Bartender Arrested for Theft.

Lou Unger, bartender at the Drexel hotel saloon, was arrested Thursday for complicity in the robbery of B. R. Lowery of Bluefield, W. Va. Unger came to the police station late Wednesday night in company with a man named C. C. Simpson and a woman. He told an incoherent story about having been robbed of $10 and a watch in a saloon in the lower end of town. Simpson had in his pockets all of Lowery's papers, railroad tickets, etc., but said he was carrying them for safekeeping. The three men were locked up and an investigation by Captain Her the following morning disclosed that Unger had been given knockout drops and relieved of his money. The police say the robbery took place in the hotel saloon, and that Unger was concerned in it.

Tangled a Funeral.

Michael Hagerty, wife and child, of 228 Pierce street, were driving in a funeral procession yesterday, and while turning a corner at Leavenworth street and Park avenue their vehicle collided with a Park line car. The occupants were thrown out and the procession was somewhat disrupted for a few minutes.

Hagerty said he believed his ribs were broken and his head lacerated. He is an employee of the telephone company. Mrs. Hagerty and the child escaped injury. The hearse was wrecked and another vehicle took the Hagertys home. The funeral procession was enroute to Holy Sepulchre cemetery with the remains of Miss Edith O'Connell, who died at the O'Connell home on South Twenty-second street Thursday.
