MUST SACRIFICE LANGDON

Democrats and Silver Republicans Insist that the Populist Yield.

CARR BILLED AS COMPROMISE CANDIDATE

Burnam is Willing, but Langdon Refuses to Resign—Populist Committee Will Try to Bring Him to Time.

In the minds of the members of the joint steering committee that is endeavoring to reconcile the differences remaining from the recent fusion county conventions, the controversy over county judge is practically settled. It has been tacitly agreed between the executive committees of the various parties that both Langdon and Burnam shall be pulled off, and that J. W. Carr be nominated as the fusion candidate. The only obstacle in the way of this solution of the difficulty is the reluctance of Langdon to submit his neck to the party ax. He insists that the democrats are not acting in good faith and that he will stork right where he is, whether it suits them or not.

On the other hand the populist committee has practically decided that the recalcitrant candidate must be induced to see the error of his way. The members admit that the democrats and silver republicans have the best of the proposition, and that the populists will have to get off the earth. The weakness of the populist position is caused by the fact that their convention passed a resolution that provided that no candidate should be regularly nominated until he had received the endorsement of at least two of the fusion conventions. As Langdon was turned down by the democrats and silver republicans, while Burnam was nominated by both of them, Langdon cannot be retained as a candidate under the terms of the legislation enacted by his own convention.

One effect of the conference Wednesday evening was to convince the populists that the other parties will never consent to endorse Langdon. The democrats are especially bitter against him because he deserted the democratic party for the populists only a year or two ago. They declare without qualification that they will not support a man who has so recently proved recreant to democratic principles. Consequently a meeting of the populist executive committee has been called for the ostensible purpose of talking the situation over, but really to coerce Langdon into handing in his resignation.

With Langdon out of the way it is asserted that no further difficulty will be encountered. The resignation of Burnam is said to be in the possession of the silver republican committee, to be produced whenever the populist candidate is ready to follow suit. Then Carr will be nominated and the outward semblance of fusion reconciliation will be complete.

This is the last week of the Bryan pilgrimage in Nebraska, and Colonel Bryan and his versatile press agent will then leave for Texas, where the democratic majority is said to be in danger of annihilation. From the Lone Star state the presidential candidate will go to Illinois for a few engagements, and then swing round the circle through Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio. His managers announce that the press dispatch which stated that Bryan and McKinley will appear in Canton simultaneously is an error. Colonel Bryan will not reach Canton before October 18 or 19, or at least a week after President McKinley has gone. There will be a meeting of the fusion managers at Lincoln Saturday, at which the prospects of getting Bryan back to Nebraska for a series of speeches just before election will be discussed. They are unanimous in the opinion that his services are urgently needed for several weeks, but it is asserted that the resignation to that effect will be forwarded to the national committee.

The dissatisfaction among the local populists with the nomination of Silas A. Holcomb has not been assuaged by the manner in which the Holcomb campaign has been conducted. A number of circumstances have emphasized the impression that Holcomb is more of a democrat than populist, and that in case of his election he will be controlled by the same democratic machine that led him to antagonize the Douglas county populist while he was governor. The populists call attention to the fact that Benton Maret, a democrat, has been installed in the state headquarters as the personal representative of the candidate for supreme judge. He has now been in Omaha for several weeks, but it is asserted that he has neither visited the populist headquarters nor has he recognized the populists in the slightest particular. The populist leaders have not been consulted in any matter connected with the campaign, and they have been made to feel that they have little or no interest in the candidacy of the head of the state ticket.

M. C. Harrington has just forwarded to the state democratic headquarters his official resignation as the democratic candidate for congress in the Sixth district. He accompanies this with the statement that the democratic congressional committee of that district has come to an understanding and that it will nominate Judge Neville as its candidate at once.

George E. Collins of the Sixth ward writes to The Bee to say that he is not a candidate for the Board of Education. He says in addition: "While I am not a candidate, I believe that the colored people are entitled to representation on the board, and I believe it is the intention of the republican party to concede it to them. If the populist party, that receives about 1 or 2 per cent of the colored votes of the city, can nominate Rev. John Albert Williams, I can't see how the republicans can refuse to do likewise. The colored voters are going into the convention to ask for the nomination of Rev. J. C. Owens, who is my choice, and I

HAVEN FOR INCOMPETENCY

Mismanagement and Lack of Management at Deaf and Dumb Institute.

STATE TRIFLING WITH A SACRED TRUST

Remedy for the Evil Lies with the Governor—Present Superintendent Never Likely to Acceptably Fill the Position.

OMAHA, Sept. 28.—To the Editor of The Bee: I have just read with considerable interest the letter in The Bee from one of the last, earnest graduates of the Deaf and Dumb school, August Kobornstein of Nebraska City, and I notice that he mentions my name for the office of superintendent of the institution. I have known Mr. Kobornstein since my first connection with the school and know him to be a very bright and excellent young man, and I very much appreciate his more, unless the governor discharges the present superintendent and Board of Trustees I would not under any circumstances accept any position at the institution, because I consider them dishonorable men and I am sure they do not in the slightest degree appreciate the sacred responsibilities of the office.

The money appropriated by the legislature to the support of this institution is intended solely for the benefit of the unfortunate deaf children of the state and it is all wrong that the school should be made an asylum for the benefit of the relatives of its officers. The incompetent and disgraced management of this school has become a standing disgrace to the state and no one holds the key to the remedy but the governor.

During my connection with the school I learned to love the children and I was ever ready to give my own services to the cause. The incompetent and disgraced management of this school has become a standing disgrace to the state and no one holds the key to the remedy but the governor.

When parents visited the school Superintendent Daves was especially attentive to their children, but he knew so few of the names of the children that I have often seen him make a mistake and heap his caresses upon the wrong child. On other occasions I have seen the children recoil from him and show plainly their dislike. When a letter was addressed to me as superintendent, which they often did, and I could not help it, it would give him a chill and he would look upon me with suspicion for several days.

The fact is he is certainly entitled to pity to some extent. He is the most dumb person to learn the spoken language that was ever in the school. Little boys and girls that came into the school since he did can sign splendidly, while he cannot sign the most simple sentence. He is one of those that realize himself that he is weak, and let it worry him. He is as suspicious as a Filipino, is overflowing with theory and totally void of practicality, and is no more fitted by nature and training for the position that he

A Farmer is Robbed.

H. A. Pearson, proprietor of the Klondike hotel and pool room and cigar store, and three auctioneers, H. Fluor, F. L. Stone and H. B. Fawin, were arrested Thursday afternoon for suspected complicity in the theft of $10 from C. H. Benier, manager of J. E. Market's stock farm, near DeSoto, Neb.

Benier stepped into Pearson's pool room to hear the auctioneer tell of the bargains he had to offer. He says the men there took offense because he did not care to make a purchase, and began to push him about in a very rough way. When he had run the gauntlet and been shoved out on the sidewalk, Benier felt in his pockets and discovered he had been touched for a $10 bill. The money had been in a vest pocket. When the theft was reported to the police Captain Donahue had all the men in the room arrested.

Cigar Butt Burns Awaiting.

A careless smoker threw the stump of a cigar from an upper window of the Board of Trade building on an awning over a window of H. T. Clark's office on the second floor yesterday. The canvas blazed up, leading those in the office above to believe the building was afire, and they accordingly sent in an alarm.

A first use of Dent's Toothache Gum cures the buyer. All drug stores, 15 cents.

Hold that I am to be minister to St. James' court. The pupils have no respect for him whatever, and continually make fun of him right before his face without his knowing what they were saying. He would grin and let on like he knew what they were talking about, but they knew he did not.

Mr. Daves at one time became so desperate regarding his fear that he was not being considered the real superintendent that he prepared a set of rules and regulations which he had the incompetent board of trustees to approve, and had them printed. The word "superintendent" appeared so often that they became the laughing stock of the school. They provided, in effect, an entirely impractical "change in business all around."

They made the superintendent a detail man in every branch of every department, and four competent men could not have performed the duties assigned to the superintendent. The word "written report thereof" and "superintendent" constituted about one-fourth of the printed rules and regulations. Everybody about the institution that knew anything at all was perfectly disgusted, and in a few days the following caricature rule appeared all over the school, which shows what was thought of the new rules and regulations:

"The superintendent shall be the superintendent. If anyone doubts that the superintendent is the superintendent, they shall make a written report thereof to their mind's action to the superintendent. If the superintendent is in doubt about being the real thing he shall make a written report thereof to the superintendent, and the superintendent shall superintend the superintendent in a fit and proper manner, and he shall note on the back of the written report thereof the manner and number of times that the superintendent has superintended the superintendent."

Aside from Superintendent Daves' admitted incompetency as an instructor of the deaf he is a notorious juggler of the truth and all the pupils know it. I have personally known of him telling four untruths in two days—a great example for young America. His incompetency is plainly visible around the school to even the unexperienced. One occasion I will relate to demonstrate.

After he had been in charge of the school for one term and about four months of his second term, he attempted to adopt the Nebraska very much and they could always come to me with their little troubles, which no one appreciates except those who have had experience. Separated from their fathers and mothers the little boys and girls yearned for a parent's affectionate caress, and because these children were so tenderly loved by their own parents and avoided Superintendent Daves like they would a snake, he was frantic for fear someone would not think he was superintendent. I do not think there is a pupil in the state institution but that absolutely hates him.

When parents visited the school Superintendent Daves was especially attentive to their children, but he knew so few of the names of the children that I have often seen him make a mistake and heap his caresses upon the wrong child. On other occasions I have seen the children recoil from him and show plainly their dislike. When a letter was addressed to me as superintendent, which they often did, and I could not help it, it would give him a chill and he would look upon me with suspicion for several days.

The fact is he is certainly entitled to pity to some extent. He is the most dumb person to learn the spoken language that was ever in the school. Little boys and girls that came into the school since he did can sign splendidly, while he cannot sign the most simple sentence. He is as suspicious as a Filipino, is overflowing with theory and totally void of practicality, and is no more fitted by nature and training for the position that he

Will keep up the fight until competent and honest management is placed in charge of the school for the deaf. In face of the repeated pledges of the party favorable to organized labor, it is to the everlasting disgrace of the present management that they give "preference" to union labor and the work to non-union labor. Respectfully,

D. CLEM DAVER.

Making It Easy for Him.

Chicago News: "Have you a sister?" asked Miss Willing of her brother's college chum.

"Ain't no," he replied. "But I've often longed for the soothing influence of a sister's love."

"How sad," she said. "But, fortunately, you may be able to secure a substitute."

"And what is that?" asked the young man.

"The love of some other fellow's sister," replied the artful maid.

Adroit Apology.

"Allow me to assure you," said the dramatic critic, "that I meant you were too great for the company you are in."

And the actor, being of the kind that pronounces it "as-is" with the last syllable carefully enunciated, believed him.
