THREE DAYS' HUNT FOR A CHILD. Farmer Zable's Missing Boy is Found

Half Famished in a Hole. AUBURN, Neb., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—A child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zable, living six miles west of town, disappeared Wednesday. Hounds tracked it only so far as the road and the fear arose the child had been carried away by gypsies. Sheriff Cole raised a posse and the people turned out enmasse to join in the search.

A little after noon Saturday persons passing over an old strawstack discovered a hole that had been made by rotting straw and when the father had been lowered into it he found the lost child, half famished. The child had not had a bite to eat for about sixty-five hours.

ovation was accorded the home-coming of the first prize winning Nebraska brigade band of this city upon its arrival here this evening. As the train pulled in from Denver, where the band won first prize in the great carnival band contest, cannon roared, whistles sounded, horns were blown and a brilliant pyrotechnic display welcomed them. The scene was most inspiring and warmed the cockles of every heart for the homecoming heroes. Headed by the McCook Drum corps, members of the city council and citizens who had gone to Akron to meet them the band marched to the opera house. where a brief word of welcome was delivered with a brief response. The band acknowledged with a selection or two of its superb music. From the opera house the band and invited guests repaired to the Commercial hotel, where a sumptuous banquet was spread for about 100 persons.

MEETING OF WOMAN'S CLUB

After a Vacation of Four Months the Organization Resumes Its Regniar Work.

The Woman's club convened Monday after a vacation of four months. Minutes and reports disposed of, Chairman Powell of the membership committee read the names of eleven applicants for membership and an amendment to the constitution looking toward an entire change in the method of club elections was placed in the hands of the constitution committee. Two guests, Mrs. Smith, president of the Dubuque Woman's club, and Mrs. Albert of the Press club, Pittsburg, Pa., were presented to the club, after which the president read her annual address. Mrs. Smith said that nothing new had developed in the club situation since her address of a year ago, except that the club had put into actual practice the things most to be desired and had grown proportionately in grace and wisdom. For the coming year the speaker suggested the motto, "Privileges Imply Obligations," and after dwelling for a moment upon the educational awaken- necessary.

ing of our time, as expressed in kinder-garren, technical training and the higher education of women, and its effect upon ail women, both in college and out, she continued substantially as follows:

"Reciprocity is the keynote of club life. Time was when it was considered an admirable thing to fill one's mind with stores of wisdom to be kept for one's own use Time is when one is scorned if he does not let his light shine. Time was when it was onsidered desirable to cultivate all manner of gifts and graces for the private adornment of the mind. Time is if one heards the blessings of culture without imparting them to those less fortunate he is considered selfish. Opportunities are commands. Service to others is the solution of the problem of life, but while we live for others we also live with others. In the club we poot individual ideas and out of the common fund comes, like a composite picture, the well-bounded whole."

The open market, accordingly, quoted 4 to 44 per cent for ninety day remitted bills and did little business. The hope is expressed that gold may come back from the provinces this week, but the probability of that is small. The tension, however, is sure to be less in the loan market, because the banks are new calling in loans to make a show of strength in their i monthly balance sheets. Here is a crude statement of our position. Mrs. Carl Hennig treated of the incidents Under our antiquated banking system provincial English, Scotch and Irish banks all

The immediate re- not bound even to hold government stock sults of the conference, politically speaking, against a fixed legal issue. The Bank of England stock of gold, therefore, is At the conclusion of the speaking the really about £2,000,000 short now of platform was immediately occupied by a the amount required to cover the note circulation of the three kingdoms. There is no real danger in the position as long as the public is not frightened by rapid exports of gold, but, given active fears, notes could not be met and suspension of specie payment looms in view.

Cannot Spare Gold.

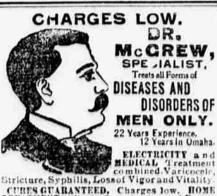

It is necessary to insist on this point in order to warn your bankers that we cannot now spare gold from the Bank of England. Should a South African war come, as is almost certain, all we could spare or scrape would be required for it, and should other foreign demands be sprung upon us, a credit smash is almost a matter of days. Dread of this smash alone cannot preven industry and commerce, in sustaining credit in India and the colonies, in financing Japan and Egypt and in innumerable other directions. Abstract capital for war purposes and the entire machine is liable to become deranged, with disastrous results. Already the Transvaal government has intimated that it will keep the gold produced from the mines until the war is over, all except the amounts minted for expensesan ominous notice. Our thoughtful bankers, not in the majority, I regret to say, have en alarmed at the prospect for some time vate stocks of sovereigns. These are too slender as yet to do much to stave off consupplies of metal cease. Your bankers, mands to consignments procurable from bullion dealers. The Stock exchange remains deserted by all except those who must buy or sell. such as insurance companies, trustees, etc. but the position seems strong and large failures are said to be improbable. Speculative accounts, however, are not now all carried in the market as formerly, but largely by the banks, so the real position are rich in gold, and it will not surprise me hard to guess. The only point certain is o hear of some very rich strikes. Prior to that business is stopped. Even Paris is becoming afraid.

General trade has not yet begun to suffer lated by enormous government orders, the fron and steel trades are busier than ever, tions we have been less favored. The trade returns for September, to be published next Saturday, will probably exhibit a serious further shrinkage in South African bustness, and trade with most parts of the continent as well as with Australia, remains progressive. French finances are again exciting comment. The budget for 1900 exceeds £140,-000,000. The expenditure the year before the war with Germany was only £75,000 .-000, and the population is only a little larger now than then. In France, as in Spain, the military caste dominates and imposes its demands on the nation, come to all other interests what may.
