FOR THE PARIS EXPOSITION

Unusual and Instructive Exhibit of the Omaha City Schools Shipped to Albany.

The exhibit of the Omaha public schools for the Paris exposition has been shipped to Albany, N. Y., where the public exhibit of the country are being collected for shipment abroad.

The one from this city was designed to be something different from what the other cities will probably send.

A major portion of the collection consists of portfolios showing the method of teaching geography outside of the use of text books, with material of all kinds, largely illustrated, gathered by the pupils themselves.

Railroad folders and booklets are a valuable source, as are also magazine articles. This material originated in Omaha.

Bound exercise books, taken from those in daily use in the schools and not specially prepared for the occasion, are a part of the exhibit.

By these is shown the aim of all written work, to teach the pupils to make an accurate legible record without having to put it down and then copy it.

In addition copies of all blanks used in the school system, whether in the classroom or in the secretary's office or the custodian's storeroom, will be exhibited.

These will give an insight into the way in which the schools as a great business establishment are carried on.
