Agreement Does Not Prejudice the Claims of Either Party When the Final Adjustment of the Controversy is Entered Upon.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 .- Mr. Tower, the British charge here, called at the State department today and handed to Secretary Hav a note formally accepting for his government the proposition for the temporary adjustment of the Alaskan boundary line proposed by Secretary Hay in his note of yesterday. With that act the long-expected modus vivendi relative to the vexed boundary question went into effect. This result has been brought about through the direct negotiation of Secretary Hay and Mr. Tower after several failures in the past. The State department is confident that it has conserved every American interest in the arrangement without unjustly treating Canada. The divisional line on the west pass, by

These matters may figure later on when it comes to a permanent boundary ine, but they are not touched upon in this nodus. The modus vivendi follows the preedent established by Secretary Evarts in 1878 in agreeing on a temporary boundary on the Stikeen river in Alaska by an exchange of notes.

The line on the Chilkat river is twentywo and one-quarter statute miles from the passes the line is fixed at the summit or some time past been observed by the customs authorities of the two countries.

Text of the Modus. agreed to, is as follows: It is hereby agreed between the governments of the United States and of Great Britain that the boundary line between Canada and the territory of Alaska in the region about the head of Lynn canal, shall be provisionally fixed without prejudice to the claims of either party in the permanent adjustment of the international boundary, as follows:

Druggist Says of Coffee Drinking.

"Drinking coffee at restaurants more or less for several years, I was finally forced to the conclusion that it was the cause of my dyspepsia, with the hungry feeling I was continually annoyed with. It caused me not only distress, but serious inconvenience. I am satisfied that the coffee drinking habit is as truly a pernicious habit as the drinking of liquor. It made me exceedingly nervous and interferred with my business, where a steady hand is a necessity.

"My experience with Postum Food Coffee teaches that it is truly a blessing, and to be highly recommended. My own great improvement has given me interest in the preparation. Mr. Frank Terrey, a cyclist, at 6713 Vincennes Ave., left off coffee and drank only Postum during his training for the races and was greatly benefited by the change. C. R. Paterson, another cyclist, used Postum in place of coffee, and says it gives strength and vigor where coffee causes a feeling of heaviness." Edgar G. Coates.

Thus it appears canal and on the Klehini river twelve statute that instead of placing the line directly miles further inland and the whole valley of at the town of Klukwan, which marks the Porcupine creek is included within the head of canoe navigation, as the British American lines. On White and Chilkoot sought to do, it has been located several miles above that town directly at the juncwater shed, being the points which have for I tion with the Chilcat river of the important tributary, the Klehini. This maintains the Indians at Klukwan under American jurisdiction without question and also provides The text of the modus vivendi, as finally a natural and unmistakable boundary line such as is always sought by topographers, in the shape of a considerable river.
