streets, yesterday, and the fire department was called out. The blaze was extinguished without any damage. Mrs. Kate Sharner and daughters, Katherine and Josephine, of Sidney, Neb., are the guests of Mrs. Ella T. Christ. John Granger of La Platte died yesterday and funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be at Laurel Hill cemetery. Emery E. Coulson died at the home of W. J. Coulson, Thirty-seventh and N streets, yesterday. Funeral services will be held this afternoon with interment at Laurel Hill cemetery. Sale of Thoroughbred String. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—There is a possibility that the Ritz Hotel Paso will acquire Ormonde, St. Carlo, Osare and Orsini, two sons of Ormonde, and the twenty brood mares at the Macdonough ranch in San Mateo county. W. O. B. Macdonough admitted that negotiations were pending, but stated that no definite decision would be arrived at for several days. The manager of Rancho Del Paso, in view of the phenomenal success of the progeny of Orme, a son of Ormonde, is doubtless anxious to get as much of that blood as possible for their English sales. As is generally known, the duke of Westminster bred Ormonde, and the "horse of a century" cost W. O. B. Macdonough $200,000 three-quarters of which amount was the purchase price. English Buying War Supplies. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29.—Major Seobell of the British army has chartered the steamship Mount Royal, making the third transport, closed another contract for mules and placed the first order for the purchase and forage for the army supplies to be sent to the Transvaal, South Africa. LOCAL BREVIETES. The theft of a $75 diamond ring was reported to the police by Harry Evans, 123 South Thirtieth street. Evans says the ring was stolen from a drawer in a dresser. F. P. Gumms of 413 Dorcas street told the police Thursday night that he had been relieved of $45 by a stranger he met near the Burlington station, with whom he visited several saloons. He was paid off at 4:30 and at 9:30 was dead broke, and he mistrusted that he had been robbed.
